FOURTH SUNDAY OF EASTER

A Shepherd Who Smells Like Sheep

Shepherds in rocky Palestine and its neighboring countries hold three things dearly: water, their tents, and their sheep. Their sheep provide the shepherds with milk, wool, and meat.

Bad shepherds seek only to profit from the flock, “pasturing” themselves and neglecting the sheep. In Ezekiel’s parable of the Shepherds, the Lord has words of condemnation against them: “Woe to the shepherds of Israel who have been pasturing themselves! Should not shepherds pasture the flock? You consumed milk, wore wool, and slaughtered fatlings, but the flock you did not pasture” (Ez 34:2-3).

The Lord then enumerates the work of the true shepherd the bad ones have neglected: strengthening the weak sheep, healing the sick, bringing back the stray, seeking the lost, and leading the sheep to rich pastures. The Lord finally says, “I myself will pasture my sheep; I myself will give them rest” (Ez 34: 15).

God’s personal intervention to take care of the sheep finds fulfillment in Jesus who declares, “I am the good shepherd.” He shows this in two ways: he knows his sheep and he lays down his life for the sheep. “Knowing” involves an intimate relationship, and Jesus compares this to the reciprocal knowledge between the Father and himself as the Son. His offering of his own life is out of his own volition, his own love, and at the same time, in accordance with the gracious will of God.

The bad shepherds in Ezekiel are in turn compared with hired hands who are only after their pay instead of caring for the sheep. In Jesus’ words, “a hired man, who is not a shepherd and whose sheep are not his own, sees a wolf coming and leaves the sheep and runs away, and the wolf catches and scatters them.” A true shepherd, however, will risk even his life to protect the flock.

In our day, Pope Francis compares the good shepherd to a priest, a minister, or a believer who “smells like sheep” precisely because he has gone to places that are dirty, smelly, and even dangerous because that is where the flock lives. He invites pastors to get out of their comfortable zones to be with the flock, to go to where the action is. He also invites the community of God’s people to be an “evangelizing community” that gets involved by word and deed in people’s lives, bridges distances, embraces human lives, and touches the suffering flesh of Christ in others (Evangelii Gaudium, 24).

Safe Environment Live Virtus Training

April is Sexual Assault Awareness Month and Child Abuse Prevention Month. For those in our parish that have not taken the VIRTUS Training, there will be a session in our parish on Wednesday, April 25, 2018 at 7:00 p.m.

Remaining Live VIRTUS Training is as follows:

Central Region

Tuesday, April 24—7 p.m.

Assumption of Our Lady Parish Social Hall, Piti
