31st Sunday in Ordinary Time

November 3, 2019
Up a Tree

In today’s gospel, we hear the passage about Zacchaeus. He’s the tax collector who’s inspired to climb a sycamore tree in order to see Jesus pass through town. The problem was that he was short—so it was either climb the tree or not see Jesus at all.

But the intriguing thing isn’t so much what got him up the tree—even curiosity can do that. It’s what got him down the tree. What moved him, wasn’t a “what” but a “who”: Jesus Christ. Jesus captured his attention, not only by noticing him in the first place, but knowing his name, and then very boldly inviting himself over to Zacchaeus’ home for dinner.

In a society that dismissed the tax collector for their profession—they not only were working for the Roman government, but also extorting money from others—Jesus’ desire to spend time with him turned heads. But we see the effect of Jesus’ encounter with Zacchaeus. It moved him to change his life—to take responsibility for his past and move ahead in a different direction.

It’s a powerful passage, because it turns our heads and hearts toward Christ, too. We realize Jesus understands our sinfulness, but he also sees our potential. And so, he doesn’t overlook us when others may look the other way. Our past doesn’t have to define our future. Jesus is ready to spend time with those who are intrigued enough to learn more about him and to be open to seeing him move within the world we live. It leads to a new way of being.

Odds & Ends

As we head into November, and our minds and hearts turn toward gratitude for all God’s gifts, here are some great opportunities for giving and for spiritual nourishment:

Used BackPack Drive: One of our teens who attends Bartlett High School is involved in a worthwhile cause. His Asian club is collecting used backpacks and bags to send to the youth in Cambodia who are disadvantaged and could really use them. So, if you have an old backpack lying in a closet, not being used, and would like to donate it, we’ll have a drop-box in the Narthex all next weekend. We’re grateful to Tim who came to us with a meaningful project. He knows his parish has a heart for those in need. See page 7 for more information.

Thanksgiving Food Drive: As in years past, we’ll host a food drive to help feed families in need in both our sharing parish, St. Aloysius, and for those we’re working with here in Hoffman Estates through our Community Life program. The drive will take place the weekend before Thanksgiving. Look for information in upcoming bulletins about how you can help.

Wayne Messmer is Saint Peter Damien: On Friday, November 22, Wayne Messmer will present his one-man show about the life and ministry of Peter Damien and his work with the lepers in Molokai. The performance is here at St. Hubert. See page 11 for more information on how to order tickets.

Get Ready to Bake! Fr. Dominic Garramone, OSB, a popular speaker, is coming to St. Hubert on Saturday morning, November 23. This free event is titled “Baking Your Way through the Holidays”. He’ll provide nourishment, not only for the stomach, but the heart and soul. We hope you’ll be able to experience this opportunity provided by our CAFÉ ministry.

Goodness is all around us when we take the time to notice. May God bless you

--Fr. Mike

Notice the determination of Zacchaeus in this Sunday's Gospel reading. His view of Jesus was obstructed, but that didn’t stop him from seeing Jesus. He had an obstacle (the crowd) and a handicap (his short stature), but he refused to allow any of this to prevent him from reaching his goal of getting a clear view of Jesus.

In fact, Zacchaeus was so eager to experience Jesus that he did something drastic: He climbed a tree! Maybe he felt embarrassed hanging onto a tree limb; maybe onlookers thought he was odd. Maybe someone tried to talk him down. Maybe the tree was rough and tore his clothes and scratched his skin. None of that stopped him.

We all have handicaps – prejudices, misconceptions, bad training, spiritual laziness, fears and doubts, and so on – which obstruct our view of Jesus. And we all have short stature: we are much smaller than God and cannot see the goodness that he sees in and beyond our hardships. In our short-sightedness, we conclude that Jesus has abandoned us, and we feel so very alone.

Instead, we should be like Zacchaeus. In our desire to see Jesus fully, as he really is, we should do everything possible to find a way around all obstacles and overcome all spiritual handicaps.

