There arose no little dissension and debate.” Did that happen at work this week? Most of us can recall run-ins with coworkers, even with the boss. Did it happen while socializing with friends? Go easy on politics, religion . . . even sports. At home? Even the most peaceful household experiences a little “give and take” now and then. So where was it that “there arose no little dissension and debate”? That tumultuous conflict occurred among our first Christian ancestors, disrupting the community life of the early church. But today’s Acts of the Apostles shows how beautifully the Holy Spirit, promised by Jesus in today’s Gospel, helped the church achieve a grace-filled resolution. What evolved was that “reconciled diversity,” often encouraged by Pope Francis and even envisioned in today’s Revelation passage; and a wondrous experience of Jesus’ promised Gospel gift: “Peace I leave with you; my peace I give to you.”

Life in Christ – Part 13: Justice is NOT Blind

Last time, we discussed the Virtue of Prudence, the first of the Cardinal Virtues. Today, we will continue our discussion of the Cardinal Virtues with the Virtue of Justice.

Recently, when we discussed the Virtue of Hope, we examined how the common definition of Hope differed from the Catholic understanding of the Virtue of Hope. Justice has a similar characteristic. The common definition of justice would be something like, “Let the punishment fit the crime.” Some may even point to Scripture to support their case, with this passage from Exodus, “[I]f injury ensues, you shall give life for life, eye for eye, tooth for tooth, hand for hand, foot for foot, burn for burn, wound for wound, stripe for stripe.” [EX 21:23-25] However, when one looks at the history of the Israelites and the surrounding nations, one would find that “like for like” was already a softening of what was previously seen as justice. Prior to this law, the punishment would have been a life for an eye or tooth.

Justice came to mean something different even by the time of Jesus. For example, in the story of Mary’s Conception of Jesus, Matthew tells us that Joseph was a “just man.” [cf. MT 1:18-24] Literal justice would have meant following the letter of the law, which gave Joseph two choices: have his wife stoned or divorce her. [cf. DT 22:20-27] In this episode, Joseph chooses neither of these options and takes Mary into his home as his wife, showing that true Justice includes mercy and love. In the Catechism, we can see that Joseph fulfills the definition of a “just man”: “[T]he just man, often mentioned in the Sacred Scriptures, is distinguished by habitual right thinking and the uprightness of his conduct toward his neighbor.” [CCC, 1807]

From this definition of a “just man,” we can see that the Virtue of Justice springs from Prudence, as we mentioned in the last column. If Prudence is “right reason in action,” [CCC, 1806] then Justice is what helps us to determine what is right, especially in terms of giving what is “due to God and neighbor.” [CCC, 1807] In Matthew’s Gospel, Jesus tells us what is proper to give to God and neighbor. “You shall love the Lord, your God, with all your heart, with all your soul, and with all your mind. This is the greatest and the first commandment. The second is like it: You shall love your neighbor as yourself. The whole law and the prophets depend on these two commandments.” [MT 22:37-40]

While these commandments speak specifically of what kind of love is just for God, Justice toward one’s neighbor might still be in question. [cf. “The Good Samaritan” LK 10:29-37] The Catechism tells us what it means to treat our neighbor with Justice: “Justice toward [neighbor] disposes one to respect the rights of each and to establish in human relationships the harmony that promotes equity with regard to persons and to the common good.” [CCC, 1807] Therefore, Justice is important in our relationships and interactions both with individuals and with society. Justice toward society and consideration of “the common good” is the basis for the Catholic teaching on Social Justice, which will be the subject of future columns, but can also be explored through the Catholic Social Teaching Corner found on page 8 of this bulletin.

Next week, we will continue our discussion of the Cardinal Virtues with the Virtue of Fortitude.

THIS we ask through Jesus Christ, Your Son, Our Lord. Amen. Mary, help of Christians, pray for us.

May 26, 2019 Page Ten

Merciful Father, You desire the welfare of all your children. Stretch out Your protecting arm over men and women in the service. Shield them from every danger to body, mind and soul. Comfort them in loneliness, sustain them in hardship, give them the courage they need to fulfill their duty and so do Your will in all things. Bestow on Our leaders and the leaders of the world the wisdom and prudence which will bring peace and justice to all.

Amen.
