This Weekend We... have two healing stories—the daughter of Jairus and the woman afflicted with hemorrhages. Jesus told Jarius to have faith and thus his faith and trust brought healing to his daughter. The woman with the hemorrhages reached out and touched Jesus’ cloak and was then healed. In both instances it was faith in Jesus’ ability to heal that brought the healing. We, centuries later, have a need for healing—healing as individuals and healing as a nation and as a world. But, do we believe that we will see this healing? Perhaps we need to be persistent as Jairus was. Maybe we need to reach out and touch as the woman did. Our readings give us hope that healing can come forth. It is our persistence in asking and our reaching out that is needed. Dare we launch out into the deep? Continued Summer Blessings!

The Harvest Is Great, Laborers Are Few. Taking the vocation crucifix this week—Gordon & Shannon Dvorak. The week of July 8—George & Udonna Schmit.
