- disciples
  - deepen their relationship with Jesus

  - duc en altum: set out for the deep, living as lay apostles
  - make other disciples through word and witness

Of course you would...and we will show you how to make it happen!

XXX 101-201-301 is a three-part series, designed specifically for leaders at all levels of the life of the Church.

Upon completion of this series, leaders will have the resources and tools to lead their parishes as they become communities of missionary disciples.

XXX 101:

Leaders will leave with the skills to recognize thresholds in those they serve. They in Colorado Springs is designed to help leaders and parishioners effectively participate in the evangelizing mission of the Church. The skills learned in Making Disciples are being used by ordinary lay Catholics to help family, friends, co-workers, neighbors and others they encounter make the journey to intentional discipleship. These skills also help them more effectively serve in outreach to non-practicing Catholics, RCIA, evangelization, young adult and campus ministry, gifts and vocational discernment, and in nearly any kind of ministry situation imaginable. These skills are also being used by Catholics with family, friends, and co-workers in secular settings.

Making Disciples will help you learn:

- How to introduce post-modern people to Jesus and the Church.
- How to recognize pre-discipleship stages of spiritual growth and facilitate spiritual growth in the baptized and non-baptized.
- How you can share your own personal witness and the “Great Story” of Jesus in gentle, intriguing, and non-threatening ways.
- How the charisms of disciple-friends help spiritual seekers make the journey to intentional discipleship.
- How parish based evangelization processes and other existing parish programs can help create a parish culture of discipleship.
- How to integrate these evangelizing skills and concepts into the full spectrum of parish life and ministry.
