Scripture Corner

REPENT!

Both Jesus and John the Baptist began their public ministry with the same words. The words were, "REPENT, FOR THE KINGDOM OF HEAVEN IS AT HAND!" (Matthew 3:2; 4:17) The Baptist had the critical assignment, as Isaiah said, "Prepare the way of the Lord, make straight his paths." (Isaiah 40:3; Matthew 3:3) Zechariah, the father of John, predicted, "You, child, will be called prophet of the Most High, for you will go before the Lord to prepare his ways." (Luke 1:76)

"Repent" is the critical word. It is a translation of the Hebrew metanoia, "which means 'change of mind,' but could better be translated as 'change of Heart.'" All of this fits well into the season of Advent, not a penitential season, as is Lent. Advent is rather a joyful season, awaiting the birth of the Messiah. "Change of heart" can call for love of God and love of neighbor. Considering the circumstances of the Savior's birth one might well reach out with acts of love, acts of fairness to the poor and needy. That would be a wonderful response to the words of John the Baptist, "Produce good fruit as evidence of your repentance (change of heart)." (Matthew 3:8)

Today's first reading (Isaiah 11:1-10) teaches much about our Lord. It is part of the Book of Emmanuel (Isaiah 6 – 12). Emmanuel means "God is with us." Isaiah teaches that the Messiah will arrive with many blessings. God will give to the Messiah, the Christ a spirit of wisdom and of understanding, a spirit of counsel and of strength, a spirit of knowledge and fear of the Lord, and his delight shall be fear of the Lord." (Isaiah 11:2-3) "Fear of the Lord" could better be translated as 'reverence for God.'

RCIA

The Rite of Acceptance and Welcoming will be celebrated at the 5:00 p.m. Mass next Sunday. This Rite is the first of the public rites celebrated in the Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults (RCIA). The inquirers will declare their intention to continue their journey of faith toward reception and full initiation into the Catholic Church at the Easter Vigil. At this Rite, those who will be baptized at the Easter Vigil in April will become catechumens and those who are already baptized and will be received into full communion with the Catholic Church at the Easter Vigil will become candidates. The St. Francis community, represented by the sponsors, will offer its support and witness to these inquirers as they continue their faith journey.

THE MUSINGS OF THE PASTOR (continued)

1. Permanently halt Haitian regular removal policy and reinstate humanitarian parole of Haitians at the U.S./ Mexico border.
2. Reinstate Temporary Protected Status (TPS) for Haiti.
3. Expand the capacity of Cuban and Haitian family reunification parole programs.
4. Increase efforts to ensure Haitian family unity.

Bishop Elizondo, Sr. Markham, Dr. Woo, and Bishop Vann conclude their joint letter by urging that our nation lead by example during this time of crisis and tragedy and that the U.S. offer aid protection, and compassion to Haitians abroad and within the United States.

Complete copies of this letter are available on the Social Concerns table in the Gathering Space.

Until next week,

Fr. John

THE MUSINGS OF THE PASTOR

On Saturday, November 26, 2016, Brother Saul Soriano, OFM Cap. gave a presentation here entitled, "Unity in Diversity: Justice for Immigrants." Brother Saul discussed three things in his presentation. First, he gave the story of his own family's emigration from El Salvador to the United States. Brother Saul's father died in a car accident when he was five or six. His grandmother encouraged her daughter, Saul's mother, to try to go to the United States as that would provide the only real opportunity for her to support her children. When Brother Saul's mother followed that advice, his grandmother took care of her grandchildren. Later his mother was able to bring the whole family, including Brother Saul's grandmother, to the United States where they are now settled. Brother Saul eventually became a citizen of the United States and voted in his first presidential election this year. Brother Saul's family is a success story. But this is not the case of many families from countries like El Salvador, from which many families want to escape the ongoing gang violence or civil war. In the second part of his talk Brother Saul presented some points on Catholic Social Teaching on immigration. In doing this, he made use of some recent documents published by the United States Conference of Catholic bishops. In the final part of his talk, Brother Saul talked about advocating on behalf of immigrants who come to the United States seeking a better life—much like other immigrants before them (including our own ancestors). He recommended people who are interested in such advocacy look at websites like Justice for Immigrants or even the website of the United States Conference on Catholic Bishops because there is very useful information on them regarding justice for immigrants.

I decided to take up Brother Saul's suggestion and looked up Justice for Immigrants. When I did this, I found an action alert to ensure the well-being of Haitians affected by Hurricane Matthew. As we know all too well, Hurricane Matthew devastated Haiti on October 4, 2016, killing hundreds and leaving 1.4 million people in need of urgent humanitarian assistance. Justice for Immigrants points out that, sadly, in response to Hurricane Matthew, the Department of Homeland Security has failed to enact humane immigration policies that would allow arriving Haitians to remain temporarily in the United States and support themselves while Haiti is being rebuilt.

On November 1, Bishop Eusebio Elizondo, Chairman of the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops' Committee on Migration (USCCB/COM), joined partners at Catholic Charities USA (CCUSA), Catholic Legal Immigration Network (CLINIC), and Catholic Relief Services in a letter to the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) and the Department of State sharing their concerns regarding the care and treatment of Haitians.

Bishop Elizondo, along with Sr. Donna Markham, OP (President and CEO of CCUSA), Dr. Carolyn Y. Woo (President and CEO of CRS), and Bishop Kevin Vann (Chairman of CLINIC) expressed their concern about DHS's recent immigration policies which separate and detain Haitian family members. They think that these policies are particularly inhumane in the aftermath of Hurricane Matthew when the U.S. government should be showing Haitians compassion and support. They make four migration-related recommendations in their joint letter:

THE HOLIDAY BAZAAR

The Bazaar has been a tradition at St Francis now for over twenty five years. This year Millie's Bake Shop was a hit with all of the kids. Mary Francis and her many friends made sure the wheel kept spinning. Shabby Chic, as always, had wonderful gifts and treasures for everyone. Thanks to the Beall family, who always do a great job with Shabby Chic. Karen Mason always has so many interesting religious items for everyone to choose from. The Silent Auction, headed up by Debi Dicello, had many wonderful baskets and items to bid on.

There were many beautiful handmade crafts and ornaments made by several of the parishioners. The crafters who gave of their time and talents were Jane Tom, Geri Prelewicz, Sara Becker, Doris Chung, Suzanna, Margaret Talcott and Mary O'Sullivan. The Jewelry Boutique was a big hit. Linda Call always does a great job. The raffle, spearheaded by Linda Foster, was a great success. The Flea Market was also a great success. Pat Badolato and her helpers did a great job converting the rectory into a buyer's haven. Nadine Edwards headed up the Café Assisi with its many appetizing treats. Coffee and donuts were a great treat - thanks to Sylvia Jones, it kept everybody warm and awake during the day. There was even a visit by Santa Claus (aka Fr. John). There were several other people who stepped up and volunteered to help out. They were there to help set up, volunteer during the Bazaar and help clean up afterwards. Although this year's Bazaar was a little slow, it was still a success, and a good time was had by all. I would like to thank everybody who helped. It takes many people to run the Bazaar, without volunteers there would be no Holiday Bazaar. Thank you also to all of the parishioners who came out and supported the Bazaar.

God Bless & Thank You!

Anne Culver
