19th SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

“Blessed are those servants whom the master finds vigilant on his arrival. Amen, I say to you, he will gird himself, have them recline at table, and proceed to wait on them.” - Lk 12:37

AUGUST 11, 2019
What is Hoped for & Unseen

Today’s second reading from the letter to the Hebrews begins with this line: “Faith is the realization of what is hoped for and evidence of things not seen” (Hebrews 11:1).

In the wake of all that’s happened in the last two weeks—the senseless violence that once again claimed innocent life and attacks hope—this scripture passage hits the heart and soul. It comes at a time when we need something to hold onto: a message from God. In the midst of tragedies and terror, as Christians with faith, we don’t give up on hope—especially hope in humanity and the human spirit, which is meant to thrive and live from conception to natural death here on earth and into a life with God that’s meant to last forever.

As Christians, what we hope for—and need to pray for and work toward—is a change of heart, within society and how we, as people, see things. It seems to be one of the messages in the responses to the tragedies. There’s a call for action. We’re seeking a response to make something unseen, seen—a real desire to respect human life, protect it, and to find ways to prevent the terror that is so unpredictable. This includes a change of heart in how we see and interact one another.

Our hope is Jesus’: that human beings everywhere will see one another the way God sees us—not as competitors or obstacles or enemies to get rid of—but as people anchored in the basic desire to help one another get through life. We pray for it. And, we find hope in those who choose to help others, those who want to overcome differences to work together to find solutions that respect common decency. As Catholics, we value communion, not division, because that’s what Jesus showed us is fundamental to human life.

Some Good News: A 2020 Challenge!

Last year at this time we announced plans to proceed with our 2020 Vision Capital Campaign. Thanks to the generosity of so many, we are pleased to report, that almost one year later, we’re within 1% to achieving the goal!

And just this week, in an incredible act of hope and faith in our parish, a parishioner has created an exciting matching gift opportunity. We’re calling it our “2020 Challenge” because it’s only available through August 31st. But it really is an incredible gift of hope from a family who finds strength in their parish and in the good things we’re trying to do for others. See page 7 for the details.

In today’s gospel, Jesus is talking with his disciples, which today is all of us. He tells us that God our Father is “pleased to give you the kingdom” (Luke 12:31), and the kingdom is to be treasured. It should be where our heart is.

And I find that to be phenomenal: that God is trusting us to use our human freedom to make his kingdom a reality. The kingdom that Jesus introduces is very different from the kingdoms that occupy earth. The kingdom that Jesus helps us see focuses us on what we, as people, hold in common: God. And God is love. (See 1 John).

Paul once said, “hope does not disappoint us, because God’s love has been poured into our hearts through the Holy Spirit that has been given to us” (Romans 5:5). So, maybe what’s unseen right now, can be seen through us: a desire to work for the common good, to seek justice, to proliferate kindness in our world, and to make God’s kingdom, not a dream, but a way of life. Jesus inspires us to try.

Let us continue to pray for one another and to keep those we love close.

We’re told in Luke 12:32-48 that God is "pleased" to give us his kingdom, which includes eternal life in heaven as well as all the benefits of his love and goodness here on earth.

God does not withhold anything good from us. But do we avail ourselves of all he offers?

Jesus explains: If you value earthly treasures more than you treasure opportunities to share God’s love and blessings with others, your hands are full of nothing that will last. If your "money bags" are filled with worldly goals that push God out, or selfish plans that push others out, or ungodly relationships that push holiness out from your life, there isn’t much room for the wondrous and eternal gifts of God. “For where your treasure is, there also will your heart be.”

Anything not of God is detrimental to us and, in the end, pointless, because it does not unite us to God and we cannot take it to heaven. We need to trade it in for the inexhaustible treasures that come from God.

Jesus isn’t saying that we have to literally sell all of our worldly possessions in order to make room for divine treasures. What matters is our motive for having these things. Are they used for serving the kingdom of God or are they serving only earthly, temporary, selfish purposes?

Whatever enhances our union with God — and only this — is a treasure that we’ll enjoy for all of eternity.

Jesus warns us not to waste time being lazy about purging our lives of earthly treasures. We don’t know when the Master will come to take us to the heavenly banquet of eternal union with God. Will we be ready? Not if we’re more interested in feeding our worldly desires.

This is why God, in his great mercy, provides Purgatory. Separation from earthly treasures (the purging) is painful when we prefer them over heavenly goods; Jesus describes this as the "beatings" that the Master’s servants get. Why wait for that? Now is the time to prefer only the kingdom of God and build up our cache of gifts that no thief can reach or moth destroy.

Reflect & Discuss:

1. If you knew you were going to die tomorrow, what would you do today to prepare?

2. What attitudes, what goals, and what plans do you have that don’t assist the kingdom of God? What habits or addictions? Unloving behaviors? Unforgiveness and unresolved conflicts?

3. Describe an earthly attachment you used to have and explain how God helped you let go of it. What divine treasure did you gain?

“Have you ever done something simply on principle, because it was the right thing to do, knowing that you couldn’t explain it to anyone, without there even being a good feeling attached to your act?”

