Dear HRS Families,

We are heading into the winter months which means snow events and inclement weather around the region. The question has come up as to what our procedures will be for snow days in this unusual school environment. In the event of inclement weather that warrants a typical snow day, our decision for closure will be called by the Archdiocese of Washington.

As a community we believe it is important to preserve the excitement that comes along with a snow day for students. Therefore, the first day of a snow fall that leads to a closure will be a day off from in-person and virtual school. For larger more significant inclement weather events that lead to more than one day off, we will pivot to virtual learning.

We will communicate these closures via email. Please note the Inclement Weather policy in the COVID-19 Addendum of our school handbook. You may find a copy of our handbook HERE.

Blessings,

Katrina Fernandez
