When The Jews... were taken captive into Babylon, their captives moved other peoples into the country. With a few people here and there, the captors believed they controlled various populations. Over the years the people from Samaria began following the Jewish religion. They had intermarried with other peoples and were not regarded as ritually pure, thus the problems between the Samaritans and the Jews. However, this week we have the story of the Good Samaritan. When a man fell victim to robbers and was severely injured, several people passed him by. They did not want to get involved. Finally, a Samaritan, who perhaps was the least likely to come to the man’s aid, was in fact, the one who did. Not only did he dress the man’s wounds, but he found him lodging and someone to care for him. He paid for the man’s lodging and care and promised to pay any further expenses—thus the Good Samaritan! We are called to be the Good Samaritans of 2019. How are we doing? Continued Summer Blessings!
