From the Pastor

Expressing gratitude is essential for positive, healthy relationships. Many of the Psalms are prayers of gratitude. And of course, the word “Eucharist” means “thanksgiving,” essentially giving gratitude. A pithy rhyme sums it up best in exhorting us to cultivate an “attitude of gratitude.” This weekend Luke reminds us that Jesus is continuing his long journey to Jerusalem, now through Samaria and Galilee. We recall that Jesus is a Galilean for whom the Samaritans were considered foreigners. The most famous Samaritan is probably the character in one of Jesus’ parables known as the Good Samaritan, who offers care and comfort to the man left for dead in the ditch. That such mercy and kindness were performed by a foreigner rather than a priest or Levite would have been shocking. Today we have not a fictional Samaritan but a Samaritan leper who interacted with Jesus, along with nine other lepers.

Of course, the challenge is that the Samaritan was the only one of the ten who, upon being healed, went back to thank Jesus. Jesus himself seems to be surprised that no one but the foreigner, the Samaritan, expressed gratitude. Even Jesus could be surprised. And even Jesus appreciated a word of thanks.

Then, the Samaritan is sent on his way with the knowledge that his faith saved him.

Among many lessons we learn in this short story is the power and importance of saying thank you, as well as the fact that salvation is extended even to the foreigner. We try to instill an “attitude of gratitude” in children, when we teach them to write thank-you notes after birthday parties, graduations, and even weddings. The lack of a thank you says much about the one who received the gift. An expression of gratitude comes from a place in the heart that recognizes the kindness done for another and acknowledges it, not because it’s required, but because it is an authentic expression of one’s thoughts and feelings.

Though we instill this lesson in children, we hope it becomes internalized by the time they grow to adulthood. When it’s not internalized it can be a bit surprising, as Jesus himself expresses: “Ten were cleansed, were they not? Where are the other nine?”

Today let’s make a point to express thanks to someone, cultivating an “attitude of gratitude.”

Saying thank you is much more than polite manners. When we express thanks, we are forging and strengthening personal bonds. Whether it be a phone call, a handwritten note, or even a text, acknowledging an action or gift with a word of thanks does as much if not more for the receiver of the gift as the giver. There are so many occasions in our daily life to express gratitude that it can become something of a prayer, punctuating our day. Our ancient forebears in faith knew this quite well. The Psalms give voice to much of this attitude, as does the eucharistic prayer itself, “Let us give thanks to the Lord our God.”

This week let’s consider the opportunities we have to say thank you. In so doing, we echo our forebears in faith and our eternal Eucharist; and we likewise spread gratitude throughout the world.

This week we also congratulate the nearly 60 youth from St. Patrick’s & Amelia, St. Joseph’s who were confirmed by me at the weekend Masses in O’Neill. Thank you to the parents, the first teachers of their children in the ways of the faith, and all the Religious Education Instructors and Youth Leaders throughout the years that helped prepare them for this milestone event in their lives. May the Holy Spirit take deeper root in their hearts and lead them to lives of faith, love and service. Go and proclaim the

The O'Neill Ministerial Association is considering forming a Community Choir and/or Band with participants from all churches throughout our area. If there is enough interest, the first event for the group would be a "Christmas Through Carols" event sometime during the month of December.
