

The St. Vincent de Paul Society relies on donations from parishioners, and other caring individuals, to provide the monies and resources needed to serve those in need.

St. Vincent collection boxes are found near the doors of each church to allow parishioners the opportunity to support the organization as their means allow. There are also periodic offertory collections at each parish that are directed towards the financial outreach needs of the St. Vincent de Paul society.