First Sunday of Lent

After John had been arrested, Jesus came to Galilee proclaiming the gospel of God: “This is the time of fulfillment. The kingdom of God is at hand. Repent, and believe in the gospel.”

– Mk 1:14-15

Being Driven

On the first Sunday of Lent we’re focused on Jesus’ temptation in the desert. Mark’s account is the most concise of the three gospels that tell it. He expresses the event in just two sentences and 31 words—a lot shorter than most tweets on Twitter.

But, they’re a very powerful 31 words, which are captured in the verbs: drove, remained, tempted, and ministered.

There was an internal movement within Jesus. Mark tells us the Spirit drove him into the desert. He was being driven to experience our human experience—including being tempted. To face it, he remained in the desert for 40 days. The number 40 is very significant in the story of God’s people; typically the amount of time (in years or days) needed for trial, testing, and discovery.

The author of the letter to the Hebrews explains the significance of the temptation: “Because he himself has suffered and had been tempted, he is able to help those who are tempted.” (Heb 2:18)

Jesus understands our struggles and human needs. He knows what can tempt us away from God or from what’s good and right for ourselves or others. Knowing that, we don’t have to hide anything from him. Instead, we can go to him when we need help.

So, as we enter these 40 days, instead of being tempted to let this time slip away from us, what if we adopted Jesus’ program for the spiritual life—the plan we heard about on Ash Wednesday. We can fast from something we know is pulling us away from God, or our families (or our spouse, our relationships, or the commitments we’ve made, or you name it).

We can give of our time or our support to build up what’s good, meaningful, and making a difference in people’s lives.

And we can pray—especially during the times we’re tempted to abandon our spiritual plan because something else seems so much better. To fight temptation, as Jesus teaches us, we need to pray—“lead us not into temptation and deliver us from evil.”

Mark tells us that what sustained Jesus as he remained in the desert was that the angels ministered to him. It’s what strengthened him, so that when he emerged from the desert, he could begin his ministry announcing what the world needs to hear: “The Kingdom of God is at hand. Repent and believe in the gospel.” The exact same words we heard as our foreheads were marked with ashes.

The angels ministered to Jesus. Jesus ministers to us. And then, to complete the pattern, all of us—the Body of Christ in the world today, the Church—minister to each other. We’ll be tempted not to buy into this. But instead, let’s remain driven by the Spirit to be more and more like the One we follow and the One who knows us.

May God bless you and lead us all as we journey toward Easter,

--Fr. Mike

1st Sunday of Lent

Today's Gospel reading shows us the first thing that Jesus did after his baptismal anointing in the Jordan River: He wrestled with temptation.

His baptism had marked the moment of his complete surrender to the Father's will. As he arose from the water, he began a new life of ministry.

The Father responded by telling him that he was very pleased, and the Holy Spirit filled his humanness. Jesus as God already had the Holy Spirit (he and the Spirit were the same God), but Jesus the fully human Son now came fully alive in the Spirit. We can imagine how this experience in the Jordan River gave him the feeling of an elated spiritual high. And the next thing that happens is an attack of the devil.

The same pattern repeats itself in our lives. As soon as we experience new growth in our faith, or a new calling to do the Father's will, we run smack into a situation that tests the strength and sincerity of our faith. However, if this didn't happen, how would we find out that we're spiritually matured? How would we know that we are ready to make a significant difference for the kingdom of God?

Sometimes without consciously thinking it, we decide that if we're going to be tested and we might lose, wouldn't it be better not to start something new? Well, that's another temptation!

Lent is the perfect time to examine the temptations that we face every day and turn them into new growth that will strengthen our faith.

Every time we face a sin and seek God's forgiveness, we become stronger. And if we take it a step farther by walking into the confessional with it, we also receive powerful graces directly from Jesus, through the priest, that will render temptations much more powerless.

And this makes us more useful to God in the mission of conquering evil in the world and helping his kingdom spread into the lives of the people around us.

Think of temptations as blessings in disguise. Use them as opportunities to become more like Jesus and grow powerful in the faith.

