24th Sunday in Ordinary Time

“Whoever wishes to come after me must deny himself, take up his cross, and follow me.” - Mk 8:34b

Getting Behind Him

In today’s gospel, Jesus gets angry with Peter. Jesus tells the apostles that as the Christ (in Hebrew “Messiah” or in English “Anointed One”), he will suffer, be killed and rise after three days. Peter doesn’t want Jesus to talk like that. That’s when Jesus tells Peter, “Get behind me, Satan.” Why does he say that?

Plain and simple, Satan opposes Jesus. Satan turns his back on anything to do with God and walks the other way. By telling Peter to get behind him, he is telling him that by denying his suffering, death and resurrection, he’s headed the wrong way. He’s not following, but forging ahead in the opposite direction—and that’s not a great place to be. Satan wanders into emptiness; followers of Christ are led into life.

At that point, Peter is faced with a decision. He had to either turn his thoughts and attitude around, or walk away. It reminds us of what we heard proclaimed a few weeks ago. We heard Peter’s response to another difficult saying of Jesus’ about eating his flesh and blood.

Instead of walking away from the difficult teaching, his decision was to turn to follow Jesus. Peter says what we’ve come to say: “Master, to whom shall we go? You have the words of eternal life. We have come to believe and are convinced that you are the Holy One of God.” (John 6:60)

Following Jesus isn’t always an easy road. We will face our own crosses. Jesus doesn’t want us to think that our human experience is void of sin, or suffering, or hurt or pain. The crosses may come. But we don’t face them alone. We face them with Jesus, God the Son, the Christ. He brings us through the suffering to the resurrection.

Getting behind Jesus leads us to a place of inner strength.

Prayer Has Lifted Us Up!

Thank you to everyone who made our day of prayer such a meaningful one. We were blessed to be home to the travelling statue of Our Lady of Fatima on September 10, and to have the opportunity to pray for peace—in our Church, in our world and country, in our parish, in our school and in our lives. We lifted up our prayer through the intercession of Mary, Our Lady of Fatima, who brings our prayer to Christ.

Thank you to those who went out of their way to make it a special day for us, especially Eddie Fong and Lydia Torres our chairs for the day. Thanks go to our Mrs. Ebert and her 8th Graders for all they did to make our Morning Prayer Service so special, along with our homeschool families. Thanks to our choir, musicians, art and environment crew, liturgical ministers, hospitality crew, and prayer warriors in 6 different languages. Thanks to the Knights of Columbus for carrying the statue and being present.

It’s Time for A Taste of St. Hubert!

Save the evening of October 6th. After our 4:30 PM Mass, we’ll have a chance to sample some of the foods from the different ethnic cultures that make up the diversity of St. Hubert. A taste of St. Hubert, is a taste of all that’s good about St. Hubert.

Peace and good things,

--Fr. Mike

This Sunday’s second reading defines the Catholic doctrine of faith and works.

Works without faith, no matter how good the works are, don’t get us into heaven. Some of us try to earn our way into God’s heart by serving in church activities, saying all the “right” prayers, and so on.

This idea comes from our childhood when we learned: “If I’m good enough, Mom and Dad will reward me” and “If I do well in school, the teacher will give me a gold star” or smiley face or whatever it is they paste on homework today.

The problem is, we can never be good enough for heaven. This is why Jesus came to earth and took our sins to the cross.

Faith without works isn’t going to get us into heaven, either. Here’s why:

Faith in Jesus starts with believing that, in his love for us, he died for us and rose again so that we’ll have eternal life. This is what opens the door to heaven. However, to walk through that door, we have to follow Jesus. This requires doing more than believing in his death and resurrection; we also believe in his life – how he lived his life. Following Jesus affects our lifestyles and our day-to-day behavior. How Christ-like is it?

The proof that we truly do have faith is evidenced in the good works that we do. Faith in Jesus means we love him so much that we love all those whom he loves, which is everyone regardless of whether they deserve it or not.

And faith in Jesus means we trust him so much that we do whatever he tells us – imitating him in all of our activities, adopting his attitudes, and responding to his calling to serve as priests, religious, and lay ministers.

Thus, when Jesus says to us in the Gospel reading, “Who do you say that I am?” we answer that he is our Savior who takes us to heaven, and he is our Lord who teaches us how to live, and he is our Lover who empowers us to love others even when it becomes a cross to bear.

