A REFLECTION FROM A FAITHFUL STEWARD

IS 58: 7-10; PS 112:4-9; 1 COR 2:1-5; MT 5:13-16

Today’s readings are part pep talk and part marching orders for us as Christian stewards. They offer wonderfully clear guidance on what matters most to God in the way we prioritize our lives and the way He intends for us to use the gifts He has given us.

The first reading, from the prophet Isaiah, gives us very straightforward instructions: “Thus says the Lord: Share your bread with the hungry, shelter the oppressed and the homeless; clothe the naked when you see them, and do not turn your back on your own.” The Lord gives no wiggle room here — care for our brothers and sisters in need is a “must do” for the Christian steward. Note, too, that these instructions require action — to share, to shelter, to clothe, and to hang in there with your family members, even the demanding ones.

But note, too, how generous our God is to us when we do these things. “Then your light shall break forth like the dawn and your wound shall quickly be healed... Then you shall call, and the Lord will answer... Then light shall rise for you in the darkness, and the gloom shall become for you like midday.” Our gracious God commands us to place a high priority on serving the needs of others because He has created us for just this purpose. He knows that the more we give ourselves away, the more we will find ourselves — and “light shall rise” for us in the form of more of His grace in our lives and more of His joy and His peace in our hearts. This is the beauty of a stewardship way of life.

Our second reading, from St. Paul’s First Letter to the Corinthians, reassures us that we need not worry too much about our personal skill set in answering this call from the Lord to serve — for it is the Lord Himself who will act through us if we step forward in faith. Paul says of himself, and we can take his words to heart, “I did not come with sublimity of words or of wisdom... I came to you in weakness and fear and much trembling... so that your faith might rest not on human wisdom but on the power of God.” Our weakness is no obstacle for God — He uses even our weaknesses to show His glory if we simply cooperate with Him. This should be an encouragement for those moments when we don’t feel qualified to do all that God is calling us to do.

Our Gospel passage, from Matthew, sends us out on our stewardship way with a bang as Jesus declares to us, His disciples, that we are the “salt of the earth” and the “light of the world.” But, He adds, salt no longer gives flavor if allowed to go stale, and light cannot bring its blessed brightness if left hidden. Therefore, we must act! We must live our lives so that others will see the things that we do — the ways that we serve others, care for the vulnerable, prioritize our family relationships and, above all, our love for God — and then give Him glory.

This is the stewardship way of life. Let’s give it our all!

CATHOLIC TEACHINGS

"The Capital Sins: (Also known as the Seven Deadly Sins) Pride, Greed (Avarice), Lust, Anger, Gluttony, Envy, Sloth (Acedia)

Anger

Anger is not always a sin, much less a deadly sin. There is such a thing as righteous anger. Jesus modeled this in numerous places in Scripture. For instance, He called out the scribes and Pharisees for their hypocrisy, referring to them as hypocrites, blind fools and blind guides. (Matthew 23) He turned over the tables of the moneychangers in the temple. (Mark 11:15-19) Being angry at injustice is not the deadly sin of anger. The Catechism of the Catholic Church says, "Anger is a desire for revenge. If anger reaches the point of a deliberate desire to kill or seriously wound a neighbor, it is gravely against charity; it is a mortal sin." (CCC 2302) While righteous anger should lead to positive actions, sinful anger (also known as wrath) often manifests itself in violence and hate and outbursts of language. Even if those who fall into anger may be able to curb their actions, anger inwardly leads to a blackness of the heart, and separation from the love of God. Jesus warns of anger in Matthew 5:21-22 when He said, "You have heard that it was said to your ancestors, 'You shall not kill; and whoever kills will be liable to judgment.' But I say to you, whoever is angry with his brother will be liable to judgment, and whoever says to his brother, 'Raca,' will be answerable to the Sanhedrin, and whoever says, 'You fool,' will be liable to fiery Gehenna." Also, Psalm 37:8 says, "Give up your anger, abandon your wrath; do not be provoked; it brings only harm." The remedies to anger are the virtues of patience and meekness. Work on those and your anger will fade away.
