[Jesus] answered them, “Strive to enter through the narrow gate for many, I tell you, will attempt to enter but will not be strong enough.” - Lk 13:24
Being an Apprentice

In the last few weeks, our scripture readings have had to do with the demands and challenges of following Jesus Christ. And this Sunday is no different. The readings today talk about the need for discipline. Discipline involves self-control and implies a rigorous training. It’s about holding true to a code of conduct and behavior that helps to define us.

“Discipline” comes from the Latin word discipulus, which is also where we get our word “pupil.” And so, it’s not a far stretch to see that the word “disciple” also comes from this root word. Being a disciple is part of our identity as Catholics who follow Jesus Christ.

A disciple of Jesus Christ is a learner; someone open to instruction and applying it in life. It can also have the nuance of being an apprentice. Apprentices learn through practical experience, like those who are learning a skill or a trade. In today’s world, we would also call it an internship, like a future doctor learning how to practice medicine.

In the case of Jesus, he called disciples to live and learn about God by being with him, living with him, watching him, and seeing how he went about doing God’s work in the world. With that experience, Jesus would send them (like he sends us) into the world to bring God into the lives of others.

In the gospel of John, when Andrew and John approach Jesus wanting to follow him, Jesus asks them, “what are you looking for?” Interestingly, they answer him with a question: “Rabbi [i.e., teacher] where are you staying?” In order to know Jesus and learn from him, they needed to stay with him.

As Catholics, we live staying with Christ, which is what draws us to Mass every week. In the Mass, we learn about being a disciple. But we not only simply learn from the master teacher, we also take him into our lives, so His very being is incorporated into who we are. In other words, we have communion with the One we stay with.

And it forms us into the people we are. Over time, the discipline of practicing our faith becomes evident in the way we live—our conduct, the way we treat others, the way we see the human person, and the realization that all people—no matter who they are—hold God in common, the One who gives us life and meaning.

In the gospel, Jesus says a startling thing: just because someone says they know Jesus, doesn’t mean Jesus knows them. Jesus knows his true disciples—those who have the discipline to stay with him. To stay with him is to know him and be like him. I’m grateful to be walking this journey with all of you that takes us into the heart of Christ.

This Sunday’s scripture readings are signposts on the road to the narrow gate into heaven. Isaiah says that God knows our works and our thoughts. To help us sanctify our works and purify our thoughts, so that we can see the fullness of the glory of God when we die, he sets a sign among us. It is Jesus. His life — how he lived and how he died — are a sign of how to enter heaven.

He says in the Gospel reading that many will attempt to enter salvation who are not strong enough. Strong enough for what?

Throughout the Gospel, Jesus gives us the answer to that: We must be perfect in love. That does not mean that mistakes and other imperfections will lock us out of heaven. The key that opens the gate to heaven is love, and if we throw love away, we throw that key away.

It's very unlikely, however, that we will ever completely throw love away, even though we sin. But how can we be perfect in love? Perfect love means we love fully. Always. Unconditionally. Sacrificially. Radically.

To be perfect in love, we need to have the Lord's own love. We need Jesus to dwell in us and reach others through us. On our own, we cannot love fully, but when we rely on God to give us his love for others, we have perfect love. To rely on God's love and feel confident in it, we have to get rid of anything that blocks his love: unforgiveness, vengeful attitudes, lingering resentments and cynicism, and the apathetic ignoring of the needs of others.

The reading from Hebrews tells us not to disdain the discipline of the Lord. No matter what causes our hardships and trials or who's to blame, God uses them to perfect us in love. If we recognize these as opportunities to grow in love — if we seek God in them and let him stretch our ability to love — we become more like Jesus. We make the path toward heaven straight, and what is lame and disjointed in our spirituality is healed.

Reflect & Discuss:

1. Who in your life is difficult to love? (Don't forget to consider the unloving behaviors you have toward yourself.)

2. How might God be using these hard-to-love people to strengthen your ability to love more perfectly?

3. People who are difficult to love are saint-makers, because they give us opportunities to identify and overcome (with God's help of course) the imperfections in our ability to love. What happens if we give God permission to change us when we wish someone else would change? How is this a key to heaven?

St. Hubert 4
Hoffman Estates
“I am a citizen, not of Athens or Greece, but of the world.” Socrates wrote those words more than twenty-four hundred years ago. Today more than ever these are words which we would need to appropriate because, more and more, our world and we ourselves are sinking into some unhealthy forms of tribalism where we are concerned primarily with taking care of our own.

