32nd Sunday in Ordinary Time

“But the wise ones replied, ‘No, for there may not be enough for us and you. Go instead to the merchants and buy some for yourselves.’” - Mt 25:9

Being Ready to See Christ

Prayer and Hope
Once again, so close to the Las Vegas tragedy, we’re faced with another. This time the tragedy happened in a church where people were in the midst of prayer.

The stark confrontation between right and wrong, good and evil, justice and injustice met. And we’re left pretty much speechless, even though the world is talking about it.

As Christians, the one thing we can do is continue to pray for all those affected by the senselessness of it all and those who are coping and trying to get through it with those around them. We hold onto the hope that comes when people are together. The community that prayed together that morning didn’t disperse—they’re held together and are still praying with those reaching out to them. Our prayer unites with theirs.

The pastor of the Trinity Baptist Church, who was in the midst of the shooting, said “I don’t try to offer answers if you don’t have answers, but point to the hope that we have in Christ, that he is in control although things may seem out of control. We have great hope even despite the trials and what’s going on in the country.”

When things seem out of control, we seek and look for Christ, the One we trust.

The Groom is Coming
That leads us to the gospel today, which includes the parable of the ten bridesmaids who are waiting for the groom to come.

The wedding rituals of the Middle East centuries ago are very different from our modern customs. Back then, the wedding celebration happened at night and it included a procession with stops at different places before arriving at the main one, and as it often happens when people are together, time flies. So, when the groom would arrive at the next stop was anyone’s guess.

In the parable, the bridesmaids are the ones who meet the groom to take him into the feast. Five were wise and brought enough oil for their lamps to last well into the night. The other five unfortunately didn’t bring any extra oil and were running low. In the story, the groom comes while the five who weren’t prepared went off to buy more oil for their lamps.

The moral according to Jesus is this: Stay awake and be prepared. He’s coming!

Some scholars tell us this isn’t necessarily only a parable about Jesus’ second coming. It can also be about recognizing him here and now in the present. And it helps us to think about being prepared to notice Jesus Christ in our midst, even inside tragedy when nothing makes sense.

Many people of faith in Jesus’ day saw him perform miracles, touched him, ate with him, listened to him, and still didn’t believe he could be Emanuel—God with us. But others did. The difference is the readiness in our hearts to see Christ at work—especially through the good we find in one another.

Christ is the bond that unites us—which we call love. We continue to look for goodness and hold onto the very things that allow us to experience love in our lives. That’s where we can be prepared to meet Christ, the One we’re waiting for.

THE DEDICATION OF THE LATERAN BASILICA

“When he was raised from the dead, his disciples remembered that he had said this, and they came to believe.” Jesus predicted his resurrection in today’s Gospel. But it wasn’t until after the disciples witnessed the miraculous event that they realized what he had been talking about. At the time, Jesus’ words seemed mysterious, even confusing. Those who heard him understandably thought his reference to “this temple” was about the Jewish house of worship. But it wasn’t. He was talking about his body. This only became clear later.

As the saying goes, “hindsight is twenty-twenty.” How often do we find ourselves in the midst of a situation that doesn’t make sense at the time? We question the “meaning” of a sickness, a lost job, a betrayal, or a disappointment. But then, after time has passed, we can begin to see it from another angle. In fact, many times we begin to see how good came out of these tough situations. St. Paul says, “We know that all things work for good for those who love God,” (Rom 8:28).

Sometimes it’s hard to trust in God’s promises, especially when his plan seems mysterious or confusing. But just as the disciples learned that Jesus knew what he was talking about, we can believe that too. He tells us that he is “the way and the truth and the life” (Jn 14:6). Although the way may seem indirect, Jesus’ perspective is bigger than ours. He knows how to lead us to the fullness of life, in this world and the next. The path may not be one that we would choose. Even Jesus had to journey through the cross before his resurrection—the temple of his body was destroyed before it was rebuilt. But looking back, it’s obvious that God’s plans really do work out for the best.

