Seventeenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Our readings for the Seventeenth Sunday in Ordinary Time remind us of what is truly important for Christians. In all that we do, seek first the kingdom of heaven. The first reading from First Kings entails a dream that Solomon experienced near the beginning of his reign. In the dream, God said to Solomon, "Ask anything of me and I will give it to you." Solomon responds by asking God for "an understanding heart to judge your people and to distinguish right from wrong." In his dream, Solomon saw the importance of a proper disposition to be an effective leader and judge for his people.

In the second reading, taken from Paul's Letter to the Romans, Paul saw that the Christians in his day, both those known to him and those he had yet to meet (like the Christians in Rome), were foreknown by God and "predestined to be conformed to the image of his Son." For Paul, this predestination was evidenced in one's call to be a believer.

Today's Gospel reading from Matthew concludes the string of parables we have heard proclaimed for the past three Sundays. At the end of the parables today, Matthew concludes with a very important characterization of the disciples. Jesus asks them a key question: "Do you understand all these things?" For Matthew, part of the challenge of discipleship involves hearing and understanding the meaning of Jesus' parables of the kingdom of heaven.
