THE BAPTISM OF THE LORD

A voice came from the heavens, saying, “This is my beloved Son, with whom I am well pleased.” - Mt 3:17

BAPTISM OF THE LORD

JANUARY 12, 2020
The Heavens Open Up

The Christmas Season always concludes the year with Baptism of the Lord. It’s a perfect segue between the birth of Christ and Ordinary Time where we learn more about the mission of Christ.

In the first reading, Isaiah foreshadows it. He prophesizes about the servant in whom the Lord is well pleased. The servant is chosen and will establish justice. The servant will open our eyes to free us from what confines us and darkens our lives (See Isaiah 42:1-7).

In Matthew’s account of Jesus’ baptism, after he’s baptized by John, we hear the “heavens were opened,” which allowed the dove to descend upon him (Matthew 3:16). And after that, Jesus begins his mission. He fulfills everything Isaiah said would happen, and everything God promised us in his desire to bring us to himself.

Baptism is an opening—it’s a doorway to a way of life that allows us to live the mission we have to bring Christ to others. We do that by the way we live, the things we do, and who we are. The mission is part of our identity. We carry the name of the one we follow—Christ.

As you’ve been hearing, our Parish Pastoral Council has worked hard to put into a simple statement how our parish brings about our mission to fulfill our baptismal vocation. It’s a statement that captures what our parish has been doing for 60 years and what we will continue to do as we move into this new decade, which some have been calling the “soaring 20’s.”

A New Mission Statement to Help Guide Us into the Future:

Building up the Body of Christ with welcoming arms, loving hearts and joyful worship.

We have always been a community that tries to build each other up by the good things we do for one another. Our ministries are made up of people we pray with week after week who feel God’s invitation to help—whether it’s being involved in our liturgies, educating the next generation, forming us in our faith, helping the poor, the sick, the hungry, the lonely, the hurt, or those who mourn. It’s Catholics helping whoever needs help, just like Christ taught us. And it’s a way we see the heavens open and the spirit descend upon our community.

The Body of Christ is our identity, which is reinforced every single time we come to communion. Christ’s presence is announced to us; we take him into our lives, and then we’re sent to live it out. It’s what compels us to be welcoming, loving and joyful—adjectives that seem to capture the feeling of what it means to be at St. Hubert.

Our new mission statement isn’t really new. It thoughtfully puts into words who we are and have always been. So, as we head into the future, may God continue to help us, affirm us, and strengthen us in all we do. It’s time to soar.

—Fr. Mike

Baptism of the Lord

Our Father,
We seek you in so many ways and places in our life.
We seek you for guidance and for comfort.
But you have told us that when there is hunger, it is up to us to feed the hungry.
We ask you to help us see you in other Christians and humbly ask you for strength in the search for what we have in common.
Bless our efforts to look at all the ways we are united in faith, and grant us courage to change our hearts and minds to realize your will.
We ask all this through Christ our Lord and brother, in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit.
Amen.
After Jesus was baptized, he came up from the water and behold, the heavens were opened for him, and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove and coming upon him. And a voice came from the heavens, saying, “This is my beloved Son, with whom I am well pleased.”

- Matthew 3:16-17

The Catechism of the Catholic Church gives four reasons for the Incarnation, why God became man in Jesus Christ. The third reason is “to be our model of holiness.” All of Jesus’ words and actions model for us what we ought to do. He also shows us how we’re meant to be. Jesus’ baptism ought to remind us of our own baptism and of the importance of baptism in the Christian life.

After baptism, we stand in solidarity with Christ, bathed in the waters he sanctified. There, the Father proclaims our adoption into the family of God. “This is my beloved son [this is my beloved daughter], with whom I am well pleased.” And the Spirit, too, descends. We are filled with the Spirit’s grace and power to continue Christ’s mission on earth. We received these gifts in the sacrament, and they continue to dwell within us through sanctifying grace. We can — and should — invite God to stir up these graces of our baptism and consider them in our own lives.

Does Christ feel like a distant relative two thousand years in the past? Or do you see him as someone who can be encountered here and now? Ask yourself where you find your sense of dignity and worth. Do you still search for it in success, social status, and selfish pursuits? Or are you able to rest in being a beloved child of God? Remember, baptism gives us a call and a charge to change the world. Do you pray for the Holy Spirit to guide you? Or are you so focused on your own life that you miss the mission? This week, let’s do as Jesus did. Let’s live in our baptism!
Several years ago, I preached a homily on the baptism of Christ within which I remarked that the words that God speaks over Jesus at his baptism: “This is my beloved child in whom I take delight!” are words that God daily speaks over us.

Some hours later my doorbell rang and I was approached by a young man who had heard my homily and who was both moved and distraught by it.