We see this everywhere today. We tend to think that this lives only in circles of extremism, but it is being advocated with an ever-intensifying moral fervor in virtually every place in the world. It sounds like this: America first! England first! My state first! My country first! My church first! My family first! Me first! More and more, we are making ourselves the priority and defining ourselves in ways that are not just against the Gospel but are also making us meaner in spirit and more miserly of heart. What’s to be said about this?

First of all, it’s against the Gospel, against most everything Jesus taught. If the Gospels are clear on anything, they are clear that all persons in this word are equal in the sight of God, that all persons in this world are our brothers and sisters, that we are asked to share the goods of this world fairly with everyone, especially the poor, and, most importantly, that we are not to put ourselves first, but are always to consider the needs of others before our own. All slogans that somehow put “me”, “us” “my own”, “my group”, “my country” first, deny this. Moreover, this doesn’t just apply at the micro-level, where we graciously step back in politeness to let someone else enter the room before us, it applies, and especially so, to us as whole nations. For us, as nations, there is a certain immorality and immaturity in thinking first of all, and primarily, of our own interests, as opposed to thinking as citizens of the world, concerned for everyone’s good.

And the truth of this is found not just in Jesus and the Gospels, but also in what’s highest and best in us. The very definition of being big-hearted is predicated on precisely rising above self-interest and being willing to sacrifice our own interests for the good of others and the good of the larger community. The same is true for being big-minded. We are big-minded exactly to the extent that we are sensitive to the wider picture and can integrate into our thinking the needs, wounds, and ideologies of everyone, not just those of their own kind. That’s what it means to understand rather than simply be intelligent.

When we are petty we cannot understand beyond our own needs, our own wounds, and our own ideologies. We know this too from experience. On our best days our hearts and minds are more open, more willing to embrace widely, more willing to accept differences, and more willing to sacrifice self-interest for the good of others. On our best days we are gracious, big-hearted, and understanding, and, on those days, it’s unthinkable for us to say: Me first! We only put ourselves first and let our concerns trump our own goodness of heart on days when our frustrations, wounds, tiredness, and ideological infections overwhelm us. And even when we do revert to pettiness, part of us knows that this isn’t us at our best, but that we are more than what our actions betray at that moment. Below our wounds and ideological sicknesses, we remain riveted to the truth that we are, first, citizens of the world. A healthy heart still beats below our wounded, infected one.

Sadly almost everything in our world today tempts us away for this. We are adult children of Rene Descartes, who helped shape the modern mind with his famous dictum: “I think, therefore, I am!” Our own headaches and heartaches are what’s most real to us and we accord reality and value to others primarily in relationship to our own subjectivity. That’s why we can so easily say: “Me first! My country first! My heartaches first!”

But there can be no peace, no world community, no real brother and sisterhood, and no real church community, as long as we do not define ourselves as, first, citizens of the world and only second as members of our own tribe.

Admittedly, we need to take care of our own families, our own countries, and our own selves. Justice asks that we also treat ourselves fairly. But, ultimately, the tension here is a false one, that is, the needs of others and our own needs are not in competition. Athens and the world are of one piece. We best serve our own when we serve others. We are most fair to ourselves when we are fair to others. Only by being good citizens of the world are we good citizens in our own countries.

Putting ourselves first goes against the Gospel. It’s also poor strategy: Jesus tells us that, in the end, the first will be last.

RCIA—AN INVITATION TO COME AND SEE!

RCIA stands for Rite of Christian Initiation for Adults. It is an opportunity for those who have never been baptized, or baptized with little or no affiliation or religious training in the Catholic religion, to learn and ask questions about the Catholic faith. This includes those who may have been baptized Catholic, but have not yet received their First Communion or Confirmation. Sometimes after the information meetings, prayer and reflection, participants choose to begin the process of becoming Catholic or coming into full Communion. It is important to note, however, that no commitment is expected of participants at this time.

Call Marie Staffa at 847-885-7700, ext. 124 or email her at mstaffa@sainthubert.org.

Please note, if you are an adult whose only need of completing your Initiation is through the Sacrament of Confirmation, or if you are fully initiated but have been away from the Church and are interested in returning, know that we have separate ministries to welcome you into, or back to, the fullness of our Church.

CHILDREN’S MINISTRY OF INITIATION (CMI)

MAKE SOME NEW CONNECTIONS IN YOUR FAMILY’S LIFE

Do you have an older child who has not been baptized?
Do you have a son or daughter who is past the age of seven or eight who has not received First Communion?

