The Catholic Church – Here Comes Everybody

This popular way of describing the universality of our Church is a theme of today's readings. The prophet Isaiah tells of God's servant who will be the "light of the nations." It will not be enough for this servant only to bring back the survivors of Israel's dispersion and captivity. God's salvation must reach to the ends of the earth.

Saint Paul writes to a local church of mainly Gentiles and presumably former sinners of all kinds in Corinth. He greets them and tells them that they are to take their place with "saints everywhere" in the name of Jesus Christ.

The Gospel reading from John tells of Jesus' commissioning by the Father in the Holy Spirit to bring salvation to all, to take away the sins of the world. This Chosen One has come to baptize the world in God's Spirit. Everybody.

As you hear these words, consider your own task to bring the good news of salvation to everyone you will meet in the coming days, weeks, years.

Letter from the Bellville Christian Food Pantry

To Sts. Peter and Paul Catholic Church:

I would like to present an annual update on the Bellville Christian Food Pantry. We have been so blessed and remembered this year by churches, organizations, and individuals in their giving.

From food drives to individual donations to the support of our churches and community, we are still able to provide for a large number of families in the Bellville Independent School District. We strive to include protein, vegetables, eggs, milk, cereals, snacks and more. We pack family bags, senior bags, and some for the clients living in the hotel with limited kitchens. We are fortunate to have partners like the Houston Food Bank, Brookshire Brothers and the Bellville Meat Market. They help us to fill our bags with foods that count toward family meals, breakfast, kid friendly items and more.

Occasionally, we are called upon to assist a person or family that has experienced an unexpected event, such as loss of a job, illness, fire, etc. It is such a blessing to be able to provide for them, help them with their immediate needs.

As well as commending the community, I would also like to commend our volunteers. They come from all back-grounds and faiths with varied skills and talents. They are a wonderful team, giving of their time and talent, enjoying every minute of it. We all do our best to make what we do count to making someone's life better.

Lastly, we want to thank your church and all the members for their generous giving and their continued support of our ministry. We succeed at what we do because of you.

Sincerely, Cynthia Zorn, Director

Treasures from Our Tradition

The symbols and actions of baptism evolved around the experience of adults dying to old patterns of life and rising from the waters of baptism as new creations. As for newborn babies, at first it was desired to wait until the following Easter, when they could be baptized, anointed with chrism, and given a taste of the Eucharist with the adults. The Church was willing to baptize adults in emergency situations outside the Easter timetable, and in time, since infancy itself was a life-threatening situation, the baptism of babies became commonplace. As with the "emergency" adult baptisms, it was required that parents bring the child, as soon as health was recovered, to the bishop for the full menu of sacraments.

The very real fear of death for infants created a situation in which the three sacraments drifted apart from each other, and away from their original, adult celebration at Easter. Today, we know a great deal about how our practices evolved. This knowledge is reshaping how we celebrate Easter, how we receive adult faith, and how we structure the faith journey of children.
