First Sunday of Lent

Strengthen Against Temptation

The first Sunday of the season of Lent always includes a Gospel account of the temptation of the Lord Jesus in the desert by the devil. This year, the story is set against the backdrop of the first reading from Genesis, which recounts the very first temptation by the devil. That story is set in a garden of delight. The Gospel story is set in the desert. As believers, we know that temptation comes our way in our own gardens of delight as well as the deserts of our lives. As Lent begins, our attention is drawn to that temptation within each of us to become like God—we want control, power, and answers to all of life’s difficult questions. As communities of faith, we are given this season of repentance so that we can join our hearts with others on the difficult journey of conversion. We look to God and to one another for strength against temptation.
A Commandment with a Promise

As we move forward to the Fourth Commandment in this column, we also move from the Commandments that focus primarily on our love of God to those Commandments that focus primarily on our love for one another. In the traditional catechetical formula, the Fourth Commandment simply says, “Honor your father and your mother.”

It makes sense that the first Commandment that focuses primarily on love of others is focused on our parents. As we have mentioned in previous columns, it was our parents’ cooperation with God that led to our conception and birth. Therefore, we may say that honoring our father and mother honors the work that they did to help us come to life, and it honors their God-given vocation as parents, a vocation that they willingly accepted.

As we discovered in our discussion of the Third Commandment, we grow in holiness when we imitate God. Through this Commandment, we are called to imitate Jesus – the Son of God and the son of Mary and Joseph. Jesus Himself obeyed the Fourth Commandment, as described in Luke’s Gospel. After Mary and Joseph found Him in the Temple, “He went down with them and came to Nazareth, and was obedient to them; and his mother kept all these things in her heart. And Jesus advanced [in] wisdom and age and favor before God and man.” [LK 2:51-52]

Another reason we should obey the Fourth Commandment is that we will benefit. The original Commandment in Exodus reads, “Honor your father and your mother, that your days may be long in the land which the LORD your God is giving you.” [EX 20:12] St. Paul reiterates this unique facet of the Fourth Commandment in his Letter to the Ephesians, “Children, obey your parents [in the Lord], for this is right. ‘Honor your father and mother.’ This is the first commandment with a promise, ‘that it may go well with you and that you may have a long life on earth.’” [Eph 6:1-3]

The Catechism explains this promise saying, “Respecting this commandment provides, along with spiritual fruits, temporal fruits of peace and prosperity. Conversely, failure to observe it brings great harm to communities and to individuals.” [CCC 2200]

As with many of the Commandments that follow, corollaries of this Commandment can easily be discovered. The Catechism gives a few examples of how this Commandment can be expanded: The fourth commandment is addressed expressly to children in their relationship to their father and mother, because this relationship is the most universal. It likewise concerns the ties of kinship between members of the extended family. It requires honor, affection, and gratitude toward elders and ancestors. Finally, it extends to the duties of pupils to teachers, employees to employers, subordinates to leaders, citizens to their country, and to those who administer or govern it. This commandment includes and presupposes the duties of parents, instructors, teachers, leaders, magistrates, those who govern, all who exercise authority over others or over a community of persons. [CCC 2199] What we discover from this extension of the Commandment is that it encompasses obligations on both the subordinate as well as those in authority.

As expressed in our first column on the Ten Commandments, the Commandments concern relationships – first our relationship with God and then our relationship with others. We grow in holiness by having right relationships. The familial relationship is the most basic in society; therefore, we can grow in holiness by honoring our parents. Perhaps we could even say that holiness starts at home.

Dear Sisters and Brothers in Christ:

Next weekend, March 7-8, is the annual Diocese of Palm Beach collection for the education of seminarians and the formation of priests. The funds raised in this collection are used to support the cost of tuition, housing, education and pastoral training of these men and those who will follow them in the future.

Currently, there are ten seminarians from our diocese who are dedicating themselves to this important process of understanding their calling, with two of those men becoming priests in the coming months. I thank you for your prayers for these men and for an increase in vocations and assure you those prayers are working.

Jesus said to his disciples, “The harvest is abundant, but the laborers are few; so ask the master of the harvest to send out laborers for his harvest” (Luke 10:2). The journey to become a dedicated priest who will administer the sacraments is an important one, and one that requires our spiritual and financial support.

By your generosity, you walk the journey of faith with many future priests and ensure that the sacraments will continue to nourish the faithful for generations to come. Thank you for all that you do to ensure that the Church will always have worthy laborers at the harvest.

With gratitude for your continued generosity and every prayerful wish, I am

Sincerely yours in Christ,
Most Reverend Gerald M. Barbarito
Bishop of Palm Beach
CATHOLIC SOCIAL

First Sunday of Lent:

“We need to distinguish clearly what might be a fruit of the kingdom from what runs counter to God’s plan. This involves not only recognizing and discerning spirits, but also – and this is decisive – choosing movements of the spirit of good and rejecting those of the spirit of evil.”

Pope Francis: Evangeli Gaudium - The Joy of the Gospel (paragraph 51), 2013

Challenge Question: In these days where ideological factions attempt to divide us, it is tempting to choose a side and believe we are “in the right”. How will I step back this Lenten Season, and discern where I see, "movements of the spirit of good" while, "rejecting those of the spirit of evil"?

Merciful Father, You desire the welfare of all your children. Stretch out Your protecting arm over our men and women in the service. Shield them from every danger to body, mind and soul. Comfort them in loneliness, sustain them in hardship, give them the courage they need to fulfill their duty and so do Your will in all things. Bestow on our leaders and the leaders of the world the wisdom and prudence which will bring peace and justice to all. This we ask through Jesus Christ, Your Son, Our Lord. Amen. Mary, help of Christians, pray for us.
