14th Sunday in Ordinary Time

“Nevertheless, do not rejoice because the spirits are subject to you, but rejoice because your names are written in heaven.” - Lk 10:20

Pastor’s Letter

Insights from the 72

In today’s gospel, we hear about the 72 disciples Jesus sent out in pairs. He sent them to villages where he was going to travel so that the people would be ready to receive Jesus there. As we reflect on this passage, we gain a couple of good insights:

First, Jesus sends the 72 in pairs. He doesn’t send them alone, which is important. As much as our society loves rugged individualism, the reality is that God has wired us to be social beings. We do better when we work together, because in working together we’re able to build on each other’s strengths and compensate for each other’s weaknesses. We encourage one another when needed, and affirm one another in our successes. We see that in Jesus’ pep talk as he sends them out. Working together, they’ll overcome obstacles and celebrate successes.

The business world has adopted a lot of new management models that are centered on building good teams. Good marriages show us the power of teamwork and trust. But so do good friendships, good families, good ministry teams, good parish staffs, and even good schools, like all the good things happening at St. Hubert School. The work of God is done best in communities—whether in pairs, teams, parishes, or the universal Church.

A second insight is the need for perseverance. Merriam-Webster has a great definition: perseverance is “a continued effort to do or achieve something despite difficulties, failure or opposition.” Unfortunately, the good news that we’re trying to share—that a life with God begins now and never has to end—isn’t always news people want to hear.

One of the things the U.S. bishops talked about in their last meeting was the dilemma that the Church faces. The largest growing religion are the “nones” who don’t feel any sense of belonging, connection or relevance for religion in their lives, especially young people. It’s not unique to Catholicism, but organized religion in general. A lot of you know that from your own families.

We can take that kind of news and despair and give up, or we can find new ways to go from here. As a parish, let’s find the new opportunities! The good news Jesus wants us to share is that “the kingdom of God is at hand.” It’s here, now, and absolutely relevant. So, perhaps, we need to be creative and find ways so we never to give up. We take Jesus’ advice—keep moving, because when people do accept the good news, it leads to rejoicing.

Sent in Pairs!

We have a lot of different opportunities to share the gospel message through service and working on a team. As you work your way through the bulletin, look for opportunities with Religious Education, Marriage Ministry, Baptism Preparation, RCIA, and Joyful Again. There are different levels of commitment, but one thing’s for sure—when we have a lot of people involved, many hands make the difference.

Thanks to all of you who also signed up to be on our liturgical team, offering to serve at Masses as Eucharistic Ministers, Lectors, Mass Coordinators, Altar Servers and Cross Bearers. We’ll have the sign-up available one more week for those still interested.

May God bless you as we work together to share the good news!

Matthew 10:24-33

In this Sunday’s Gospel reading, Jesus tells his disciples to ask the “Master” (God the Father) of the “harvest” (conversion to Christ) to send out more “laborers” (evangelizers). And in the next breath, he tells them that they are the laborers and that they must get busy: “Go on your way,” he says.

When you think of evangelizers in the Catholic Church, who comes to mind first? Most of us think of priests, and we all know that we need more priests. New vocations in Western societies are still too few to compensate for the elderly ones who are retiring and dying.

Do you pray for an increase of vocations? Good, but that’s only part of what Jesus is asking us to do. "Go on your way," he says to all of us, "and use your gifts, your talents, and your skills to assist in the harvest."

Jesus has always been collaborative. The number of laborers for the mission of the Church will only be sufficient when we all join the effort – clergy, religious, and laity – working together with our separate and unique talents and skills, humbly assisting each other as members of the same team.

To reach this sufficiency, many of us have to overcome the "someone else will take care of it" attitude. And some have to overcome the desire for perfection, the "I can take care of it better myself" attitude, which robs others of the opportunity to serve.

Many of us need to overcome the fear of losing control, the "I must tell others how to do their job" attitude, which chases away some very talented laborers. Jesus said we should carry no supplies into ministry; in other words: We should accept whatever is offered us.

Our prayers for an increase of consecrated vocations are answered from within collaborative ministry. Clergy and religious who are good role models will attract new vocations, but the laity are called to serve God with the same zeal and holiness that we expect from priests, because out of families who serve come the holy priests and religious who serve.

