FOURTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Called to Serve with Him

The Word of God this Sunday focuses on the quality of fidelity or faithfulness that a servant of the Lord should possess.

Moses consoles his fellow Israelites by announcing to them that God will raise up for them another prophet like him (Moses) who will be imbued with the same quality of faithfulness and steadfastness that he possesses. This man of God will be a genuine prophet, speaking only what the Lord will tell him to proclaim and not preaching on his own behalf.

In the Gospel, after he has called the first of his disciples, Jesus begins his ministry in word and in deed. People in the synagogue are amazed at the way he teaches. They are astounded that Jesus drives out an unclean spirit from a possessed man. They have not seen anything like this before; they have not met anyone like this man, Jesus. Jesus is totally absorbed in the mission the Father has entrusted to him, and he will remain faithful to the end.

Some of us live like driftwoods in the ocean; without direction or sense of why we are here in this world, allowing the waves and the currents to bring us, instead of taking control. And so we end up being dependent upon others, letting others shape our lives. Instead, when we find time to reflect and realize what gifts we have been endowed with, we get a sense of our “mission” in this world. With this knowledge, we can focus our energies and resources in fulfilling that mission. May we allow nothing to distract us from pursuing that for which God has created us.

Catholic Schools Week

Today marks the beginning of National Catholic Schools Week which is celebrated across the nation. This year’s theme is Catholic Schools: Learn. Serve. Lead. Succeed which encompasses the core value that can be found in Catholic schools across the island and nation.

The celebration will start with Sunday liturgy on January 28. Catholic schools will then host open houses, recognition of service and other activities for students, families, parishioners and community members. Catholic education is committed to the holistic development of the whole person to learn, serve, lead and succeed. We are living out this theme with the Archdiocese of Agana as our teachers, staff, and administrators empower our students to become future servant leaders, faith-filled disciples and enriched citizens in our communities.

Catholic Schools Week is a time to embrace and celebrate the richness of the Catholic faith and heritage of Catholic schools. On behalf of the 4,200 children we serve, thank you for giving your child the opportunity to learn, serve, lead and succeed in our Catholic schools that are rooted in faith and love.

The Superintendent of Catholic Education, Richard Alvia, would like to thank and congratulate all families who continuously make sacrifices in providing their child a Catholic education. Biba Catholic Schools!

Learn. Serve. Lead. Succeed.
