3rd SUNDAY OF EASTER

Then the two recounted what had taken place on the way and how he was made known to them in the breaking of bread. —Lk 24:35

Dancing all the way to Emmaus

And it happened that, while [Jesus] was with them at table, he took bread, said the blessing, broke it, and gave it to them. With that their eyes were opened and they recognized him . . .

Luke 24: 13-35

An episode from the comic strip Rose is Rose by Pat Brady:

“Late one night, while Mom and Dad are having coffee in the kitchen, five-year-old Pasquale comes downstairs. He can’t sleep. Something has scared him. The little boy seems terribly worried. So he asks, “Mom and Dad, please do a slow dance while the little radio plays softly.”

Mom and Dad happily oblige. They turn on the kitchen radio and find a station playing a slow love song. Dad takes Mom into his arms, Mom lovingly places her head on Dad’s shoulder, and the couple softly dances to the music. Little Pasquale’s face lights up with a big smile.

“That’s perfect,” he says. Then he yawns, “Good night, Mom and Dad. I love you!” and up to his room he goes.

Mom and Dad say, “Sweet dreams, Pasquale. We love you.”

And they continue to dance.

Swaying to the music, Mom says, “He has funny ways of feeling secure.”

Dad, still happily lost in the romance of the moment, replies, “They work for me.”

Knowing that we are loved, that we are cared for, is the ultimate security. Jesus’ appearance to the two disciples on the road to Emmaus (this Sunday’s Gospel) reassures the community of his disciples in every time and place that he remains in our midst always, as real as our Paschal candle, as comforting as the love of parents for their children, as certain as the coming of spring each year.

Renewed by the joy of this Easter springtime, may we be for one another the reassuring and comforting love of Christ in every season of the year.

Open our hearts and unclench our hands, O God, to give to others the peace and healing that we have received from your Risen Christ. May every good thing we do for those we meet along the roads we travel and who share tables with us enable them to experience the Easter hope that we have been blessed to know in our lives.

Deacon Jay

April 26, 2020—Third Sunday of Easter

April 15, 2020

Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ,

The Easter Alleluia happily proclaims that Christ is Risen! He is truly risen as He said. In this most blessed Easter season, even though our lives have changed and routines and priorities have been altered so drastically, the unaltered promise of Jesus is fulfilled and remains our security and our hope. The Risen Christ is the One whose side was pierced with a lance and poured forth the Fountain of Immortality and so, our joy must not be diluted with tears of sadness today.

I've seen the refreshment of life that His Fountain of Immortality has been giving. Wounded as we are by the virus and the impact it has had even on our going to Mass, I cannot begin to tell you how edified I am by our people who have been comforted and even delighted as they admire their priests for their unyielding efforts to bring, as best they can, the elements and fruits of the Mass and Sacraments despite the challenging circumstances they, and we, all face.

I am reminded of the words of St. Maximilian Kolbe who, in the most dire of circumstances said, "Let us remember that love lives through sacrifice, and is nourished by giving." How we are all striving to live those words in our own day! The Fountain of Immortality still pours forth the grace for which the side of Christ was pierced. Alleluia, Alleluia, Alleluia. He IS Risen! Although the pews are empty at this time, the life of the parish lives through sacrifice and is nourished by giving. Our priests are finding ways of giving and in the midst of sacrifice continue to nourish their people. How blessed we are!

As members of the Church in New Hampshire, you, too, must be thanked for your generous and sacrificial support of your Church. Despite being fiscally prudent, many of your pastors are facing unexpected financial hardship for their parishes due to the effects of the pandemic. Your support each week is a blessed sacrificial gift flowing from your heart! YOU have shown that the wellsprings of the graces of the Fountain of Immortality continue to flow in the Church even in, and especially in, times of greatest need. In this time of particular need, I appeal to you that, if your means allow, you continue and possibly increase your support in one or each of these suggested ways:

- 1) Encourage friends and relatives to be sure that they know they can contribute at this time.
- 2) Contributions can be made to our newly established Together in Faith: Parish Support Fund, which gives immediate assistance to parishes in extreme financial hardship due to the pandemic.
- 3) If, by any chance you find prayerfully that you can increase your giving to your parish by 10%, our parish life will continue uninterrupted throughout this critical time. You can visit www.catholicnh.org/online-giving page to give online to your parish, or if you give by check, fill out a digital commitment card.

Many of our parishes strive zealously to livestream Mass and Devotions, and open the churches for prayer and Adoration of the Most Blessed Sacrament, and Confessions. These are the channels of grace pouring from the Fountain of Immortality – Christ and his Sacraments.