Karl Rahner wrote that and then added: “If you have done this, you have experienced God, perhaps without knowing it.”

Jesus would agree, so much so that he makes this both the central tenet of religion and the overriding criterion for salvation.

We see this explicitly in the famous text in the gospels where Jesus tells us that whatsoever you do to the poor here on earth you do to him. For Jesus, to give something to a poor person is to give something to God, and to neglect a poor person is to neglect God.

There’s an important background to this teaching. They had been asking Jesus: “What will be the test? What will be the ultimate criterion for judgment as to whether or not someone enters into the kingdom of heaven or not? His answer surprised them. They had expected that the final judgment would revolve around issues of religious belonging, religious practice, correct observance, and moral codes. Instead they got this answer: “When the Son of Man comes in his glory and all the angels with him, he will sit on his throne in heavenly glory. All the nations will be gathered before him, and he will separate the people one from another as a shepherd separates the sheep from the goats. He will put the sheep on his right and the goats on his left.”

And what, according to Jesus, will be the basis for the separation? Only this: Did you feed the hungry? Give drink to the thirsty? Invite in the stranger? Clothe the naked? Visit the sick and imprisoned? Because when you do these things to the hungry, to the thirsty, to strangers, to the sick, and to the imprisoned, you do them to God, and vice versa.

And immediately there was confusion among those who heard these words. Both those who did what was asked and those who didn’t were equally befuddled and lodged the same protest: When? When did we see you hungry? When did we see you thirsty? When did we see you naked, or a stranger, or sick, or in prison and serve you or not serve you? When did we see you, God, and do this to you?”

Both are caught off guard and both ask seemingly the same question, but their protests are in fact very different: The first group, those who had measured up, are pleasantly surprised. What they say to Jesus is essentially this: “We didn’t know it was you! We were just doing what was right!” And Jesus answers: “It doesn’t matter! In serving them, you were meeting me!”

The second group, those who hadn’t measured up, is rudely shocked. Their protest, in effect, is this: “If we had only known! If we had known that it was you inside the poor we would have responded. We just didn’t know!” And Jesus answers: “It doesn’t matter! In not serving them, you were avoiding me!”

What’s the lesson? The more obvious one of course is the challenge that is already contained in the famous mantra of the prophets who had stated unequivocally that the quality of our faith will be judged by the quality of justice in the land and that the quality of justice will be judged by how the most vulnerable groups in society (widows, orphans, and strangers) fare while we are alive. The Jewish prophets had already taught us that serving the poor is a non-negotiable, integral part of religion, that nobody gets to heaven without a letter of reference from the poor. But Jesus adds something: God doesn’t just have a preferential option for the poor, God is inside the poor.

But there’s another lesson too, subtle but important: In this gospel story, neither those who served God in the poor nor those who didn’t serve God in poor knew what they were doing.

The first group, who did respond, did so simply because it was the right thing to do. They didn’t know that God was hidden inside the poor. The second group, who didn’t respond, didn’t reach out because they didn’t realize that God was inside the poor. Neither knew that God was there and that is the lesson:

A mature disciple doesn’t calculate or make distinctions as to whether God is inside of a certain situation or not, whether a person seems worth it or not, whether a person is a Christian or not, or whether a person appears to be a good person or not, before reaching out in service. A mature disciple serves whoever is in need, independent of those considerations.

The last temptation that is the greatest treason is to do the right thing for the wrong reason. T.S. Eliot said that. Jesus would add that doing the right thing is reason enough.

Statement of Cardinal Blase J. Cupich, Archbishop of Chicago, on this weekend’s tragedies

Aug 4, 2019

Today the Archdiocese of Chicago mourns and prays for the victims of yesterday’s gun massacres in El Paso and Dayton. We stand with their loved ones demanding an end to this deadly status quo.

We reject the idea that living in America means risking being gunned down by a killer wielding an assault weapon designed for mass killing.

We refuse to become inured to the horrible idea that families must calculate the risk of violent death when considering how to spend a summer weekend.

We cannot tolerate a society in which parents have to wonder whether the child they dropped off in the morning will become another statistic or if their own lives will end that day in their place of work.

Mass shootings are not an inevitability. All human beings have the right to live without violence. To behave otherwise is to advance a lie. Stopping this lie begins with holding accountable our elected officials who have done nothing to address gun violence. Inaction only cements the idea that these tragedies are acceptable and that the weapons that enable them are simply common features of American life today.

But we also need to hold accountable those in society, including some leaders, who fuel these violent acts by dividing humanity through hateful rhetoric. This must stop — along with the silence of our elected officials who have failed to condemn hate speech, for they are the very ones who have sworn to keep our nation safe.

We know that together we can do something to stem the flow of blood. And we call on our elected officials to show us that they know it too.

President of United States Conference of Catholic Bishops and Domestic Justice Chairman issued a Statement Following Shooting in El Paso

August 3, 2019

WASHINGTON— Cardinal Daniel DiNardo, President of the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops (USCCB), and Bishop Frank J. Dewane of Venice, Florida, Chairman of the USCCB’s Committee on Domestic Justice and Human Development, issued the following statement in response to the tragic shooting at the Cielo Vista Mall in El Paso, Texas.

