NINETEENTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

Faithful and Prudent Stewards

Slavery was prevalent in ancient times. At the height of its power, Rome had more slaves than free men. The condition became so unbearable that the slaves, led by Spartacus, revolted and almost toppled the Roman Republic.

In Israel in Jesus' time, the elite have servants/slaves (Greek doulai) who are employed in agriculture, more often in domestic service. A slave who shows competence and faithfulness may be assigned as the head servant or slave overseer (Greek oikonomos). Usually, he is a man hardened by farm work and tested by experience. If he has a retentive mind and can manage affairs, he may be chosen for the task, even if he may be illiterate. In the Gospel parable, the faithful and prudent oikonomos has been put in charge of his master's household.

This is an image of true discipleship. A disciple, most especially if he is a leader of a community of believers, must be prudent and dependable in fulfilling his obligation towards believers. He must exercise his duties "at the proper time" and not as his own convenience. Authority is conferred only for a time and is meant for the good of others; otherwise, its abuse will lead to a loss of sense of others, which is tyranny, and loss of sense of self, expressed in excess and bad company. Luke here points out a practical concern: the disciple must not bother with the exact timing of the final coming of Christ; rather, he should concentrate on living the life of a faithful and prudent servant. On this day he will be judged.

Religious leaders will always be "servants" of the Lord, and it is only by remaining humble and vigilant that they will prove themselves faithful and prudent stewards of the things of God.

OLBS Christian Mothers Invitation

The most important role of a Christian Mother is to raise her children in the Catholic Christian faith. Under the special patronage of Mary, Our Lady of Sorrows is the Patron Saint of this Capuchin Franciscan Ministry. Christian Mothers are encouraged joyously to undertake the important task of training and sanctifying the young souls entrusted to their care. They are instructed with ways to edify one another by word and deed, to support one another by fervent prayer and in this way become the mainstay of the spiritual life within their own family, and a fruitful source of blessings to the community in which they live.

This is the fundamental aim of all Confraternities affiliated with the Archconfraternity. Christian Mothers learn to unite their own hearts to Christ so that they can help to draw their families closer to the Lord.

The Confraternity of Christian Mothers invites and welcomes new members to join. For more information, contact Pauline Camacho at 687-4369 or June Pangelinan at 687-1491. Thank you.