Reflect & Discuss:

1. Which ministries in your parish are lacking sufficient laborers?

2. If doing the work of God’s kingdom, how can you use your talents to help? If you’re already serving enthusiastically, how can you encourage others to get involved?

3. Name some of the attitudes and obstacles that block the spirit of collaboration. How can these be overcome?

4. What will you do to improve the conditions of the mission field so that more people will get involved?
There is a tradition within Christianity, strong in Scripture and in the early church but now sadly in danger of dying, of welcoming the stranger.

In the early church there was a custom of welcoming the strangers with the belief that they, being foreigners, were specially privileged in their capacity to bring new promise and fresh revelation from God. It was with this is in mind that the author of the letter to the Hebrews wrote: “In welcoming strangers some of you have entertained angels without knowing it.”

Thus, every family was encouraged to set aside a room in its house to serve as a guest room, a room within which strangers could be welcomed and hospitality shown to them.

In Scripture, God’s promise, revelation, and new truth are most often brought not through what’s familiar or through those whom we know and who are like us, but through a stranger or an angel (an angel being even more foreign than a stranger). Thus, for instance, we see: Sarah and Abraham receive the promise of a son not from a family member, a neighbor or the local doctor, but from a stranger who has wandered in to their camp at night and to whom they have shown hospitality. Jacob meets God by wrestling with a stranger. Christ is visited in the crib not by the Jewish rulers but by the Magi, strange foreign kings. In the parable of the Good Samaritan, the wounded man is helped not by his own kinsfolk and those who were of his own religion, but by a Samaritan, a stranger. With the stranger lies surprise, new possibility, contact with that part of God and reality that we have never experienced before.

Why is that? Would it not be more logical, and indeed in line with the principles of the incarnation, that God should speak to us most deeply through that which is familiar to us?

The familiar is important. In the end, the real test of charity is our own family. Charity begins at home. However, precisely because it is home, it is not the place where we are often surprised. It is too familiar and because it is so familiar it is also not the place where we are likely to have our hearts stretched. God is not familiar. God is other. Accordingly, those who are other to us, strangers, are in a privileged position to reveal God to us.

As Parker Palmer puts it: “The role of the stranger in our lives is vital in the context of Christian faith, for the God of faith is one who continually speaks truth afresh, who continually makes all things new. God persistently challenges conventional truth and regularly upsets the world’s way of looking at things.

“It is no accident that this God is so often represented by the stranger, for the truth that God speaks in our lives is very strange indeed. Where the world sees impossibility, God sees potential. Where the world sees comfort, God sees idolatry. Where the world sees insecurity, God sees occasions for faith. Where the world sees death, God proclaims life.

“God uses the stranger to shake us from our conventional points of view, to remove the scales of worldly assumptions from our eyes. God is a stranger to us, and it is at the risk of missing God’s truth that we domesticate God, reduce God to the role of familiar friend.” (The Company of Strangers, p. 59).

There is a double challenge in that: The first has to do with racism, sexism, provincialism and sectarianism of all sorts. Invariably we are afraid of, and unwelcoming to, strangers—be they different vis-a-vis race, color, creed, gender or sexual orientation. We fear what is different from ourselves. We are comfortable only with our own.

However, within our circles much of the otherness of God cannot be revealed. Within familiar circles, good as these might be, there is too little in the way of promise, of newness. God can speak only a limited word here.

Nothing is impossible with God, but that is only true when we move outside of our own circles. Like Jacob, we must wrestle in the dust with the stranger. Who knows? The person who puts out your hip might well be God!

But we must welcome the stranger in another way too. In a world and in a church polarized by competing ideologies and torn by factionalism, we must welcome the stranger, show hospitality to, those who are different from ourselves: Conservatives must welcome liberals and liberals must welcome conservatives. We are strange to each other.

Feminists must welcome those who are afraid of them, and those who are afraid of feminism must welcome feminists. The same is true between pro-life and pro-choice. In welcoming the stranger, in showing real hospitality to those who seem foreign to us, whom we do not understand, we are given the opportunity to hear new promise, to hear a fuller revelation of God.