PRAY FOR . . .

"But the wise brought flasks of oil with their lamps." The foolish versus the wise. Today's parable sets these two groups in stark contrast to one another. Two crowds of young women wait for a wedding feast. One group comes prepared for the unexpected, the other just assumes everything will go according to schedule. But it doesn't! The Bridegroom is late, and the foolish virgins are left out in the dark--literally--while the wise ones enjoy the feast inside.

The lesson here is not just about having foresight and gathering the corresponding equipment. It's about being ready for the second coming of Christ. Jesus himself is the "Bridegroom." Traditionally we refer to the Church as the "Bride of Christ" and we, as the people of God who constitute the Church, are even now awaiting the real feast, the culmination of time when Jesus returns. But are we standing among the wise or the foolish as we wait?

Jesus tells us today, "Stay awake, for you know neither the day nor the hour." Are we spiritually awake? Do we have extra oil to see us through, or are we hitting the bottom of the barrel and running on spiritual fumes so to speak? Do we think it's enough to do the bare minimum as we wait for Christ--stepping into church without really being present, or calling ourselves Christian without really taking up the challenge of the cross? In order to avoid standing outside the feast with the foolish, we will want to make sure we fill our flasks with oil or, in other words, fill our hearts with the love of God, fill our minds with his word and his teachings, and fill our souls with the virtues that unite us to his will. If we stock up on these important supplies, we can count ourselves among the wise!

Interested in becoming Catholic?

Catholics and those wishing to complete the Sacrament of Initiation. (Confirmation and First Eucharist)?

The heart of RCIA is more than just preparing for membership in the Church. It is ultimately about developing a deeper love for Christ through the Scriptures, through the Church’s Tradition and especially through the sacraments—the real signs of His presence in our world. The heart of the process involves weekly sessions that began in August and run until Pentecost.

These gatherings consist of those who are inquiring about the faith (catechumens), their sponsors, the RCIA team members (catechists) and Fr. Scherschel. The first several sessions make up the Period of Inquiry. During this time we present a general overview of living a life of faith. It is an opportunity to voice questions and concerns, an opportunity to inquire. No commitment needs to be made at this time.

Come One, Come All...

First-time author Karen Kelly presents her new book, “Angels on Your Pillow,” a tale of unconditional love through the presence of angels. A Schaumburg businesswoman and Hoffman Estates resident, she grew up in St. Hubert parish.

In an age where social media captures the imagination and expression of people, books seem an ancient way to present stories.

- Karen Kelly had a dream more than 10 years ago of writing a story to promote God’s unconditional love for everyone. The goal was to tell it in a way that would interest both children and adults.
- Following her faith, Karen believes “angels are the bridge that connect human beings to pure and unconditional love,” an example of God’s love for all people.

Karen will tap into the power of storytelling. Come and learn about her inspiration and what went into the process of writing her book.

Karen’s books will be on display. Following her presentation, guests will have an opportunity to do an artistic project in which all generations can participate.

Suggested ages: children 4–8 with a parent, grandparent, other relative or friend.
All ages are welcome.

A portion of the book’s proceeds will be donated to various charities.

This Sunday’s Gospel reading shows us what it means to be truly foolish. We believe in Christ—good! We pray—good! We put time into our faith growth and we value opportunities for more faith formation—very wise! And we say that we trust God—wonderful!

But what happens when God doesn’t answer our prayers fast enough? What if we need Christ’s loving embrace or his protection from evil and yet we’re suffering with no end in sight? Where is Jesus then?

Usually, God’s timing is not ours. We think we have the right idea about how soon God should intervene when we ask for his help. Right now is a good time for it, right? Of course! But perhaps not from God’s perspective. (Why do we want to leave God in charge anyway, if he doesn’t see things our way, huh?)

Furthermore, if God’s plans are illogical—if they don’t make sense to us—we distrust them. And then we get ourselves into the mess of trying to handle things apart from God.