Reflect & Discuss:
1. How well do you recognize temptation?
2. How quickly do you rely on the faith that God has given you to say no to the devil's tricks?
3. Describe a time when you experienced a spiritual high and then faced a strong temptation.
4. How did you handle it?
5. What role did (or will) Jesus play in overcoming this temptation?
Sometimes the etymology of a word can be helpful. Linguistically, lent is derived from an old English word meaning springtime. In Latin, lente means slowly. Etymologically, then, lent points to the coming of spring and it invites us to slow down our lives so as to be able to take stock of ourselves.

That does capture some of the traditional meaning, through the popular mindset. It understands lent mostly as a season within which we are asked to fast from certain normal, healthy pleasures so as to better ready ourselves for the feast of Easter.

One of the images for this is the biblical idea of the Desert. Jesus, we are told, in order to prepare for his public ministry, went into the desert for forty days and forty nights during which time he fasted and, as the Gospel of Mark tells us, was put to the test by Satan, was with the wild animals, and was looked after by the angels.

Lent has always been understood as a time for us to imitate this, to metaphorically spend forty days in the desert like Jesus, unprotected by normal nourishment so as to have to face “Satan” and the “wild animals” and see whether the “angels” will indeed come and look after us when we reach that point where we can no longer look after ourselves.

For us, “Satan” and “wild animals” refer particularly to the chaos inside of us that normally we either deny or simply refuse to face – our paranoia, our anger, our jealousies, our distance from others, our fantasies, our grandiosity, our addictions, our unresolved hurts, our sexual complexity, our incapacity to really pray, our faith doubts, and our moral secrets. The normal food that we eat, distracted ordinary life, works to shield us from the deeper chaos that lurks beneath the surface of our lives.

Lent invites us to stop eating whatever protects us from having to face the desert that is inside of us. It invites us to feel our smallness, to feel our vulnerability, to feel our fears, and to open ourselves up to the chaos of the desert so that we can finally give the angels a chance to feed us. That’s the Christian ideal of lent, to face one’s chaos.

To supplement this, I would like to offer three rich mythical images, each of which helps explain one aspect of lent and fasting:

In every culture, there are ancient stories, myths, which teach that all of us, at times, have to sit in the ashes. We all know, for example, the story of Cinderella. The name itself literally means, the little girl (puella) who sits in the ashes (cinders). The moral of the story is clear: Before you get to be beautiful, before you get to marry the prince or princess, before you get to go to the great feast, you must first spend some lonely time in the ashes, humbled, smudged, tending to duty and the unglamorous, waiting. Lent is that season, a time to sit in the ashes. It is not incidental that we begin lent by marking our foreheads with ashes.

The second mythical image is that of sitting under Saturn, of being a child of Saturn. The ancients believed that Saturn was the star of sadness, of heaviness, of melancholy. Accordingly they weren’t always taken aback when someone fell under its spell, namely, when someone felt sad or depressed. Indeed they believed that everyone had to spend certain seasons of his or her life being a child of Saturn, that is, sitting in heaviness, sitting in sadness, waiting patiently while some important inner thing worked itself out inside the soul. Sometimes elders or saints would put themselves voluntarily under Saturn, namely, like Jesus going into the desert, they would sit in a self-induced heaviness, in the hope that this melancholy would be means to reach some new depth of soul. That too is the function of lent.

Finally there is the rich image, found in some ancient mythologies, of letting our tears reconnect us with the flow of the water of life, of letting our tears reconnect us to the origins of life. Tears, as we know, are salt-water. That is not without deep significance. The oceans too are salt water and, as we know too, all life takes its origins there. Hence, we get the mystic and poetic idea that tears reconnect us to the origins of life, that tears regenerate us, that tears cleanse us in a life-giving way, and that tears deepen the soul by letting it literally taste the origins of life. Given the truth of that, and we have all experienced its truth, tears too are a desert to be entered into as a Lenten practice, a vehicle to reach new depths of soul.

The need for lent is experienced everywhere: Without sublimation we can never attain what is sublime. To truly enter a feast there must first be a fast. To come properly to Easter there must first be a time of desert, ashes, heaviness, and tears.

