13th Sunday in Ordinary Time

So he went in and said to them, “Why this commotion and weeping? The child is not dead but asleep.” - Mk 5:39

A Story Within a Story

In the gospel this weekend, we have an example of what biblical scholars call a “Markan Sandwich”-- a literary technique that’s unique to the way Mark writes his gospel. At times, Mark will insert a story within a story.

What scholars discover is that the stories have something in common and will tell us something important about Jesus’ ministry, which we can apply in our own lives.

In today’s gospel, Mark first begins with the story of Jarius’ daughter who has become very sick. We’ll discover the girl is 12 years old. After he introduces the passage, Mark inserts a second passage about a woman who has been suffering from an illness the doctors can’t diagnose or cure. We’ll discover she’s been suffering with this for 12 years—the same amount of time the little girl who was sick had been alive. When the woman comes to Jesus, he’s surrounded by people, but all she wanted to do was touch him. And when she did, she was healed.

Mark then concludes the first story by returning to the events surrounding the 12-year-old girl. We discover she died before Jesus got to her. But Jesus didn’t let that be the end. He went beyond healing. He raised her up from death into life.

The two passages are examples of the great hope that people have in Jesus. They reach out to him because in him they find healing, hope, mercy, love, life and dignity. Both the girl and the woman received a new beginning after the same 12 years. They were free to live again.

We find our own story within these two powerful events. Our faith in Jesus isn’t just a faith for the moment or for when we desperately need it. Faith is a lifetime of ups and downs knowing that Jesus is walking with us all along the way, which is why the Eucharist becomes so important to us as Catholics. And it’s also why Reconciliation and the Anointing are sacraments of healing.

Jesus finds ways to free us to live again when we need him. We reach out to him in prayer and in the sacraments that we open our heart to receive. It’s what allows us to experience the ordinary miracles of Jesus’ touch in our lives.

Odds & Ends

- Thank You for Helping! A heartfelt thanks to all those who were able to contribute the past two weeks to our special second collection to help us offset the cost of a new heating/cooling unit we needed to replace last winter. We collected $5,900. Thank you for your generosity!
- July 4th Mass is at 9 am. What a great way to begin a holiday—begin the day with the holy. Join us for Mass as we give God thanks for the blessings we have in life, especially the ability to practice our faith freely and openly with one another.
- New CDs Available. If you’re looking for some spiritual nourishment or for some insight into helping with life struggles, check out the new CDs available in the narthex. These are some excellent resources by some of today’s best Catholic speakers and thinkers.

I will be away from the parish with my family to celebrate my niece’s marriage next weekend so won’t be around to say hello. Please know I will be praying for you and with you. May God bless you in all you do!

Wouldn't it be great if we could actually touch and feel the hem of Jesus' clothing, like the woman in the Gospel reading? To be near enough to Jesus to be healed spiritually, physically, and emotionally. How can we, 2000 years after he ascended to heaven, get so close to him?

It is possible, and it's exactly what Jesus wants. It comes from developing a better understanding of who Jesus really is and how much God really cares. The synagogue leader understood, which is why he could say: "Please, come lay your hands on my daughter that she may live." He understood Jesus beyond what was in front of his eyes. He believed in the divine life of Jesus.

Knowing Jesus is to know divine life, which transforms our earthly life into something much more like his and then takes us to heaven. The first reading, remember, states clearly that death is not part of God's plan. Jesus drives this point home by allowing the girl to die before he reaches her house. Certainly God could have kept her alive until he got there! But he wanted to show the world that he could restore life and that he has the power to rescue us from death.

If we fear death, we don't recognize the nearness of Christ. We can touch the hem of his garment, but we don't see it, and so we don't believe it. In this case, we're like the mourners that Jesus had to chase out of the house before working his miracle.

If we fear that our trials are leading to disastrous conclusions, we've forgotten how powerful Jesus is, and we've forgotten that he cares enough to rescue us. We need to move ourselves closer to Jesus. We have to press on through the crowd of distractions and doubts, with our eyes fixed only on Jesus and our hands reaching out to him in prayer.

If we fear that God doesn't care enough about us to help us, we need to spend more time learning why Jesus gave up his life for us and why the Father sent him to us.

Reflect & Discuss:
1. Do you believe that Jesus wants to work miraculously in your life?
2. How has the disbelief of the people around you infected your thinking and reduced your faith?
3. Describe a miracle that you saw or experienced. How long did it take?
4. What blessings occurred during the time of suffering?
5. How was all of this an expression of God's love?

We are the freest people to ever walk this planet, at least in terms of opportunity. Our freedom is so great that, at times, it is almost a burden, an over-choice. We often find it difficult to commit ourselves to marriage, to a vocation, to a career, and to a friendship precisely because we are so free and have so many choices.

Freedom is a great gift. But it’s easily misused and easily becomes a destructive thing. We’ve all hurt others and ourselves through the misuse of our freedom.

But something doesn’t become bad just because it’s misused. Food remains a good thing, even when we overeat. It’s the same with freedom. It remains always the greatest gift that God has given us, even though we don’t always use it maturely. Jesus came to bring us freedom. But it’s easy to lose that perspective and, today, it’s not uncommon to hear sincere, good-hearted, religious people speak out against freedom, as if it were an enemy, something that should be restricted in the name of God, church, and morality.

While that’s sincere, it’s also misguided. What’s needed today is not less freedom but more maturity. We don’t need to roll back freedom in the name of God and morality: we need raise the level of our maturity to match the level of our freedom. Simply put, we are often too immature to carry properly the great gift of freedom that God has given us. The answer to that is not to denigrate freedom in the name of God and morality, but to invite a deeper maturity so as to more properly honor the great gift that we have been given.

