Divine Worship

Continuing from Archdiocesan Liturgical Handbook (ALH) Chapter 1J states:

Rite of Peace

Section 1.58.1: The Rite of Peace is a traditional practice by which the Church entreats peace and unity for herself and for the whole human family, and the faithful express to each other their ecclesial communion and mutual charity before receiving Holy Communion. Congregations should be catechized regarding the true meaning and purpose of the sign of peace. The sign of peace is an option in the Roman Missal that may be offered "if appropriate".²³¹

Section 1.58.2: The sign of peace is not an act of reconciliation, which has already occurred in the Penitential Act at the beginning of the Mass, nor is it a neighborly greeting. This misunderstanding of the meaning of the sign has led to abuses, such as extended or protracted exchanges of handshakes, hugs, and kisses, which delay the Lamb of God and disrupt the flow of the celebration of the Eucharist.

Section 1.58.3: The priest may give the sign of peace to the ministers, but he should always remain within the sanctuary, so as not to disturb the celebration. For those in the congregation, it is appropriate that each person offer the sign of peace only to those who are nearest, and in a sober manner.²³²

Section 1.58.4: In the dioceses of the United States of America, for a good reason, on special occasions (for example, in the case of a funeral, a wedding, or when civic leaders are present) the priest may offer the sign of peace to a few of the faithful near the sanctuary.²³³

Fractio Panis

Section 1.59.1: The fraction, or breaking of bread, is begun after the sign of peace and is carried out with proper reverence, though it should not be unnecessarily prolonged, nor should it be accorded undue importance. This rite is reserved to the priest and the deacon.²³⁴

Section 1.59.2: In some places there has existed an abuse by which the priest breaks the host at the time of the consecration. This abuse is contrary to the tradition of the Church. It is reprobated and is to be corrected with haste.²³⁵

Section 1.59.3: The pouring of the Blood of Christ after the consecration from one vessel to another is to be avoided completely, lest anything should happen that would be to the detriment of so great a sacrament at the Mass. .²³⁶

"Share your bread with the hungry, shelter the oppressed and the homeless." — Isaiah 58:7

Dear Friends,

We are invited by God to tithe to our church and the poor and homeless. Families can also share many activities in which the presence of Christ is felt. There are many ways also, you can involve yourself and your family to activities and ministries in your Church. Volunteer in religious education, singing in the choirs, youth ministry, reading the scriptures during the liturgy celebration, etc. Our Church is a family, and we share together the Holy Eucharist to show our communion for each other.

It's called STRIVE and it's an ANONYMOUS 21-day challenge that men all around the world are taking to break free from pornography.
