THE MOST HOLY BODY AND BLOOD OF CHRIST

Then taking the five loaves and the two fish, and looking up to heaven, he said the blessing over them, broke them, and gave them to the disciples to set before the crowd. - Lk 9:16
The Bread of Life

Today we celebrate Corpus Christi—the feast of the Most Holy Body and Blood of Christ. Every year, we devote one Sunday to reflect on this most incredible gift, the gift of Jesus Christ himself.

When we were reflecting on the Trinity last Sunday, we were drawn into the interplay between the three persons of our one God. There is a relationship of persons within God himself, and a desire to share. The Eucharist is God’s expression to share his life with us in an intimate way. The place we call “heaven” is simply being with God. The Eucharist is for us then, heaven on earth, or even a “taste of heaven.”

We’re blessed here at St. Hubert because we have parishioners who have a great desire to bring the Eucharist to the homebound and those in hospitals or care facilities. When someone can’t make it to church, the Church comes to them. And we come with the Eucharist.

What’s so meaningful, is that the Ministers of Care all have incredible, yet simple, stories of how bringing the Eucharist to someone is life giving. The minister is able to see faith in a tangible way. They see Catholics, like themselves, who simply need Jesus Christ in their life, and when they receive the Eucharist, it brings them the kind of peace and love only God can give. The minister experiences it in their prayer together and sees it in the hands of those that reach out to hold the Body and Blood of Christ.

In my first assignment as a priest, I received a call from Tom who just moved in down the street. He just entered into hospice care and the doctors told him he had about a month to live. He had deep faith and a longing to receive Jesus in the Eucharist. And so, each week, I’d go to visit him and bring him communion.

I’ll always remember those sacred times, because he always held the Eucharist like a precious gift. And when he received it, in his weakness—sometimes even in his struggle to simply breathe—his whole demeanor changed. He saw the Eucharist as life, as Christ with him. And it strengthened him.

One month turned into four years. The doctors were amazed by him, not sure what it was that kept him going. But Tom knew, and I knew. Tom had Christ with him and that’s what he needed and desired more than anything.

Today is a great day to simply treasure this gift we have as Catholics. The Eucharist is God’s desire to be with us. Let it strengthen us, give us hope, and help us realize—no matter how hard things can be—Jesus is with us.

One more thing:

- Thank you Knights of Columbus! Inspired by the good things happening at St. Hubert School, our local Knights of Columbus Council generously donated $3,741 to help us with our needs. We’re truly grateful for their faith in our students and their heartfelt desire to help others, which is part of their charism and mission.

I’m away this weekend with my family for a little R&R and will return Monday. May God continue to bless you and strengthen you.

"Love is like five loaves and two fish, always too little until you start giving it away." This is the message inscribed at a shrine near the northern end of the Sea of Galilee, built where Jesus multiplied a small amount of food to provide for the needs of everyone in the large crowd who had come to see him.

In front of the altar is a Byzantine mosaic of the loaves and fish, dating about 480 A.D. It's next to the rock upon which Jesus blessed the food. However, in the mosaic you can see only four loaves, not five. Why?

The fifth loaf is the bread of the Eucharist in which Jesus comes to us in Holy Communion at every Mass.

The Eucharist is more than the True Presence of Jesus. It's more than a communion with the Body of Christ that's become the whole Church community. It's a miracle of multiplication. Whatever we lack from God, it comes to us in Jesus through the Holy Spirit, and when we participate in the Eucharistic celebration of Mass, we can (and should!) ask Jesus to multiply our insufficiencies into an abundance.

We can trust that he will give us all that we need, at the perfect time in whatever way we're able to receive it, albeit often through a growth process.

Do you have enough love in your life? Most of us would say no, because there is no one – except God – who is capable of giving us all the love that we need: No one, regardless of how close to us they are, regardless of how loyal and trustworthy, regardless of how close to Christ they are.

The Eucharist is our earthly, direct connection to all the perfect love of God. The reason we don't feel the fullness of that love is because we don't fully understand how to unite ourselves to the Eucharist. To receive the Eucharist fully, we have to be the Eucharist fully. The Eucharist is love given in sacrifice for the sake of others. If you're not receiving enough love, give more love – be the love you want to receive. Be Eucharist for others.

Reflect & Discuss:

1. Is God’s love sufficiently filling in the gaps where others don’t love you enough? Ask the Holy Spirit to show you how to give more love instead of focusing on getting more, then ask Jesus to multiply the love that you give so that it’s more than enough for your needs as well as the needs of others.

2. Describe an experience of love being multiplied.

3. How did that experience prove: “Love is like five loaves and two fish, always too little until you start giving it away?”

They hadn’t understood about the loaves! The Gospels use those words to describe the crowd that Jesus had miraculously fed with five barley loaves and two fish. They ate, but they didn’t understand. What didn’t they understand?

This is the story: Jesus had been preaching to a large crowd, several thousand people. But they were in a remote place and, after a time, the people had been without food for a long time. They were hungry, so famished in fact that they lacked the strength to return to their own towns and villages. The disciples approached Jesus and asked him whether they should go into the neighboring towns and buy food for the crowd. Jesus told them instead to feed the people themselves. They protested that they had too little food, almost none. Jesus asked them what they in fact did have. Their answer: “Only five barley loaves and two fish.” And this came with a question: What good is that among so many? The equation is hopeless: so little food, so many people.

