SEVENTEENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY

From Five Loaves and Two Fish

One of the things we notice about the ministry of Jesus and his disciples is the seeming lack of “planning” in terms of anticipating the needs of the situations they will be in. On the other hand, how can they when they are poor “missionaries,” relying only on divine providence? Besides—and this is the most important reason—Jesus is with them.

The miracle story in the Gospel reminds us of a number of things. First, the crowd of people are hungry for both material and spiritual food. This is why they keep on following Jesus because they see and know that Jesus has both material and spiritual food to nourish them, although perhaps, as Jesus will remind them later, many of them are simply after the material food.

Second, in the midst of the seeming impossibility of feeding the huge crowd “stranded” with them, a boy is “moved” to offer some provision that then becomes the springboard for Jesus’ miraculous intervention. His contribution is very insignificant compared to the mouths that have to be fed (“just a drop in the ocean,” as St. Teresa of Kolkata puts it). But, in the eyes of faith, this is like lighting one candle instead of cursing the darkness. At least he provides some hope in the midst of utter despair.

Which brings us to the third point: God transforms the little that the people have into abundance as the little passes on to the hands of Jesus who takes it, blesses it, and breaks it to be distributed to the people who are now well-seated on the ground. As God did not allow the Israelites to die of hunger in the desert, so also now, through his Son, God rescues the hungry crowd from death and feeds them beyond their needs.

In our work and ministry, may we learn to trust in the power of Jesus to come to our rescue; after all, he is not “Jesus” (“The Lord saves”) for nothing. We may not have that much, but he will not fail us; in fact, he will surely surprise us with abundance.