He had not been to church for some time but had gone on this particular Sunday because he had, just that week, pleaded guilty to a crime and was awaiting sentence. He was soon to go to prison.

The homily had struck a painful chord inside of him because, first of all, he had trouble believing that God or anyone else loved him; yet he wanted to believe it.

Secondly, and even more painful, he believed that nobody had ever been pleased or delighted with him: “Father, I know that in my whole life nobody has ever been pleased with me. I was never good enough! Nobody has ever taken delight in anything I’ve ever done!” This man had never been blessed. Small wonder he was about to go to prison.

What does it mean to be blessed? What is a blessing?

The word blessing takes its root in the Latin verb: Benedicere, to speak well of (Bene—well; dicere—to speak). Therefore, to bless someone is, in the end, to speak well of him or her.

But this implies a special form of “speaking well.” To bless someone is, through some word, gesture or ritual, to make him or her aware of three things:

1. The goodness of the original creation where, after making the earth and humans, God said that it was “good, very good”;
2. That God experiences the same delight and pleasure in him or her. that he experienced with Jesus at his baptism when he said: “This is my beloved child in whom I take delight”; and
3. That we, who are giving the blessing, recognize that goodness and take that delight in him or her.

Thus, the ritual blessing that we are given at the end of a Eucharist: “I bless you in the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit” could be paraphrased to sound like this: “As we leave this celebration, let us feel deeply and take with us the deep truth that we, the world, and our lives are good, very good. There is no need to live in guilt and depression. We are, despite our faults, very good and delightful to God. Let us, therefore, take delight in each other and in ourselves. We are, after all, extremely pleasing to God.”

When I left home as a 17-year-old boy, my father and mother blessed me. They had me kneel on the old linoleum floor of our kitchen, placed their hands on my head and said the ritual words of Christian blessing.

In effect, however, what they were saying to me was: “We love you, we trust you, we are proud of you and we send you off with our full spirit. You are our beloved child and in you we are well-pleased.”

I suspect that had the young man I spoke of above been blessed in the same way by his parents or by anyone else significant to him, he would not have been on his way to prison. To be unblessed is to be bleeding in a very deep place.

So much of our hunger is a hunger for blessing. So much of our aching is the ache to be blessed. So much of our sadness comes from the fact that nobody has ever taken delight and pleasure in us in a non-exploitive way.

When has anyone ever made you the object of delight? When has anyone taken, in a non-exploitive way, delight in your body, your beauty, your intelligence, your person? When have you last felt that you are someone in whom others, and God, take pleasure and delight?

Only a few, I suspect, move about in their daily lives with the joy, confidence and grace that comes from knowing that they are, as persons, good, beautiful and objects of delight. Depression is more the rule.

Most of us are more like the young man spoken of above—bleeding, less than whole, unconfident, depressed, going through life without a sense either of its goodness or of our own, going through life without being able to really give or experience delight.

Scripture says that when Jesus was baptized the Spirit came to him in bodily form and said: “This is my beloved child; in him I take delight!”

What we need, more than anything else, is to precisely give bodily form to this blessing. We need, daily, within our families and within our relationships in general, to do things and say things that help those around us believe that life is good, that their lives are good, that they are good and that we, and God, look on them with great pleasure and delight.

From the Business Office: Make a gift and lower your taxes!

The standard deduction may have been increased, making it less likely that charitable gifts will be itemized, but there are still many ways to make a tax-advantaged gift to the Parish.

Gifts from IRA accounts
For donors 70½ or older, gifts up to $100,000 can be made directly from an IRA account. These gifts not only count toward meeting minimum required distributions, they are not subject to income tax and can lower a donor’s total income.

Gifts of Stock
Gifts of appreciated stock are among the best ways to give, since those gifts are not subject to capital gains tax, saving you up to 20% on your gift.

“Bunching” Annual Gifts
If you would like to maintain your current annual charitable giving, but are concerned that you might not be able to itemize those gifts, consider “bunching” several years’ worth of annual gifts into a single year. You might be able to itemize in your year of giving and then take a standard deduction in the following years, resulting in tax savings.

Please consult your tax and financial planning professionals to determine the best charitable giving strategy for you and your family. If you have questions, please do not hesitate to call or email.

Dear Father Mike Scherschel, Cecilia Rupert, and all involved in your Generosity,

I am writing to thank you for your generosity this holiday season, a generosity that will significantly affect the lives of families in the Chicago community. At a time of year when we are constantly bombarded with announcements of a joyous Christmas and the many offerings that it brings, many forget that not everyone is having a Merry Christmas and that much of what is taken is cause for special celebration in some households.

Your concern for those in need was clearly demonstrated by your expressions of support and giving. It is gratifying to know that other people are supportive of the work we do and are willing to become actively involved in caring for those who are most vulnerable in our society.