Notice that once Zacchaeus climbed the tree, Jesus zeroed in on him and gave him personal attention and affirmation. How did Zacchaeus respond? He quickly descended from the tree and welcomed Jesus with delight. He had so much enthusiasm that he wanted to quadruple the penance for his sins!

Do you see Jesus in the Eucharist at Mass? If Zacchaeus' reaction to Christ's presence isn’t our reaction, it means our view is still partly obstructed. We need to climb higher.

Reflect & Discuss:

1. What are you "short" on? What in your faith life is too small? What is crowding your life and obstructing an enthusiastic relationship with Jesus? And how can you overcome this handicap so that you can see Jesus and recognize his nearness and hear his affirmation?

2. Name some signs of spiritual determination that you've seen in others.

3. Why are we able to see Jesus better when we pray more fervently, sing in Mass more enthusiastically, serve others more eagerly, immerse ourselves in scripture more hungrily, care about others more cheerfully, or donate our treasures more generously?
Today, for a number of reasons, we struggle to be generous and prodigal with God’s mercy.

As the number of people who attend church services continues to decline, the temptation among many of our church leaders and ministers is to see this more as a tragedy than as a tragedy and to respond by making God’s mercy less, rather than more, accessible. For example, a seminary professor whom I know shares that, after forty years of teaching a course designed to prepare seminarians to administer the sacrament of penance, today sometimes the first question that the seminarians ask is: “When can I refuse absolution?” In effect, how scrupulous must I be in dispensing God’s mercy?

To their credit, their motivation is mostly sincere, however misguided. They sincerely fear playing fast and loose with God’s grace, fearing that they might end up dispensing cheap grace.

Partly that’s a valid motive. Fear of playing fast and loose with God’s grace, coupled with concerns for truth, orthodoxy, proper public form, and fear of scandal have their own legitimacy. Mercy needs always to be tempered by truth. But sometimes the motives driving our hesitancy are less noble and our anxiety about handing out cheap grace arises more out of timidity, fear, legalism, and our desire, however unconscious, for power.

But even when mercy is withheld for the nobler of those reasons, we’re still misguided, bad shepherds, out of tune with the God whom Jesus proclaimed. God’s mercy, as Jesus revealed it, embraces indiscriminately, the bad and the good, the undeserving and the deserving, the uninitiated and the initiated. One of the truly startling insights that Jesus gave us is that the mercy of God, like the light and warmth of the sun, cannot not go out to everyone. Consequently it’s always free, undeserved, unconditioned, universal in embrace, and has a reach beyond all religion, custom, rubric, political correctness, mandatory program, ideology, and even sin itself.

For our part then, especially those of us who are parents, ministers, teachers, catechists, and elders, we must risk proclaiming the prodigal character of God’s mercy. We must not spend God’s mercy, as if it were ours to spend; dole out God’s forgiveness, as if it were a limited commodity; put conditions on God’s love, as if God were a petty tyrant or a political ideology; or cut off access to God, as if we were the keeper of the heavenly gates. We aren’t. If we tie God’s mercy to our own timidity and fear, we limit it to the size of our own minds.

It is interesting to note in the gospels how the apostles, well-meaning of course, often tried to keep certain people away from Jesus as if they weren’t worthy, as if they were an affront to his holiness or would somehow stain his purity. So they perennially tried to prevent children, prostitutes, tax collectors, known sinners, and the uninitiated of all kinds from coming to Jesus. However, always Jesus over-ruled their attempts with words to this effect: “Let them come! I want them to come.”