The full statement follows:

“This Saturday, less than week after the horrific instances of gun violence in California, yet another terrible, senseless and inhumane shooting took place, this time at a shopping mall in El Paso, Texas.

Something remains fundamentally evil in our society when locations where people congregate to engage in the everyday activities of life can, without warning, become scenes of violence and contempt for human life. The plague that gun violence has become continues unchecked and spreads across our country.

Things must change. Once again, we call for effective legislation that addresses why these unimaginable and repeated occurrences of murderous gun violence continue to take place in our communities. As people of faith, we continue to pray for all the victims, and for healing in all these stricken communities. But action is also needed to end these abhorrent acts.”
CAMPAIGN NEWS:
Introducing the 2020 Challenge!

PREPARING FOR THE 2020s
As we look forward to the 2020s, we launched our 2020 Vision Capital Campaign last September to tackle some needed projects.

MAIN GOALS
We are raising funds over five years through a pledging and gift giving process. We are working to complete four main projects:

1. Install a fire prevention sprinkling system in the school building.
2. Build a 1:1 School Technology Program. –Goal Achieved!
3. Support the Archdiocese of Chicago's campaign to support Catholic education, called “To Teach Who Christ Is”, and
4. Improve the functionality of our most well-used campus spaces. –Goal Underway!

We need sponsor companions for the RCIA

Can you help?
Do you desire to share your Catholic faith?
Do you feel called to walk with people on their spiritual journey?

In the Catholic Church, accompanying someone on their journey of initiation is like the birthing of a child. As they learn what it means to be Catholic and discover the rich tradition of our Church, they awaken to a new way of living life. Your role is to be a companion; your task is to walk with them, guiding them through the processes of the Church toward full initiation. In the past, many people who have served as mentors have discovered this ministry to be a very powerful experience of faith, and of the Church as community. May your experience as a mentor be rewarding and a renewal of your faith!

Keys to success…Offer a Welcoming Spirit, Share Catholic Traditions, Listen, Share Life and Share Faith, Introduce them to Ministry, Offer friendship, and Witness.

If you are interested in more information or in becoming a sponsor companion, please call Marie Staffa at 847-885-7700, ext. 124 or email her at mstaffa@sainthubert.org.

Thank you Annie!

Every year, following Confirmation, a small group of High School students return in the Fall to help with the Religious Education Program. The majority of them stay involved as assistant teachers for four years before leaving for college. Annie Walinder is a notable example; for the last four years she has been helping with the Preschool Program on Saturday morning and the Confirmation Program on Sunday evening. Quite a commitment, even more so when you consider she lives in Bartlett. She has been very committed to the program and to the teachers and children with whom she has worked. Now Annie is set to begin a new chapter in her life at Western Michigan University, where she will study Engineering Design Technology. We will miss her but appreciate that someone with her qualities will do well at college and in life.

People journeying through the RCIA process need community support to help them grow in faith. The RCIA team helps to guide, support and instruct those discerning to become members of our Catholic community. Team members share their faith with inquiring adults, who are seeking more information about the Catholic Church—many of whom seek to celebrate one or more of the Sacraments of Initiation: Baptism, Eucharist and Confirmation.

Parishioners who would like to be a member of the RCIA team are asked to contact Marie Staffa at 847-885-7700, ext. 124 or mstaffa@sainthubert.org.

Please keep all those involved in the RCIA process in your prayers.

One Hour A Week

Is all it takes to …

Help an older adult remain independent in their own home.

Last year Kenneth Young Center Volunteers delivered 26,000 meals to at-risk, home-bound Older Adults in the Northwest Suburbs. All it takes is one hour a week (11 am to 12 pm) to bring friendship and nutritious meals to them.

We REALLY NEED YOU NOW!

Take a moment and reflect about making an important difference in someone’s life...

SACRAMENTAL LIFE

Call the Parish Office 847-885-7700 for further questions or to make arrangements.

BAPTISMS

To register for Baptism, stop in or call the Parish Office. Parents must attend a Baptismal Preparation Meeting, which is held on the last Tuesday of each month at 7:30 PM. You may attend this parent meeting either before or after the baby is born.

Baptisms take place on the 2nd and 4th Sundays of the month at 1:30 PM or at Mass by arrangement. You will confirm the date for Baptism by attending the Baptism Preparation Meeting.

MARRIAGES

Please do not reserve your banquet hall before confirming the date with the church. Set your date by calling the Parish Office as early as possible as you plan your wedding—at least 6 months before the wedding. Weddings take place on Saturdays at 2:00 PM. Weekdays and Sundays must be arranged individually.

RECONCILIATION

Saturday after 4:30 PM Mass, or by appointment.

EUCHARIST FOR THE SICK AND HOMEBOUND

If there is anyone who would like to receive Eucharist at home, or if you know a friend, neighbor or family member who is homebound and would like a home visit to receive Eucharist, please call the Parish Ministry Center. One of our dedicated ministers will be glad to fulfill these requests.

SACRAMENT OF THE SICK

Please call the Parish Ministry Center Office to make arrangements for a priest to visit.