Throughout history, Catholics have always responded abundantly to the trials they have faced. We respond, we sacrifice and we give out of love. In this most challenging time, I ask that you prayerfully consider in what way you can offer immediate financial support to the Catholic Church here in New Hampshire.

Gratefully and faithfully yours in Our Lord,

+Most Reverend Peter A. Libasci

April 26, 2020—Third Sunday of Easter

Feast of St. Joseph the Worker, May 1

“If you want to be close to Christ, I repeat to you 'Ite ad Joseph': Go to Joseph!” said Ven. Pius XII in 1955 as he instituted the feast of St. Joseph the Worker to be celebrated on May 1.

The new feast was intentionally placed on the calendar to counter the communist May Day rallies, but this was not the first time the Church had presented St. Joseph’s example as an alternative path toward workers’ dignity.

In 1889, the International Socialist Conference instituted May 1 as a holiday for labor in remembrance of Chicago’s “Haymarket affair” labor protests.

In that same year, Leo XIII warned the poor against the false-promises of “seditious men”, calling them to turn instead to St. Joseph with a reminder that mother Church “each day takes an increasing compassion on their lot.”

According to the pontiff, the witness of St. Joseph’s life taught the rich “what are the goods most to be desired,” while the everyday workmen could claim St. Joseph’s recourse as their “special right, and his example is for their particular imitation.”

“It is, then, true that the condition of the lowly has nothing shameful in it, and the work of the labourer is not only not dishonouring, but can, if virtue be joined to it, be singularly ennobled,” wrote Leo XIII in Quamquam pluries.

In 1920, Benedict XV prayerfully offered St. Joseph as the “special guide” and “heavenly patron” of laborers “to keep them immune from the contagion of socialism, the bitter enemy of Christian principles.”

And, in the 1937 encyclical on atheistic communism, Divini Redemptoris, Pius XI placed “the vast campaign of the Church against world Communism under the standard of St. Joseph, her mighty Protector.”

“He belongs to the working-class, and he bore the burdens of poverty for himself and the Holy Family, whose tender and vigilant head he was. To him was entrusted the Divine Child when Herod loosed his assassins against Him,” Pope XI continued. “He won for himself the title of ‘The Just,’ serving thus as a living model of that Christian justice which should reign in social life.

Yet, despite the 20th century Church’s emphasis on St. Joseph the Worker, it cannot be emphasized enough that Joseph’s life was not defined by his work, but by his vocation to fatherhood.

“For Saint Joseph, life with Jesus was a continuous discovery of his own vocation as a father,” wrote Saint John Paul II in his book “Rise, Let Us Be On Our Way.”

He continued, “Jesus Himself, as a man, experienced the fatherhood of God through the father-son relationship with Saint Joseph. This filial encounter with Joseph then fed into Our Lord’s revelation of the paternal name of God. What a profound mystery!”

John Paul II saw firsthand communist attempts to separate the family unit and undermine parental authority in Poland. He said that he looked to St. Joseph’s fatherhood as a model for his own priestly fatherhood.”

Catholic Charities NH Update: All Programs Continue to Offer Support During COVID-19 Crisis

In this challenging and unprecedented time, Catholic Charities NH continues to serve the needs of the vulnerable across New Hampshire. While most of our physical locations are closed, all of our programs remain operational. Our staff is working remotely and is accessible to serve individuals and families facing increasing hardship during this difficult period. If you have any questions or require assistance, please contact 603-669-3030. You may also visit www.cc-nh.org/programs for more information on how we continue to adapt to changing needs statewide.

Racetrack Ministry Update

Yes, even though there is no more racetrack, the official name for the Mexico Mission ministry remains the same, Racetrack Ministry. Lee Alphen is responsible for both the ministry and administrative portions. She recently reported that Mexico is pretty much shut down. It is especially hard on people in the outlying areas since all they really had as social opportunities were church and school.

There are about 80 families that receive help with groceries every few months. Otherwise, all they have to eat is corn ground into tortillas, without meat or beans! The mission team awarded about 20 scholarships in January to a combination of high school and college students. In addition, they financed celebrations for the New Year, Epiphany, Easter, Feast of John the Baptist and Christmas. This Easter was limited to providing groceries due to social distancing.

If no one from the local parish offers the Mass, this group pays. They also pay for all of the items needed for the mass like the candles, wine, communion wafers, bibles, etc. Lee and her team are grateful for all of the support from the parish!