Early on in my ministry, I lived in a rectory with a saintly old priest. He was over eighty, nearly blind, but widely sought out and respected, especially as a confessor. One night, alone with him, I asked him this question: “If you had your priesthood to live over again, would you do anything differently?” From a man so full of integrity, I fully expected that there would be no regrets. So his answer surprised me. Yes, he did have a regret, a major one, he said: “If I had my priesthood to do over again, I would be easier on people the next time. I wouldn’t be so stingy with God’s mercy, with the sacraments, with forgiveness. I fear I’ve been too hard on people. They have pain enough without me and the church laying further burdens on them. I should have risked God’s mercy more!”

I was struck by this because, less than a year before, as I took my final exams in the seminary, one of the priests who examined me, gave me this warning: “Be careful,” he said, “don’t be soft. Only the truth sets people free. Risk truth over mercy.”

As I age, I am ever more inclined to the old priest’s advice: We need more to risk God’s mercy. The place of justice and truth should never be ignored, but we must risk letting the infinite, unbounded, unconditional, undeserved mercy of God flow free.

But, like the apostles, we, well-intentioned persons, are forever trying to keep certain individuals and groups away from God’s mercy as it is offered in word, sacrament, and community. But God doesn’t want our protection. What God does want is for everyone, regardless of morality, orthodoxy, lack of preparation, age, or culture, to come to the unlimited waters of divine mercy.

George Eliot once wrote: “When death, the great reconciler, has come, it is never our tenderness that we repent of, but our severity.”

HELP OUR TEENS TRAVEL TO INDY
The National Catholic Youth Conference (NCYC) is the premiere national gathering of Catholic high school teens in the United States. It is a fantastic opportunity for teens to strengthen their Catholic identity and meet other Catholic teens from around the U.S. Many teens say that their participation in NCYC is life-changing.

Several teens from St. Hubert will be making a pilgrimage to NCYC. Scholarships are needed to make this trip a reality for all teens hoping to attend. Please help to make this experience possible. Please label any donations an envelope marked with NCYC. Your contributions will allow the teens to experience presentations by leading speakers on issues including social justice, prayer, servant leadership, appropriate use of technology, the sacraments, cultural diversity, and transitioning to college. They will have the opportunity to meet with bishops and other church leaders and get the chance to listen to outstanding Catholic musicians, have powerful prayer experiences, and pray together at Mass.

Fall Blood Drive
St. Hubert Parish is holding our annual Fall Blood Drive on Sunday, November 10 in the lower level of church from 8:00 AM to 2:00 PM. Learn How To Make Parol
One of the most iconic symbols of the Christmas spirit in the Philippines is the Christmas lantern, called a paról. The word parol came from the Spanish word, farol, which means lantern. The origin of the parol can be traced back to the Spanish colonial era in the Philippines when the Spaniards introduced Christianity to the Filipinos. The parol is widely considered as a representation of the Star of Bethlehem that guided the Three Wise Men to the manger of the baby Jesus.

Learn how to make parol on Saturday, November 16 from 2:00—4:00 PM, at the Parish Ministry Center. To ensure we have adequate supplies, please RSVP by texting 773-888-2482, or find Saint Hubert Bayanihan Association on Facebook and send a message. Everyone is welcome!

Baking Your Way Through the Holidays with
The Bread Monk
Fr. Dominic Garramone, OSB

Every time Fr. Dominic Garramone teaches his scripture students about the multiplication of the loaves, he bakes. Bread, of course. As he is head of the religion department at St. Bede Academy in Peru, IL, it is not surprising. After all, he’s also The Bread Monk. Member of the Order of St. Benedict, host of a former PBS television show, a prolific author and one of God’s best-known Breadheads.

By day, he teaches scripture and sacraments, is the school’s drama director (he has published two plays) and handles myriad other abbey duties. Off hours, he’s found either in the abbey kitchen or herb garden, writing or preparing to travel Illinois giving lively and entertaining bread demos to civic and religious groups.

Fr. Dom brings his talent, personality and humor to St. Hubert on Saturday, November 23 with Baking Your Way Through the Holidays. Presented by the Café Ministry, it is free and open to the public from 10 AM to Noon at the St. Hubert Parish Ministry Center, 729 Grand Canyon, Hoffman Estates, IL. Reservations are suggested – 847-885-7700 or speakerseries@sainthubert.org.

