FROM THE PASTOR

IS THERE LIFE AFTER DEATH?

A popular question: Is there life after death? If so, what does that mean? Will we be united in death with those whom we have loved in this life? Do the bonds of love experienced in this life continue beyond the grave? Are our loved ones far from us in death? These are questions that have preoccupied human beings for ages. Our Christian faith tradition, grounded in the life, death and resurrection of Jesus of Nazareth, offers no scientific answer to any of these questions. Rather, it offers a call to faith in life after death and in God as “not of the dead, but of the living.”

In today’s Gospel, the Sadducees “who say there is no resurrection” put a loaded question or case study to Jesus in an attempt to challenge any belief in resurrection. Our Lord doesn’t fall for their argument and tells them (and us) clearly: “God is not the God of the dead, but of the living; for to God all of them are alive.”

As our liturgical year draws to a close, these readings invite us to ponder on all our human relationships, and also this mystery of the bonds of love that persist, even after death, in unimaginable and unimaginable way.