Reflect & Discuss:

1. Is Jesus Christ truly your Lord and Savior? Do you believe that he suffered and died on your behalf so that you could reach heaven?

2. Are you doing good works because you adore him so much that you want to go where he goes and do what he does and serve as his hands and feet and voice wherever he leads you?

3. How does your life convey to others that Jesus is your Lord and Savior?

4. If you wore no Christian jewelry and spoke no words, how would you tell others who Jesus is?

Among Jesus’ many teachings we find this, rather harsh-sounding, invitation: Whoever wants to be my disciple must deny himself, take up his cross daily, and follow me. Whoever finds his life will lose it, and whoever loses his life for my sake will find it.

I suspect that each of us has a gut-sense of what this means and what it will cost us; but, I suspect too that many of us misunderstand that Jesus is asking here and struggle unhealthily with this invitation. What, concretely, does Jesus mean by this?

To answer that, I would like to lean on some insights offered by James Martin in his book, Jesus, A Pilgrimage. He suggests that taking up our cross daily and giving up life in order to find deeper life means six interpenetrating things:

First, it means accepting that suffering is a part of our lives. Accepting our cross and giving up our lives means that, at some point, we have to make peace with the unalterable fact that frustration, disappointment, pain, misfortune, illness, unfairness, sadness, and death are a part of our lives and they must ultimately be accepted without bitterness. As long as we nurse the notion that pain in our lives is something we need not accept, we will habitually find ourselves bitter – bitter for not having accepted the cross.

Second, taking up our cross and giving up our lives, means that we may not, in our suffering, pass on any bitterness to those around us. We have a strong inclination, almost as part of our natural instincts, to make others suffer when we are suffering: If I’m unhappy, I will make sure that others around me are unhappy too! This does not mean, as Martin points out, that we cannot share our pain with others. But there’s a healthy way of doing this, where our sharing leaves others free, as opposed to an unhealthy kind of sharing which subtly tries to make others unhappy because we are unhappy. There’s a difference between healthily groaning under the weight of our pain and unhealthily whining in self-pity and bitterness under that weight. The cross gives us permission to do the former, but not the latter. Jesus groaned under the weight of his cross, but no self-pity, whining, or bitterness issued forth from his lips or his beaten body.

Third, walking in the footsteps of Jesus as he carries his cross means that we must accept some other deaths before our physical death, that we are invited to let some parts of ourselves die. When Jesus invites us to die in order to find life, he is not, first of all, talking about physical death. If we live in adulthood, there are a myriad of other deaths that we must undergo before we die physically. Maturity and Christian discipleship are about perennially naming our deaths, claiming our births, mourning our losses, letting go of what’s died, and receiving new spirit for the new life that we are now living. These are the stages of the paschal mystery, and the stages of growing up. There are daily deaths.

Fourth, it means that we must wait for the resurrection, that here in this life all symphonies must remain unfinished. The book of Proverbs tells us that sometimes in the midst of pain the best we can do is put our mouths to the dust and wait. Any real understanding of the cross agrees. So much of life and discipleship is about waiting, waiting in frustration, inside injustice, inside pain, in longing, battling bitterness, as we wait for something or someone to come and change our situation. We spend about 98% of our lives waiting for fulfillment, in small and big ways. Jesus’ invitation to us to follow him implies waiting, accepting to live inside an unfinished symphony.

Fifth, carrying our cross daily means accepting that God’s gift to us is often not what we expect. God always answers our prayers but, often times, by giving us what we really need rather than what we think we need. The Resurrection, says James Martin, does not come when we expect it and rarely fits our notion of how a resurrection should happen. To carry your cross is to be open to surprise.

Finally, taking up your cross and being willing to give up your life means living in a faith that believes that nothing is impossible for God. As James Martin puts it, this means accepting that God is greater than the human imagination. Indeed, whenever we succumb to the notion that God cannot offer us a way out of our pain into some kind of newness, it’s precisely because we have reduced God down to the size of our own limited imagination. It’s only possible to accept our cross, to live in trust, and to not grow bitter inside pain if we believe in possibilities beyond what we can imagine, namely, if we believe in the Resurrection.

We can take up our cross when we begin to believe in the Resurrection.

Campaign Update – It’s Going UP
What an exciting time for our parish the opportunity to look toward and prepare for our future! Last week at all Masses our Campaign Chairs gave us an update on the campaign which placed our amount raised to date at $1,530,513 pledged from 267 families and individuals. We have a large parish and have not yet heard from many. Fr. Mike and all who are working on the campaign are praying that the Holy Spirit guide you as you make your decision and response.

