Labor Day Holiday

Dear Parents,

All the children are doing a great job with all the new responsibilities and procedures. They are also getting used to their new weekly planner, writing their homework assignments and information about upcoming events.

In reading/language arts we will continue to read the novel, The Year of Billy Miller by Kevin Henkes. We will not start having weekly Spelling and Reading tests until after Labor Day. We will have our first test in Religion over Chapter 1 next Tuesday. Look for a review to come home in the folder on Monday afternoon to help your child study. In Math we are working on addition and subtraction strategies. Students are learning about the inquiry process in science.

Most of the time, I will be posting class information on our class webpage. Please check it often for classroom news, curriculum information, spelling and vocabulary words, and important dates. For the most up-to-date information on tests and projects, please check your child's planner. Sometimes we need to make changes, such as moving the date of a test, and we will have the students note the change in their planner.

Don't forget about our "Me" poster project, due on Monday, August 26th. I cannot wait for the children to start sharing their projects!

Please plan on attending the Second Grade Parent Information Night in the classroom, Tuesday, August 27, at 6:00 p.m. I look forward to seeing you all there!

Blessings,

Miss Kincer
