We are nearing the end of the liturgical year. Today’s readings remind us that our own lives will draw to a close one day, and we can be certain that the Lord will encourage, strengthen, and save us—both now and at the last. The astonishing story of the Maccabees invigorates our faith as we behold an entire family willing to die rather than deny the Law of Moses. The psalm response echoes the faithful cries of the Maccabees: “I call upon you, for you will answer me, O God.” That same confidence appears in Saint Paul’s letter to the Thessalonians. “The Lord is faithful,” he testifies; “he will strengthen you and guard you from the evil one.” In the Gospel, Jesus explains just how long God’s protection will endure. The children of God whom God guards, Jesus says, will live forever like angels.

A Column by Fr. Tom

Come, Holy Spirit, Come

So far, our exposition of the Nicene Creed has taken us through what we believe about God the Father and God the Son. We now turn our attention to God the Holy Spirit. The lines of the Creed that we will examine in this column include the following: I believe in the Holy Spirit, the Lord, the giver of life, who proceeds from the Father and the Son, who with the Father and the Son is adored and glorified, who has spoken through the prophets.

In a previous column, we talked about the Trinity, and how all members of the Trinity are God and Lord. In that column, we quoted from the Catechism, “We firmly believe and confess without reservation that there is only one true God, eternal infinite (immensus) and unchangeable, incomprehensible, almighty and ineffable, the Father and the Son and the Holy Spirit; three persons indeed, but one essence, substance or nature entirely simple.” [CCC, 202] Therefore, the Holy Spirit is known as God and Lord, along with both the Father and the Son, and it is right that the Holy Spirit should be “adored and glorified.”

Perhaps the most important point from the Creed regarding what we believe about the Holy Spirit is that the Holy Spirit proceeds from the Father and the Son. In fact, the Council of Constantinople debated (rather hotly), whether the Holy Spirit proceeds from both the Father and the Son, or just from the Father. As we learned when we started our study on the Creed, our Creed is formally known as the Niceo-Constantinopolitan Creed, recognizing that the Creed was not complete until this issue was resolved at the Council of Constantinople.

The real issue of this debate comes down to one Latin word “filioque,” which means “and the Son.” While using the word filioque in the Creed has been a source of contention and debate between Eastern and Western Christians since Constantinople, the Church has been working toward understanding and concord on this issue for some time now. [See “The Filioque: A Church Dividing Issue?: An Agreed Statement”, available from USCCB.org]

As our Creed states, we Catholics believe that the Holy Spirit proceeds from the Father and the Son. Most Christians would agree that the Son is Begotten from the Father and that the Holy Spirit proceeds from the Father. So, how can we say that the Holy Spirit also proceeds from the Son? St. Augustine clarifies this belief thusly, “And the Holy Spirit, according to the Holy Scriptures, is neither of the Father alone, nor of the Son alone, but of both; and so intimates to us a mutual love, wherewith the Father and the Son reciprocally love one another.” [Augustine, On the Trinity, XV.17.24] What Augustine is saying is that the Holy Spirit is the Love between the Father and the Son. However, we also know that the Love of God emanates outward to encompass all of humanity and all of history.

We believe that the Holy Spirit has been assisting humanity in its relationship to God since the beginning of time [GN 1:1-2], and can therefore be seen throughout the Scriptures, including “[speaking] through the prophets,” and guiding the Church from Pentecost to today.

Having explored what we believe about God the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit, next week we will examine what we believe about the Church.

Challenge Question: The late Fr. Michael Tschudi once pointed out in a homily, “There is a sin that precedes an abortion, that any woman, lacking a supportive community, finds she has no other choice BUT to abort.” What can be done in society to insure that women in crisis pregnancies do not find themselves “lacking a supportive community”? Is simply changing abortion laws enough to promote life? Will women in crisis pregnancies find support, in me?

CELEBRATE 50 YEARS WITH US

This week in 1982

On November 4, 1982, Father Alexis Paul, C.P. was installed as the second pastor of St. Paul of the Cross Parish by Archbishop Edward A. McCarthy. Father Alexis implemented the RCIA process in our parish. One of his favorite social activities was “folk” dancing. He enjoyed teaching this art to parishioners on Sunday afternoons in the Parish Hall. The Parish Center (now the St. Gabriel Building) was brought to completion while Fr. Alexis was Pastor.

Mark your calendar for these events taking place during our 50th Anniversary year:

- Nov. 22—Concert in Church
- Dec. 6—Ministries Dinner
- Jan. 25, 2020—Neapolitan Knight
- Feb. 22—5pm Mass & Celebration
- March 28/29—Ministries Fair
- Golf Tournament—TBA
- June 6—Renewal of Vows

We are creating a Memory Book to commemorate our 50th Anniversary. It will be filled with photographs and memories of the past fifty years of our parish. The memory book will be distributed to those who attend our Anniversary Gala on February 22, 2020, as well as to everyone who places an advertisement, best wishes, or memorial in the book. If you wish to participate in this Memory Book, please find a form at the Welcome Desk or in The Parish Office. If you have any questions, please contact The Parish Office.

Merciful Father, You desire the welfare of all your children. Stretch out Your protecting arm over our men and women in the service. Shield them from every danger to body, mind and soul. Comfort them in loneliness, sustain them in hardship, give them the courage they need to fulfill their duty and so do Your will in all things. Bestow on our leaders and the leaders of the world the wisdom and prudence which will bring peace and justice to all. This we ask through Jesus Christ, Your Son, Our Lord. Amen. Mary, help of Christians, pray for us.
