HOMILY

NICENE CREED
I believe in one God, the Father Almighty, maker of heaven and earth, of all things visible and invisible. I believe in one Lord Jesus Christ, the Only Begotten Son of God, born of the Father before all ages. God from God, Light from Light, true God from true God, begotten, not made, consubstantial with the Father; through him all things were made. For us men and for our salvation, he came down from heaven, and by the Holy Spirit was incarnate of the Virgin Mary, and became man.

For our sake he was crucified under Pontius Pilate, he suffered death and was buried, and rose again on the third day in accordance with the Scriptures. He ascended into heaven and is seated at the right hand of the Father. He will come again in glory to judge the living and the dead and his kingdom will have no end.

I believe in the Holy Spirit, the Lord, the giver of life, who proceeds from the Father and the Son, who with the Father and the Son is adored and glorified, who has spoken through the prophets.

I believe in one, holy, catholic and apostolic Church. I confess one Baptism for the forgiveness of sins and I look forward to the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come. Amen.

Church of St. Bede - 5 PM Sunday Mass

The Personal Ordinariate of the Chair of St. Peter, the organization behind the Church of St. Bede, is equivalent to a diocese and was created by the Vatican in 2012. The Ordinariate was formed in order to help former Anglicans become Catholic and celebrate Catholic Masses while still retaining some Anglican traditions. Therefore, this Mass is different from the Sunday Mass you are probably used to, but still orthodox and fulfills a Roman Catholic’s Sunday obligation. All are welcome to attend!

Traveling Vocations Chalice

This Sunday, the Chalice can be picked up by the Chris von Dolen Family after 9 AM Mass.

For information on the Traveling Vocation Chalice, please contact Phyllis Galarneault at thegconne@aol.com or at 612.702.3735 (call or text). Thank you!

What is the Gothic style of our parish church?

In contemporary American culture, the word “Goth” refers to someone who wears all black—and I’m not speaking about a seminarian or priest! In common parlance, it is a label for a subculture of punk music aficionados who often also wear white face makeup with black accents. That’s not a look we usually see at Sunday Mass.

So, what in the world does this have to do with church architecture? More than you might think! The term “Goth” originally referred to tribes of barbarians whose westward migrations contributed to the fall of the Roman Empire. Many of them settled in what is today the country of France. Picking up the pieces of a shattered civilization several centuries later, the emperor Charlemagne brought about an artistic and intellectual revival known as the Carolingian Renaissance. Once again great buildings were constructed, hearkening back to the imperial style of the Romans, which is why they were called “Romanesque.”

It was the French who used subsequent technological advances in engineering to modify the Romanesque style. They added greater height and larger openings in the walls to allow for more light inside. This new style in the land of the barbarian Goths was later labeled “Gothic.” It just proves that the Church can have a civilizing effect on barbarians! What was once a term implying barbarism now describes a transcendent style of architecture which represents the highest achievements of mankind. Even our modern skyscrapers simply imitate the vertical thrust of a medieval cathedral reaching towards Heaven. Very few of our modern high-rises can compare with the gracefulness of Notre Dame in Paris! Anyone who calls the medieval period the “Dark Ages” has not understood the jeweled beauty of Chartres cathedral with its resplendent stained glass windows!

Holy Family was designed in an English style of Gothic architecture. That original decision set the parameters for all other artistic decisions about the decoration of our parish church. This style is also known as “Perpendicular” Gothic, as the English slightly emphasized a horizontal rather than vertical thrust to their buildings. They often used a large pointed window above the sanctuary instead of a curved apse and omitted the typical “rose window” from their facades. You can’t imagine the French and English perfectly agreeing on something, can you?

Certain cost-saving measures were made to fit within the parish’s construction budget—our dreams are usually bigger than our wallets! This explains some design features which vary from the norms of Gothic architecture. Our anniversary celebration in October displayed a striking drawing of the original design! The most obvious change was the elimination of a row of windows known as the “ clerestory” which is usually located above the arches of the nave. To preserve the wide footprint of the church for seating capacity and still have some of the Gothic upward thrust, the roof was designed at a steep pitch. This explains why our church lacks the large stained glass windows which are the hallmark of the Gothic style and the nave remains rather dark. This will be ameliorated by the new lighting system of LED lamps within hanging Gothic pendant lanterns. English Gothic churches often used painted decorations on the ceiling to further brighten the space—still an option for us at some point in the future.

As a footnote, Father Wilkins was the pastor whose zeal for the Gothic style and attention for detail resulted in our lovely parish church. He died on the feast of Saint Louis—very fitting for a pastor in Saint Louis Park! I’m sure that the great French king met Fr. Wilkins at the pearly gates with a word of welcome and a slight reproach: “Why English rather than French Gothic?”—Fr. Joseph
