I think the spiritual muscle and center of the heart of Catholic Spirituality is the truth of the real presence. I think this should be everything for us. From our very beginnings as a Church, we have been consistent with what we celebrate and what we believe. The Lord gave us the Eucharist to draw us together and it’s here that we pray for unity. There are a lot of things today that can pull us apart and divide the Mystical Body of Christ. This mystery has the potentiality to bring us together, reconciling us with one another. Fr. Raniero Cantalamessa, the Franciscan preacher to the Papal Household since Popes St.John Paul II, Benedict 16th and now Francis, said “I believe that the most necessary thing to do on the feast of Corpus Christi is not to explain some aspect of the Eucharist, but to revive wonder and marvel before the mystery.” I can’t help but concur with this statement. In a postmodern enlightened world, where science seems to be the only way to truth, the Eucharist, is the greatest truth of our spiritual lives and we need a rival of wonder!
