Sixteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Today we are challenged as disciples of Jesus to be kind and lenient to all the members in our faith community, both the weak and the strong. Fortunately, as Paul assures us, we are not alone. We can draw upon the strength and presence of the Holy Spirit to help us. The first reading from the Book of Wisdom provides some insights into God's perspective on faith communities made up of wheat and weeds. The Jewish Wisdom writer tells us that God's "mastery over all things makes [Him] lenient to all."

In the second reading, taken from Paul's Letter to the Romans, Paul offers words of encouragement to the Christians in Rome who are struggling with "weakness." From Paul's perspective, no believers are purely "wheat" or purely "weeds," but very often a blend of both.

In today's Gospel, from Matthew, we hear three parables that Jesus spoke to the crowds. Once again, Jesus will explain to his disciples the meaning of one of the parables (the parable of the weeds among the wheat) in private, apart from the crowds. In all three parables we hear metaphors for the kingdom of heaven (the kingdom of heaven "is like" wheat among weeds, mustard seed, and yeast). All three metaphors speak to the growth of the kingdom of heaven.