Children’s Ministry of Initiation (CMI) is modeled after the Rite of Christian Initiation for Adults (RCIA). CMI at St. Hubert is designed for children who are un-baptized or un-catechized. Together with their parents, children attend classes. CMI takes the children through a four step process beginning with the Inquiry period, where the families get to know one another and share their experiences of God and Church. Next is the Catechumenate period, where the families continue to learn about the Catholic Church and its beliefs. The Purification & Enlightenment period follows. This is a time that coincides with Lent, during which prayer and reflection bring about a sense of need for conversion, culminating with the reception of the appropriate Sacraments of Initiation at the Easter Vigil. For more information, contact Marie Staffa at 847-885-7700, ext. 124 or mstaffa@sainthubert.org.

Classes begin on October 20, 2019.

When Are Sponsors Needed?
St. Hubert Church asks sponsors to attend right from the start of RCIA. In the early sessions, sponsors help to provide a welcoming atmosphere to the newcomers. Many recent RCIA participants say that friendly hospitality of the St Hubert community was an important factor in their decision to join the Church. After about 8 weeks, RCIA participants who wish to seriously explore membership in the Catholic faith are paired with a parish sponsor. A candidate may ask you to serve as his/her sponsor or the RCIA team might match you with a candidate or catechumen who needs a sponsor.

If you are interested in more information or in becoming a sponsor companion, please contact Marie Staffa at 847-885-7700, ext. 124 or her at mstaffa@sainthubert.org

The RCIA Team needs to grow. Can you help? We need you!
The RCIA team is a group of committed Catholics who meet with inquirers on a regular basis. They serve as facilitators of the pre-catechumenate, the dismissal catechesis, and have some responsibility for the extended catechesis during the catechumenate period. They serve as ministers of hospitality and help to deepen the inquirers connection with the parish community. Practicing Catholics are urged to prayerfully consider this opportunity.

Parishioners who would like to be a member of the RCIA team are asked to contact Marie Staffa at 847-885-7700, ext. 124 or mstaffa@sainthubert.org.

A Prayer in Solidarity

Good Shepherd,

Many in our world walk through a darkness unimaginable, a valley of exploitation and danger assaulting their human dignity. As you have walked with me through dark shadows, give me the courage to walk with them in solidarity.

With those trafficked for sexual exploitation, with those children conscripted into a conflict not of their making, with those trafficked for forced labor, with those who have been separated in transit from their families, let me walk in solidarity with them.

And with refugees, migrants and trafficking victims moving through this world seeking wholeness, let me walk in solidarity with them.

In the midst of fear and uncertainty, you are there with us. We don’t walk alone, but within the compassion you have for the human race. In walking with them, we are walking with you. In your love, help us on the journey.

Amen.

(The Ministry Station is the large brown cabinet by the main entrance on the South side of the church. There are slots on the left side of the station, and the receptacle for Rosary drop off is marked.) Patrick suggests putting any rosary to be repaired in an envelope with your name and phone number on it for return purposes. When repaired, we will call you to let you know you can pick it up.

Please donate any unused, broken rosaries so that their parts can be used to repair member's rosaries.

In addition to repairing rosaries, Patrick makes rosaries for the missions, and he also accepts any rosaries people wish to donate. Those can also be dropped off in the narthex in the receptacle marked “Rosaries.”

BAPTISMS

To register for Baptism, stop in or call the Parish Office. Parents must attend a Baptismal Preparation Meeting, which is held on the last Tuesday of each month at 7:30 PM. You may attend this parent meeting either before or after the baby is born.

Baptisms take place on the 2nd and 4th Sundays of the month at 1:30 PM or by arrangement. You will confirm the date for Baptism by attending the Baptism Preparation Meeting.

MARRIAGES

Please do not reserve your banquet hall before confirming the date with the church. Set your date by calling the Parish Office as early as possible as you plan your wedding—at least 6 months before the wedding. Weddings take place on Saturdays at 2:00 PM. Weekdays and Sundays must be arranged individually.

RECONCILIATION

Saturday after 4:30 PM Mass, or by appointment.

EUCHARIST FOR THE SICK AND HOMEBOUND

If there is anyone who would like to receive Eucharist at home, or if you know a friend, neighbor or family member who is homebound and would like a home visit to receive Eucharist, please call the Parish Ministry Center. One of our dedicated ministers will be glad to fulfill these requests.

SACRAMENT OF THE SICK

Please call the Parish Ministry Center Office to make arrangements for a priest to visit.