We cannot trust our logic. We cannot trust our perception or our understanding of the situations we’re in. The sooner we decide to enjoy the absurdity of being a Christian, the sooner we will find out that God’s ways are awesomely much, much better than anything we can imagine!

Reflect & Discuss:

1. What have you resisted doing because it doesn’t make sense?

2. What can you do, where can you turn, to whom can you go for help in discerning whether or not it’s God’s plan for you?

3. How do you know when an illogical plan is really what God wants you to do?

4. What’s happened in your life that has taught you to trust the Holy Spirit’s surprises?

5. Share a lesson you learned when you weren’t ready for God’s plan because you didn’t believe it.
In his autobiography, Report to Greco, Nikos Kazantzakis recounts a conversation he once had with an old monk. Kazantzakis, a young man at the time, was visiting a monastery and was very taken by a famed ascetic, Father Makarios, who lived there. But a series of visits with the old monk left him with some ambivalent feelings as well. The monk’s austere lifestyle stirred a certain religious romanticism in Kazantzakis, but it repelled him too; he wanted the romanticism, but in a more-palatable way. Here’s their conversation as Kazantzakis records it:

“Yours is a hard life, Father. I too want to be saved. Is there no other way?”

“More agreeable?” asked the ascetic, smiling compassionately.

“More human, Father.”

“One, only one.”

“What is that?”

“Ascent. To climb a series of steps. From the full stomach to hunger, from the slaked throat to thirst, from joy to suffering. God sits at the summit of hunger, thirst, and suffering; the devil sits at the summit of the comfortable life. Choose.”

“I am still young. The world is nice. I have time to choose.”

Reaching out, the old monk touched my knee and said:

“Wake up, my child. Wake up before death wakes you up.”

I shuttered and said:

“I am still young.”

“Death loves the young,” the old man replied. “The inferno loves the young. Life is like a lighted candle, easily extinguished. Take care – wake up!”

Wake up! Wake up before death wakes you up. In a less dramatic expression that’s a virtual leitmotif in the Gospels. Jesus is always telling us to wake up, to stay awake, to be vigilant, to be more alert to a deeper reality. What’s meant by that? How are we asleep to depth? How are we to wake up and stay awake?

How are we asleep? All of us know how difficult it is for us to be inside the present moment, to not be asleep to the real riches inside our own lives. The distractions and worries of daily life tend to so consume us that we habitually take for granted what’s most precious to us, our health, the miracle of our senses, the love and friendships that surround us, and the gift of life itself. We go through our daily lives not only with a lack of reflective-ness and lack of gratitude but with a habitual touch of resentment as well, a chronic, grey depression, Robert Moore calls it. We are very much asleep, both to God and to our own lives.

How do we wake up? Today there’s a rich literature that offers us all kinds of advice on how to get into the present moment so as to be awake to the deep riches inside our own lives. While much of this literature is good, little of it is very effective. It invites us to live each day of our lives as if it were our last day, but we simply can’t do that. It’s impossible to sustain that kind of intentionality and awareness over a long period of time. An awareness of our mortality does wake us up, as does a stroke, a heart attack, or cancer; but that heightened-awareness is easier to sustain for a short season of our lives than it is for twenty, thirty, forty, or fifty years. Nobody can sustain that kind of awareness all the time. None of us can live seventy or eighty years as if each day was his or her last day. Or can we?

Spiritual wisdom offers a nuanced answer here: We can and we can’t! On the one hand, the distractions, cares, and pressures of everyday life will invariably have their way with us and we will, in effect, fall asleep to what’s deeper and more important inside of life. But it’s for this reason that every major spiritual tradition has daily rituals designed precisely to wake us from spiritual sleep, akin to an alarm clock waking us from physical sleep.

It’s for this reason we need to begin each day with prayer. What happens if we don’t pray on a given morning is not that we incur God’s wrath, but rather that we tend to miss the morning, spending the hours until noon trapped inside a certain dullness of heart. The same can be said about praying before meals. We don’t displease God by not first centering ourselves in gratitude before eating, but we miss out on the richness of what we’re doing. Liturgical prayer and the Eucharist have the same intent, among their other intentions. They’re meant to, regularly, call us out of a certain sleep.