Fr. Dom says his culinary education is a result of “my mother’s kitchen, PBS and the public library.” His interactive presentation gently walks the audience through creating breads to make this year’s holiday celebrations extra special:

- Gluten-free Pumpkin Scones with sweet cream cheese filling.
- Bambino Bread – shaped like Baby Jesus in swaddling clothes.
- French Toast Custard Casseroles
- An Epiphany Cake that makes family feel like the Three Kings.

Delicious samples (warm from the oven), free door prizes, and audience participation heighten the fun.

Shop the Monks’ Market treats from the Abbey, beeswax candles, honey and kitchen gadgets - thoughtful holiday gifts for a favorite foodie. Or choose one of Fr. Dom’s many baking books. Or His Brother Jerome and the Angels in the Bakery, which received the 2011 Christopher Award for Children’s Books and the 2011 Catholic Press Association’s First Place Award for children’s books.

While his PBS program no longer airs, “The Bread Monk” is still seen on occasional PBS pledge specials. He’s also a baking instructor on Blueprint.com. Learn more about Fr. Dom at www.breadmonk.com. Please come and meet him at St. Hubert November 23.

What is The Marriage Course?
The Marriage Course is a series of 7 dinner dates over a 7 week period with dedicated time for a couple to focus on each other and enrich their marriage. The course is designed to help couples continue to learn more about each other, communicate more effectively, and resolve differences well.

What can we expect?
You will be seated at your own table for two each week. Every session will include dinner, a practical video presentation and time for private discussion between the two of you. You never share anything about your relationship with anyone other than your partner. Background music ensures that you can chat in complete privacy.

Who is it for?
The Marriage Course is for any couple, whether married a short time, many years, or somewhere in between. Some couples do the course to intentionally invest in their relationship; while others are looking to address more specific challenges. Either way, the course offers essential tools and practical ideas to help build a relationship that lasts a lifetime.

The Marriage Course is based on Christian principles but designed for all couples with or without a church background.

Over 7 evenings you will explore:
- Building Strong Foundations - Learn to understand each other’s needs
- The Art of Communication - How to listen and communicate effectively
- Resolving Conflict - Develop methods to resolve conflict and disagreements
- The Power of Forgiveness - Learn how to apologize and forgive as a couple
- The Impact of Family, Past and Present - Explore the impact of family on your relationship
- Good Sex - Find ways to develop greater sexual intimacy
- Love in Action - Learn your partner’s ‘love language’ and how to love them well

Sacramental Life

Call the Parish Office 847-885-7700 for further questions or to make arrangements.

Baptisms
To register for Baptism, stop in or call the Parish Office. Parents must attend a Baptismal Preparation Meeting, which is held on the last Tuesday of each month at 7:30 PM. You may attend this parent meeting either before or after the baby is born.

Baptisms take place on the 2nd and 4th Sundays of the month at 1:30 PM or at Mass by arrangement. You will confirm the date for Baptism by attending the Baptism Preparation Meeting.

Marriages
Please do not reserve your banquet hall before confirming the date with the church. Set your date by calling the Parish Office as early as possible as you plan your wedding—at least 6 months before the wedding. Weddings take place on Saturdays at 2:00 PM. Weekdays and Sundays must be arranged individually.

Reconciliation
Saturday after 4:30 PM Mass, or by appointment.

Eucharist for the Sick and Homebound
If there is anyone who would like to receive Eucharist at home, or if you know a friend, neighbor or family member who is homebound and would like a home visit to receive Eucharist, please call the Parish Ministry Center. One of our dedicated ministers will be glad to fulfill these requests.

Sacrament of the Sick
Please call the Parish Ministry Center Office to make arrangements for a priest to visit.