And so Jesus asked them to bring the loaves and fish to him. He blessed the food and asked the disciples to distribute it among the hungry thousands. We know the rest of the story: They set out the food; everyone ate as much as he or she wanted, and they gathered up twelve baskets of scraps left over afterwards. And the crowd was impressed, so much in fact that the next day they followed Jesus around the lake, hoping for another such feeding. Jesus, for his part, was saddened by their lack of understanding: They hadn’t understood about the loaves.

What hadn’t they understood? Two things:

First: When the disciples initially approach Jesus and ask him whether they should go into the neighboring towns and buy bread, their question betrays that they are unaware that they are with the bread of life. They are in the presence of that which is the object of all the world’s hungers and which, in its bounty, is unlimited and infinite. Yet they want to go off and buy food elsewhere. The lesson: When you are with the bread of life there is no need to go off to buy food, or anything else, elsewhere! You have all the resources you need to feed every kind of hunger. The disciples’ wanting to go off to buy food elsewhere betrays their lack of awareness of this. They didn’t see the incongruity, the irony, in their request: Jesus is the bread of life, food for the life of the world, and they ask him if they should go off elsewhere to buy what is needed to feed the crowds.

The second thing they didn’t understand was the meaning of the equation: so little food, so many people. A few small loaves of bread and a few fish are hopelessly inadequate to feed a crowd of thousands. It goes against common sense to put such a pathetically meager fare before so many people. How can five loaves and two fish feed a crowd of thousands?

Sometimes well-meaning homilists have tried to explain what might have happened by suggesting that Jesus’ invitation to share drew out from the people the privately guarded resources of food that each had brought and, when everyone shared what he or she had, all were fed and there was food to spare. Such a homily has its own good lesson, but the point of the story is precisely the hopelessness of the equation. In essence, the resources of the Gospel always seem hopelessly dwarfed by the world’s power, the world’s hunger, the world’s sin, and the resources that the world itself seems to offer.

Five loaves and two fish set out to feed a crowd of thousands is the Gospel equivalent of the famous story in the Jewish scriptures of the young shepherd boy, David, standing before the giant, Goliath: A young boy, barelyfoot, holding a boy’s plaything, a slingshot, standing before a giant, a trained soldier, clothed in iron, with a sword-bearer carrying his weapons, is also a hopeless equation: So little power against so much strength. But the young boy triumphs because God is on his side. It’s the same with the loaves and the fish.

What do we need to understand about the loaves? We need to understand that we are with the bread of life, everything we need to feed the world we already have. We don’t need to go anywhere to buy anything. We have the resources already; though on the surface those resources will always look over-matched, hopeless, dwarfed, nonsensical, wishful thinking. On the surface, invariably, we will look like David before Goliath, puny and pathetic, not up to the task of defeating a giant or feeding a hungry, greedy world.

The challenge is to roll the dice on the reality of the Gospel. The Gospel works! It is adequate to the task, both of feeding the world and defeating the giant. It only needs to be trusted.

Are you curious about religion? Would you like more information about acquiring or maintaining a rich, rewarding faith life? Have you ever considered exploring the Catholic faith or becoming Catholic?

What is the RCIA?
RCIA stands for the Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults and it is the process through which people join or complete their initiation into the Catholic Church.

Is the RCIA for me? The RCIA is for three groups of people:
- Those who are not baptized.
- Those who were baptized into another Christian denomination and wish to enter into full communion with the Catholic Church.
- Baptized Catholics who were never formed in the Catholic faith and have not completed their initiation; that is, who have not received the sacraments of Confirmation and Eucharist.

For more information, call Marie Staffa at 847-885-7700, ext. 124 or email her at mstaffa@sainthubert.org.

Please note, if you are an adult whose only need of completing your initiation is through the Sacrament of Confirmation or if you are fully initiated but have been away from the Church and interested in returning, know that we have separate ministries to welcome you into or back to the fullness of our Church.

Looking for more faith-based literature at St. Hubert? The Knights of Columbus #6964 have donated some resources to help enrich your faith life—subjects such as family, rosary, marriage and becoming your best self are among the 15 books available. The Knights believe these books can aid you along your faith journey.

Please feel free to check out the Resource Kiosk in the Narthex when you come to Mass. Read a book and then share it with your friends. Let’s enrich our parish one book at a time.

These books are free for the parish to use. Please help yourself.

SACRAMENTAL LIFE

Call the Parish Office 847-885-7700 for further questions or to make arrangements.

BAPTISMS

To register for Baptism, stop in or call the Parish Office. Parents must attend a Baptismal Preparation Meeting, which is held on the last Tuesday of each month at 7:30 PM. You may attend this parent meeting either before or after the baby is born.

Baptisms take place on the 2nd and 4th Sundays of the month at 1:30 PM or at Mass by arrangement. You will confirm the date for Baptism by attending the Baptism Preparation Meeting.

MARRIAGES

Please do not reserve your banquet hall before confirming the date with the church. Set your date by calling the Parish Office as early as possible as you plan your wedding—at least 6 months before the wedding. Weddings take place on Saturdays at 2:00 PM. Weekdays and Sundays must be arranged individually.

RECONCILIATION

Saturday after 4:30 PM Mass, or by appointment.

EUCHARIST FOR THE SICK AND HOMEBOUND

If there is anyone who would like to receive Eucharist at home, or if you know a friend, neighbor or family member who is homebound and would like a home visit to receive Eucharist, please call the Parish Ministry Center. One of our dedicated ministers will be glad to fulfill these requests.

SACRAMENT OF THE SICK

Please call the Parish Ministry Center Office to make arrangements for a priest to visit.