None of us lives each day of our lives as if it were his or her last day. Our heartaches, headaches, distractions, and busyness invariably lull us to sleep. That’s forgivable; it’s what it means to be human. So we should ensure that we have regular spiritual rituals, spiritual alarm clocks, to jolt us back awake – so that it doesn’t take a heart attack, a stroke, cancer, or death to wake us up.

"[Migrants and refugees] are human people, I stress this, who are appealing for solidarity and assistance, who need urgent action but also and above all understanding and kindness. God is good, let us imitate God. Their condition cannot leave us indifferent.” -Pope Francis

The Dream Act of 2017, S. 1615, was recently introduced in the Senate. If passed into law, this bipartisan bill would protect immigrant youth, including DACA beneficiaries. Similarly, Temporary Protected Status (TPS) allows individuals to remain and work lawfully in the U.S. during a period in which it is deemed unsafe for nationals of that country to return home due to natural disaster, armed conflict, or other extraordinary conditions. This fall, the Administration will have to make decisions whether to extend TPS.

ACTION: Respond to the call of Pope Francis by asking your legislators to co-sponsor the Dream Act of 2017 and extend the TPS program. Visit the USCCB website: www.JusticeforImmigrants.org.

STANDARDS AND BROADWAY, and will be presented by Kym Frankovelgia. Every once in a while a performer comes along who was literally "Born to Entertain". Kym Frankovelgia is one such person. She is a cabaret singer, and has performed on cruise ships, with many well known professional entertainers and bands, and has entertained at numerous groups within the Chicagoland area. Kym sings the very best music from the 20's, 30's, 40's, 50's and 60's. Each show includes music from the Standards songbook, the Big Band era, the Broadway stage, hilarious story songs, and heart-melting ballads. Audiences will laugh and cry at each performance.

This show is a tribute to “The Great American Songbook” as well as Broadway, and will be a crowd pleasing musical program. The stage is Kym’s own personal playground, where the audience is invited to play along. This is what sets her apart from so many others who seem to get lost once the music stops. Kym’s unique blend of warmth and humor along with a huge catalogue of music in her repertoire will provide an evening you won’t easily forget.

This show is a combination of standards, big band, Broadway and comedy. It’s a relaxed and spontaneous program, and the audience is often the catalyst for any particular selection. Kym is very good at reading an audience, and she will take the direction that the audience leads her. If they are laughing, she will focus on humorous songs; if they are pensive and romantic, she will perform more romantic selections. It all depends on them.

Sacramental Life

Call the Parish Office 847-885-7700 for further questions or to make arrangements.

BAPTISMS

To register for Baptism, stop in or call the Parish Office. Parents must attend a Baptismal Preparation Meeting, which is held on the last Tuesday of each month at 7:30 PM. You may attend this parent meeting either before or after the baby is born.

Baptisms take place on the 2nd and 4th Sundays of the month at 1:30 PM or at Mass by arrangement. You will confirm the date for Baptism by attending the Baptism Preparation Meeting.

MARRIAGES

Please do not reserve your banquet hall before confirming the date with the church. Set your date by calling the Parish Office as early as possible as you plan your wedding—at least 6 months before the wedding. Weddings take place on Saturdays at 2:00 PM. Weekdays and Sundays must be arranged individually.

RECONCILIATION

Saturday after 4:30 PM Mass, or by appointment.

EUCHARIST FOR THE SICK AND HOMEBOUND

If there is anyone who would like to receive Eucharist at home, or if you know a friend, neighbor or family member who is homebound and would like a home visit to receive Eucharist, please call the Parish Ministry Center. One of our dedicated ministers will be glad to fulfill these requests.

SACRAMENT OF THE SICK

Please call the Parish Ministry Center Office to make arrangements for a priest to visit.
