Eleventh Sunday in Ordinary Time

The man who is filled with the Holy Spirit speaks in different languages. These different languages are different ways of witnessing to Christ, such as humility, poverty, patience and obedience; we speak in those languages when we reveal in ourselves these virtues to others. Actions speak louder than words; let your words teach and your actions speak. We are full of words but empty of actions, and therefore are cursed by the Lord, since he himself cursed the fig tree when he found no fruit but only leaves. Gregory says: "A law is laid upon the preacher to practice what he preaches." It is useless for a man to flaunt his knowledge of the law if he undermines its teaching by his actions.

From the Pastor: On June 13, the Church celebrated St. Anthony of Padua. Over the years, we have heard about how powerful an intercessor he is in helping find things that are lost. Our statue of him shows the favor that God granted in allowing him to hold the Divine Infant in his arms. Most of us have not heard about his success as a preacher. During his life, he was known as the Hammer of Heretics. An excerpt from one of his sermons follows:

Thanks to the overwhelming support of stuffed animals and glassware! We had a great response, thanks everyone! We will go through the items and let you know if there is anything else needed.

A Summer Blessing

May you walk with God this summer

In whatever you do,

Wherever you go.

Walking with God means...

Walking with honesty and with courage,

Walking with love and respect

And concern for the feelings of others.

May you talk to God this summer

And every day

And in every situation.

Talking with God means...

Praying words of praise for the beauty of creation, Saying prayers of thanks for friends and good times,

Asking God's help in all your decisions,

Expressing sorrow when you have failed.

May you talk with God every day. Amen.