Our model here is Jesus, himself. Nobody has walked this earth as freely as he did. But he also had the maturity to carry such great freedom without ever misusing it. If we can believe the gospels, Jesus wasn’t afraid of anything – Satan, temptation, tax-collectors, prostitutes, street people, rich people, poor people, church people, non-church people, moral people, and immoral people. He went into the singles’ bars of his time, but he didn’t sin.

And in that lies the challenge: To walk in freedom, but not compromise ourselves in doing so. Not an easy thing to do. There is always a double danger: On the one hand, we can be too timid and too frightened to use our freedom to take God’s presence and grace into places that are morally threatening, like Jesus did. That’s often where we, as church people, sell ourselves and our freedom short. We are so afraid of seemingly godless places that we simply stay away from them, fearing for our own safety. That’s sometimes a very prudent thing to do; it isn’t always an imitation of Jesus. He wasn’t afraid to go into godless places.

As well, there’s the opposite danger, namely, that we go into morally dangerous places and lose ourselves there. Like Jesus, we eat and drink with sinners, but, unlike him, we sin because we don’t have the maturity and moral strength to be in dangerous situations without falling.

But, dangers notwithstanding, the great challenge is to become mature enough to walk in the freedom of Jesus without compromising. Whenever we are able to do that, we become missionaries in the true sense, namely, we take God’s love and light into places that are devoid of them. But that’s not easy to do. We need models to help us.

Someone who can help mentor us on this, I believe, is Henri Nouwen. One of his great gifts was his honesty about his own moral and emotional struggles and the capacity to share that in a way that helps us in our own struggles.

Nouwen was searingly honest in admitting that he struggled. He shared that, even if you are sincere, prayerful, morally honest, and trying your best, it doesn’t mean that you won’t, at the same time, also be weak, complex, tempted, torn, discouraged, forever at war with certain parts of yourself, sinful, and subject to obsessions, addictions, and pathologies. Our desires are deep, complex, unyielding, wild horses, bent on their own path – and all of this co-exists with what’s healthy, good, and best in us. So it’s not easy to be whole, mature, and to walk into morally dangerous places and not sin.

Nouwen was so honest and humble about this that there were seasons in his life when he wouldn’t travel by himself, but always took along a companion, because he recognized that there are a lot more moral dangers travelling alone than there are when we have family, companions, and community along with us.

We aren’t all as mature and as strong as Jesus. Like Nouwen, we need to be honest and humble about our weaknesses, sometimes we simply don’t have the maturity to walk into dark places alone. We’re wise to take someone with us so that, in the strength given by family and community, our maturity can measure up to our freedom.

Prayer for the Nation
God of our forebears, in tumultuous times our ancestors made their way to a new land, seeking prosperity and peace. The wealth of a new nation lay before them, as well as the challenge to use wisely the gifts of the good earth and the industriousness of a people forged in the crucible of revolution and the high-minded ideals of life and liberty. Strengthen within us the pursuit of justice, the desire for equality, the love of true freedom. May all the citizens of our country work unceasingly to promote the common good so that all may share in the pursuit of happiness sought by the founders of our land. Amen.

Teachers and Aides Needed!

Why Be a Catechist or a Catechist’s Aide?

- The best way to learn is to teach.
- Your own faith will come alive.
- You become an active participant in one of the essential responsibilities of a Church community.
- You assist in bringing Christ to others.
- You practice stewardship.
- You show your own family that you value the Faith.

Children’s Ministry of Initiation (CMI)

THE BEST EXERCISE... WALKING WITH GOD

Children’s Ministry of Initiation (CMI) is a family centered program. If you wish to have your child initiated (receive the sacraments of baptism, confirmation, and Eucharist) into the Catholic Church, but have not been actively practicing and wish to resume practicing, this process would be a great place for your family to journey together. The instructional sessions take place over the course of the standard school year for two years. This process provides for the catechetical (teaching religious principle by questions and answers) needs of the students, and guides them through the various rites of the Church, which will lead to their initiation during the Easter Vigil.

For more information, contact Marie Staffa at 847-885-7700, ext. 124 or mstaffa@sainthubert.org.

RCIA is for adults interested in becoming Catholic.

RCIA stands for Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults. It is the process whereby adults may be initiated into and fully enter the Catholic Church. It is for non-Catholics who may be considering joining the Church and also for Catholics who have not completed their own sacraments of initiation.

Practicing Catholics are needed in this ministry to share in the RCIA experience as sponsors and team members.

For more information, call Marie Staffa at 847-885-7700, ext. 124 or email her at mstaffa@sainthubert.org.

We need sponsor companions for the RCIA

- Can you help?
- Do you desire to share your Catholic faith?
- Do you feel called to walk with people on their spiritual journey?

In the Catholic Church, accompanying someone on their journey of initiation is like the birthing of a child. As they learn what it means to be Catholic and discover the rich tradition of our Church, they awaken to a new way of living life. Your role is to be a companion. Your task is to walk with them, guiding them through the process of the Church toward full initiation. In the past, many people who have served as mentors have discovered this ministry to be a very powerful experience of faith and of the Church as community. May your experience as a mentor be rewarding and a renewal of your faith!

Keys to success…
Offer a Welcoming Spirit, Share Catholic Traditions, Listen, Share Life and Share Faith, Introduce them to Ministry, Offer friendship, and Witness.

If you are interested in more information or in becoming a sponsor companion, please contact Marie Staffa at 847-885-7700, ext. 124 or email her at mstaffa@sainthubert.org.