Meditation for Catholics  February 27 from 7:00—8:30 PM

Church of the Holy Spirit
1451 Bode Road in Schaumburg, IL 60194

More and more Catholics are discovering the power of meditation to quiet the inner noise of stress and clarify our vision of what is truly important. Come join the Christian Meditation group for a presentation by Mary LaMont from The Knocking Door. Mary LaMont has a master’s degree in sacramental theology from Catholic Theological Union and has trained at the Zen Life and Meditation Center. She has also taught World Religions and Catholic Theology at Loyola Academy for 25 years. Questions explored include:

- What is the source of the “inner noise” in our buzzing minds that is so hard to quiet?
- How can a meditation practice open our ears to the messages and invitations God sends to us in the midst of our busy lives?
- How can a meditation practice help us to be more present and less judgmental in our relationships?
- How can a meditation practice help us to achieve clarity of vision about our worth in God’s eyes and our purpose and vocation?
- What is the relationship between prayer and meditation? How does each support the other?

Mary LaMont will provide a historical overview of meditation in the Christian tradition from the desert fathers to the Centering Prayer tradition of the Benedictines and will also lead participants in a series of meditations. Discover the peace and the power of meditation practice!

AS A TEEN DO I KNOW HOW TO RECOGNIZE DATING ABUSE?

Am I totally happy in my dating choices?

When a boyfriend or girlfriend uses verbal insults, mean language, nasty putdowns, gets physical by hitting or slapping, or forces someone into sexual activity, it’s a sign of verbal, emotional, or physical abuse.

Ask yourself, does my boyfriend or girlfriend:

- Get angry when I don’t drop everything for him or her?
- Criticize the way I look or dress, and say I’ll never be able to find anyone else who would date me?
- Keep me from seeing friends or from talking to other guys or girls?
- Want me to quit an activity, even though I love it?
- Ever raise a hand when angry, like he or she is about to hit me?
- Try to force me to go further sexually?

These aren’t the only questions you can ask yourself. If you can think of any way in which your boyfriend or girlfriend is trying to control you, make you feel bad about yourself, isolate you from the rest of your world, or — this is a big one — harm you physically or sexually, then it’s time to get out, fast. Let a trusted friend or family member know what’s going on and make sure you’re safe.

It can be tempting to make excuses or misinterpret violence, possessiveness, or anger as an expression of love. But even if you know that the person hurting you loves you, it is not healthy. No one deserves to be hit, shoved, or forced into anything they don’t want to do.

If you or someone you know is being abused, seek help today. In an emergency, please dial 911. For all other help, please call: Illinois Statewide Domestic Violence Helpline 877 TO END DV (877-863-6338), 877-863-6339 TTY or call WINGS 24-hour hotline 847-221-5680

Sacramental Life

Call the Parish Office 847-885-7700 for further questions or to make arrangements.

Baptisms
To register for Baptism, stop in or call the Parish Office. Parents must attend a Baptismal Preparation Meeting, which is held on the last Tuesday of each month at 7:30 PM. You may attend this parent meeting either before or after the baby is born.

Baptisms take place on the 2nd and 4th Sundays of the month at 1:30 PM or at Mass by arrangement. You will confirm the date for Baptism by attending the Baptism Preparation Meeting.

Marriages
Please do not reserve your banquet hall before confirming the date with the church. Set your date by calling the Parish Office as early as possible as you plan your wedding—at least 6 months before the wedding. Weddings take place on Saturdays at 2:00 PM. Weekdays and Sundays must be arranged individually.

Reconciliation
Saturday after 4:30 PM Mass, or by appointment.

Eucharist for the Sick and Homebound
If there is anyone who would like to receive Eucharist at home, or if you know a friend, neighbor or family member who is homebound and would like a home visit to receive Eucharist, please call the Parish Ministry Center. One of our dedicated ministers will be glad to fulfill these requests.

SACRAMENTAL OF THE SICK
Please call the Parish Ministry Center Office to make arrangements for a priest to visit.