I thank you in the name of the families you have adopted, in the name of our church and the service center. Your contributions of time and Donations has provided not only an unforgettable Christmas for the children and dignity for the families but also an example of the true nature of Christmas.

On behalf of Rev. Claudio Diaz, Jr, our parish staff and our parishioners: We wish you all a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Sincerely,
Manny Vazquez, Food Service Coordinator

A dominantly Catholic country, The Philippines has at least 76 million baptized Catholics. With almost 500 years of presence, the Catholic Church in the Philippines directly links to the country’s history. Will it come as a surprise that the stronghold of Catholicism in the country was brought about by an adorable curly-haired statue of the child Jesus?

The Santo Niño

It all began when an image of the Holy Child, called the Santo Niño, was given as a baptismal gift to the local chief’s wife by Spanish explorers led by Portuguese-born Ferdinand Magellan. When Magellan arrived in Cebu, he was received positively by the local chief, Rajah Humabon. They were baptized to Catholicism together with his 800 subjects.

Rajah Humabon earned a new name, Carlos, after the grandfather of the reigning monarch, King Philip II (from where the name Philippines comes), and his wife was baptized as Juana, after King Philip’s grandmother, Queen Juana of Castille.

When Magellan died and the remaining crew returned to Spain, the natives returned to their old beliefs and made the image into a pagan idol. Under Miguel Lopez de Legazpi, the Spaniards successfully colonized the Philippines in 1565. While raiding the villages, they saw the image again underneath the fires. Legazpi ordered that a shrine be built for the Santo Niño.

The oldest religious icon in the Philippines

The Santo Niño is as old as the Catholic faith in the country. Made by Flemish artisans, the statue, now known as the Santo Niño de Cebu, is enshrined in a chapel within Basilica Minore del Santo Niño de Cebu, or simply Santo Niño Basilica. The statue may be a diminutive figure, but it stands regal with its left hand holding a cross-bearing orb (a symbol of Christian authority), while its other hand is in a priestly blessing gesture. It has a red cape with intricate embroidery and on top of its head is a crown.

Venerating the child Jesus was widespread in Spain during Magellan’s time with European wood sculptors having the child god as their subject in the 1300s. Thus, it’s not surprising that they gave it as a gift during the baptism rites of Rajah Humabon. (A similar Infant Jesus icon is the Holy Child of Prague.)

The original statue brought by Magellan is still found in Cebu. Devotees can see it encased in bullet-proof glass. Santo Niño is highly revered in Cebu and in other places in the country and its popularity resulted in other versions of a Holy Child dressed in ways people can relate to, from a policeman to a wandering child.

From Cebu, Santo Niño is venerated all over the country with festivals celebrated every third Sunday of January. Cebu holds the annual Sinulog festival, the Philippines’ main religious festival in the child god’s honor, attracting millions of devotees and tourists annually for decades. Other festivals celebrated during the feast of the Holy Child are Kalibo’s Ati-Atihan and Iloilo’s Dinagyang.

All thanks to a little boy.

Twenty years ago, Saint Pope John Paul II said to an audience of Catholic educators in New Orleans: “Yours is a great gift to the Church, a great gift to your nation.” Countless people in our country have been blessed by the many gifts of Catholic schools. However, many adults have lost touch with their local Catholic school community. It is time for those people who have been impacted by Catholic School to reconnect with the community that gave them so much, and give back.

With this in mind, NCEA is pleased to present the online giving campaign: Many Gifts, One Nation: A Day of Giving to Catholic Schools. Make your gift to a Catholic School!

BAPTISMS
To register for Baptism, stop in or call the Parish Office. Parents must attend a Baptismal Preparation Meeting, which is held on the last Tuesday of each month at 7:30 PM. You may attend this parent meeting either before or after the baby is born.

Baptisms take place on the 2nd and 4th Sundays of the month at 1:30 PM or at Mass by arrangement. You will confirm the date for Baptism by attending the Baptism Preparation Meeting.

MARRIAGES
Please do not reserve your banquet hall before confirming the date with the church. Set your date by calling the Parish Office as early as possible as you plan your wedding—at least 6 months before the wedding. Weddings take place on Saturdays at 2:00 PM. Weekdays and Sundays must be arranged individually.

RECONCILIATION
Saturday after 4:30 PM Mass, or by appointment.

EUCARIST FOR THE SICK AND HOMEBOUND
If there is anyone who would like to receive Eucharist at home, or if you know a friend, neighbor or family member who is homebound and would like a home visit to receive Eucharist, please call the Parish Ministry Center. One of our dedicated ministers will be glad to fulfill these requests.

SACRAMENT OF THE SICK
Please call the Parish Ministry Center Office to make arrangements for a priest to visit.