Interested in Becoming Catholic?
Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults (RCIA)

The RCIA is for adults who are interested in learning more about the Catholic Church that
- have never celebrated Baptism.
- have celebrated Baptism in another faith and are interested in the Catholic Church.
- are baptized Catholics who have not yet received Eucharist or Confirmation.
- are married to a Catholic and attend Mass, but just don’t know what the next step is to become one of the Catholic faithful.

Every year adults are welcomed into the Catholic Community through RCIA. It is a loving, learning process of conversion of the heart which brings one closer to Jesus Christ, who is our Lord and Savior.

This process will present the Catholic faith journey in an open and comfortable environment.

Participants in past RCIA classes have come from many different backgrounds, yet all have a common interest in learning about the Catholic Faith.

The RCIA is a tour of faith that includes
- the initial stages of asking and seeking;
- beginning involvement with Christian/Catholic people;
- hearing the Gospel proclaimed, faithful reflection, and prayer on the Word of God;
- study and discussion about the Catholic experience;
- doubts and hesitations;
- discernment of God’s call for them as individuals;
- steps of commitment, through the sacraments of initiation (Baptism, Confirmation and Eucharist).

BAPTISMAL MINISTERS

The Baptism team needs help!
We need extra hands to help with Sunday Baptisms. It will not take a lot of your time and I promise you will find it rewarding.

Time/Talent Needs:
Baptismal Ministers provide a climate of hospitality for the parents of the babies coming for baptism, as well as their relatives and friends. These ministers also assist the priest or deacon as necessary.

Qualifications:
A sense of hospitality. An ability to make others feel comfortable and welcome. A love for children. Training will be provided on the baptismal ritual and theology. Also, there will be an opportunity to observe one Sunday afternoon baptism.

Level of Commitment:
Baptismal Ministers are scheduled in teams of 2 based on their availability. Baptisms take place every other Sunday afternoon at 1:30 PM, except during the Lenten season. This amounts to attending a baptism once every six weeks.

Children's Ministry of Initiation (CMI) meets on Sunday mornings. It is a two-year sacramental process, which is an adaptation of the Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults for children under the age of 18. It is open to both the un-baptized and to those who were baptized in the Catholic Church, but have missed the study and sacramental preparation offered in early grade school. It is also open to those baptized in other traditions. Regular attendance of both the child and at least one parent is expected. Volunteers Needed!
This year, St. Hubert has the privilege of hosting a Joyful Again Retreat the weekend of October 12-13. Joyful Again is a unique program that has been designed to help widowed individuals, with God’s help, to move through bereavement toward spiritual and emotional wholeness.

It will take many hands to ensure the success of this retreat. Here are some of the areas where volunteers are needed:

1. Meals -- prep, serve and clean up
2. Bakers needed for desserts
3. Unloading JA supply bins from vehicle
4. Registration/meeting room set up
5. Audio/Visual equipment assistance
6. Final clean-up
7. Loading JA supply bins into vehicle

To register for Baptism, stop in or call the Parish Office. Parents must attend a Baptismal Preparation Meeting, which is held on the last Tuesday of each month at 7:30 PM. You may attend this parent meeting either before or after the baby is born.
Baptisms take place on the 2nd and 4th Sundays of the month at 1:30 PM or at Mass by arrangement. You will confirm the date for Baptism by attending the Baptism Preparation Meeting.

MARRIAGES
Please do not reserve your banquet hall before confirming the date with the church. Set your date by calling the Parish Office as early as possible as you plan your wedding—at least 6 months before the wedding. Weddings take place on Saturdays at 2:00 PM. Weekdays and Sundays must be arranged individually.

RECONCILIATION
Saturday after 4:30 PM Mass, or by appointment.

EUCARIST FOR THE SICK AND HOMEBOUND
If there is anyone who would like to receive Eucharist at home, or if you know a friend, neighbor or family member who is homebound and would like a home visit to receive Eucharist, please call the Parish Ministry Center. One of our dedicated ministers will be glad to fulfill these requests.

SACRAMENT OF THE SICK
Please call the Parish Ministry Center Office to make arrangements for a priest to visit.