A Look at the Campaign Case Elements:
Each week we will feature one specific area our campaign seeks to address. Last week we examined the first element being the School Building (installing a school building sprinkler system and new energy efficient lighting) with a cost of $1.5 million. Let’s look at the second of the four main areas of need:

Parish Ministry Center:
Upgrade the Electrical System / Improve Reception Area
Cost: $40,000
When the Parish Ministry Center was completed, it greatly enhanced our parish campus. It is the center of activity with daily activities year-round. The building is a gathering place and over time we realized a strong need to reconfigure the electrical system. This will allow us to better host large events which is currently hard to do. There is also a need to create a better functioning front desk area to welcome parishioners as they enter our building and to safely store our sacramental records.

Roger and Zee Malinski, Campaign Chairs and longtime members say:
“Ever since the Ministry Center was completed the multipurpose and club rooms have been home to many fun and exciting events: The Taste of St Hubert, School dances, the annual Thank You dinner, the Celebration of Marriage, Veteran’s Day gatherings, pancake breakfasts, Boy Scout Eagle ceremonies and a multitude of sports activities. And let’s not forget it took over as our worship space during the church renovation. Through all this we’ve come across a few weak spots especially in our electrical systems. Fr. Mike wasn’t kidding when he mentioned how we pop circuit breakers often during these events. Picture this, you plug in several coffee pots for your evening activity then go to church for Mass. You come back after Mass to find the breaker tripped and your coffee won’t be ready for another hour. That’s just one of many electrical adventures we’ve dealt with.”

Have You Responded to Fr. Mike’s Request Yet?
Fr. Mike invites all members of St. Hubert Parish to consider his gift request and make a pledge to the campaign. Please prayerfully consider his gift request and make your pledge in the coming week. If you need information or have not yet been contacted by a volunteer, please call the parish office at 847-885-7700.

Dating Safely: Tips For Staying Safe While Having Fun

Date People You Know and Trust - Try to get to know your date through a group activity or a double-date before you go solo.

Be Extra Careful About Meeting People Online - Insist that when you meet in person, you meet in a group setting and in a well populated area.

Tell a Parent - Never go on a date without telling someone else. Always have your phone with you.

Know Your Limits and Communicate Them - If you feel uncomfortable about a situation, say "no" clearly and confidently. You're always allowed to change your mind about something, too. If someone likes and respects you, they'll back off. If your date doesn't respect your decision, stay safe by leaving the situation.

Avoid Drugs and Alcohol - Drugs and alcohol compromise your ability to make smart decisions and to escape dangerous situations.

Go Out, Don't Hang Out - Going out rather than hanging out tells your date that you think they're special and want to enjoy the world—not just the cable channels—with them.

Know The Warning Signs of Dating Violence and Relationship Abuse

Dating violence is extremely common among teens. Even if your partner is charming and sweet at first, look out for signs of abusive relationships, such as:

- Isolating you from friends and family
- Having angry outbursts
- Blaming others for problems
- Threatening to hurt you during arguments
- Getting extremely jealous for no reason
- Trying to control you by belittling your values or ideas.

If these warning signs sound like someone you're dating, take a step back and reevaluate the relationship. If you need help figuring out what to do, talk to a school guidance counselor, social worker, teacher, pastor, or contact Love Is Respect (chat at www.loveisrespect.org or text loveis to 22522* or call 1-866-331-9474).

Managing Disagreements In Ministry
Disagreements are inevitable in parish life. When ignored they can take many forms and eventually lead to conflict between individuals and within the many ministries of parish life. While conflict is traditionally seen as a negative, from a faith perspective it should be viewed as an opportunity to create a better and more effective ministry. This workshop will provide Saint Hubert parish ministry leaders ways to identify conflicts in their ministerial setting and provide strategies for responding with faith, hope, and love.

Our Presenter: Mike Dowling has been involved in church ministry for nearly forty years providing retreats, workshops, and staff consulting services. He is currently the director of the Regional Office of Religious Education in the Diocese of Rockford. He has a background in business management and marketing, completed a Master of Divinity degree and recently earned a Doctorate of Ministry degree. His professional church experience includes being a Teacher, Pastoral Associate, Consultant for Adult Education, and Assistant Director of an Archdiocesan Religious Education Office.

Thank you all for the amazing work and your continued dedication to our St. Hubert community.
