TWELFTH SUNDAY OF ORDINARY TIME

We are in the Hands of a Loving Father

In the preface to his book “Let Go of Fear,” Carlos Valles shares how on a leisurely bicycle ride in a lonely countryside road he is stopped by an unusual sight. In the low grass is a cobra, half coiled, half-erect, with its hood spread out and its tongue flickering danger. On the branch of a nearby bush is perched a little bird paralyzed with fear. The bird has wings, but is unable to fly. It has a larynx, but is unable to sing. It is frozen, stiff, mesmerized. Fear holds the bird. Though the vast expanse of the sky is open to it, the prey cannot escape.

Fear haunts all of us. We worry about persons, events, things. We fret over job and possession, health of body and spirit, welfare and security of loved ones. We are afraid of the varied dangers that threaten our life and disturb our peace of mind. These concerns explain our frantic efforts and frazzled nerves; they visit as nightmares in our troubled sleep.

In the Gospel, the Apostles have reason to be apprehensive about their mission of proclaiming the Kingdom and witnessing to Jesus. True, their Master has just given them authority to expel unclean spirits and to heal diseases. But he has also warned them that their message will not find an easy hearing. They will be entering dens of wolves, filled with hostile forces bent to kill them. They will be maligned and haled before courts, persecuted and murdered.

Jesus addresses their apprehensions by bidding them three times: “Do not be afraid.”

They are not to allow themselves to be intimidated or to be crippled by fear.

He tells them that there is nothing concealed that will not be revealed, and no secret that will not be known. The message that they have listened to attentively and received from him they are to speak with boldness.

Jesus also says that the disciples need not fear the things or people who can hurt superficially but cannot harm the spirit. No bodily harm human beings can inflict approximates the real death that only separation from God brings.

Finally, Jesus assures the Apostles that they have no reason to be afraid of anything because they are in God’s hands. The heavenly Father’s loving care extends not only to big things like armies in battle, but also to intimate little details like the life of a sparrow. If God attends to sparrows, an entire flock of which is nowhere near the worth of a human being, how much more does he look after the disciples who every hair is numbered.

How comforting it is to know that God’s providential care for us is always there, even in the smallest details of our lives. Our concerns and preoccupations, our misfortunes and tragedies, our nightmares and disasters — these are all in the hands of a loving Father. Despite appearances, God is absolutely in control. There is nothing to fear.

ARCHDIOCESAN ANNUAL APPEAL

Please support the Archdiocesan Annual Appeal . Our parish was allocated a goal of $5,000.00. To date we have collected $4,485.00.

Archbishop Byrnes declared the purpose of the Annual Appeal is needed to help fund the various ministries, operations and archdiocesan services of our Chancery.

Archbishop Byrnes also acknowledged the “great skepticism, distrust, question and lack of confidence” many Catholics have toward the leadership of the Archdiocese, the Curia and the Chancery during these difficult times which have seen our Church rocked by controversy, division and a growing sea of clergy sexual abuse allegations and lawsuits.

He pledged to win back the trust of the faithful and our community with “earnest hearts, greater transparency and accountability.”

The Annual Appeal supports six ministries and services:

1. Safe Environment,
2. Evangelization and Faith Formation
3. Chaplaincy
4. Vocation Ministry
5. Office of Communication/Umatuna Si Yu'os
