TWENTY SECOND SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

HUMILITY

Humility is a virtue we don’t see much in our times. It seems that bragging, swaggering, and arrogance dominate our fashion for everything and our Internet conversations. Who hasn’t been irritated by the “trolls” who try (usually with bad grammar and poor spelling) to start an online fight with those whose opinions do not align with theirs? Our stores, catalogs, and online shopping sites are full of useless items geared in use and price to the very rich, as ordinary, useful things seem to fade off the sales scene. As the rich get richer, the poor get poorer and the middle class is fading away. What is the antidote to this? Humility is a good place to start. Devotion to God is worth more than riches. “The father of orphans and the defender of widows is God in his holy dwelling. God gives a home to the forsaken; [God] leads forth prisoners to prosperity.”

To prepare for the Readings of Sept. 7/8

First Reading — You sent your holy spirit from on high and thus were the paths of those on earth made straight (Wisdom 9:13-18b).

Psalm — In every age, O Lord, you have been our refuge (Psalm 90).

Second Reading — Paul asks Philemon to accept back his slave Onesimus as a brother (Philemon 9-10, 12-17).

Gospel — Which of you wishing to construct a tower does not first sit down and calculate the cost to see if there is enough for its completion? (Luke 14:25-33).

Looking Through Stained Glass

A Column by Fr. Tom

Three is Not a Crowd

Last week, we began our discussion of the Creed by reviewing the history of the two Creeds that are familiar to us. We also decided that we would base our study on the more familiar Nicene (or Niceno-Constantinopolitan) Creed. As we look at this Creed, we discover that it follows a Trinitarian format by first discussing the Father, then the Son, followed by the Holy Spirit. After expressing the core of what we believe about God, the Creed then states some of our beliefs about the Church and the afterlife.

As mentioned above, the Creed expresses our belief about a Trinitarian God: Father, Son and Holy Spirit. The Creed begins by recalling the mystery of the Trinity: we believe in one God of three Persons. The Creed even begins with the phrase, “I believe in one God.” As with much about our Christian faith, monotheism (belief in one God) finds its roots in our Jewish background. During the earliest days of civilization, many of the cultures and peoples held a polytheistic (belief in many gods) view of the world. However, the three religions that have their faith foundations in Abraham (Judaism, Christianity and Islam) hold to the belief that there is only one God, unlike Hinduism or the Native American religions that have many gods.

Our belief in one God has its basis in Scripture. This belief is explicitly stated in the Law of Moses found in Deuteronomy: “Hear, O Israel! The LORD is our God, the LORD alone! Therefore, you shall love the LORD, your God, with your whole heart, and with your whole being, and with your whole strength.” [DT 6:4-5] When asked which commandment is the greatest in the Law, Jesus repeats and therefore affirms this same decree. [cf. MK 12:28-30]

However, as Christians we also believe that Jesus is the Lord. We also say that the Holy Spirit is “the Lord, the giver of life,” as we will see later in this discussion. How can we recognize the Father, Son and Holy Spirit as “Lord,” and still claim to believe in one God? The Catechism gives the following response to this question. “We firmly believe and confess without reservation that there is only one true God, eternal infinite (immensus) and unchangeable, incomprehensible, almighty and ineffable, the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit; three persons indeed, but one essence, substance or nature entirely simple.” [CCC, 202]

We can see many expressions of the Trinity throughout our Scriptures, in fact too many examples to cite here. However, perhaps the greatest expression of what we believe about the Trinity comes from the words of the angel Gabriel at the Annunciation. “And the angel said to [Mary] in reply, ‘The Holy Spirit will come upon you, and the power of the Most High will overshadow you. Therefore the child to be born will be called holy, the Son of God.’” [LK 1:35]

Next week, we will explore more about what the Creed has to say about God the Father.

Challenge Question: Do I ever consider the circumstances that would cause a family to walk thousands of miles from their home, for the chance of living in freedom and peace? What might I do for my family, if faced with similar circumstances? How can we, as a Catholic Christian community, make “a home for the poor”?

This week in 1970:
The first parish census began on August 31, 1970. It was conducted by volunteers from the parish. Father Charlie had a real talent for inspiring people to volunteer: through his editorials in the weekly bulletin, in his comments before each Mass, and most by one-on-one contact. Who could say “no” to Father Charlie!!

Merciful Father, You desire the welfare of all your children. Stretch out Your protecting arm over all men and women in the service. Shield them from every danger to body, mind and soul. Comfort them in loneliness, sustain them in hardship, give them the courage they need to fulfill their duty and so do Your will in all things. Bestow on our leaders and the leaders of the world the wisdom and prudence which will bring peace and justice to all.

This we ask through Jesus Christ, Your Son, Our Lord. Amen. Mary, help of Christians, pray for us.
