PRESS RELEASE

Woonsocket, September 02, 2017

Rose Ferron Foundation of Rhode Island Presents –

You are cordially invited to the first “Little Rose Fundraiser,” at Savini’s Pomodoro Italian Kitchen & Bar with Hosts Mitch & Roger Savini, 476 Rathbun St., Woonsocket, RI 02895, on Saturday, October 28, 2017, 11am – 4pm.

The Rose Ferron Foundation of Rhode Island continues to honor Marie-Rose Ferron during this year of the 81st Anniversary of her death, a well-known, documented, bedridden Mystic, Stigmatist and Ecstatic of Woonsocket with a large U.S., Canada and International following. Many found consolation and healing through her prayers and sacrifices during her lifetime (1902-1936) and still find great comfort today by praying her Novena, being inspired by her piety and virtues, and visiting her Precious Blood Cemetery gravesite.

The event includes: A family style chicken dinner, viewing of the 1989 EWTN interview by Mother Angelica with Jeanne Savard Bonin, Canadian nurse, teacher and author of “A Stigmatist – Marie-Rose Ferron”; an informal talk on Little Rose by David P. Ethier, President, Rose Ferron Foundation of Rhode Island; testimonies by devotées of healings attributed to Little Rose; displays of her habit, clothing, ‘mementos’ and personal belongings; and, a visit to Precious Blood Cemetery gravesite. We will be doing the same as at least 1,000 people who visit her grave every year – experiencing tremendous solace and healings in their needs.

The proceeds are going towards a permanent home in Woonsocket for: ‘The Chapel of Thorns,’ (designed and built by her cousin, Rose Myette, under the direction of Little Rose); an extensive collection of Little Rose’s ‘mementos’; an office to greet visitors who stopover to the center; a book nook; a place for quiet reflection; to help Little Rose be better known and loved in Woonsocket, Rhode Island and in the world!

Tickets are $25.00/per person available the first week of September at:
Savini’s Pomodoro Italian Kitchen & Bar, 476 Rathbun St., Woonsocket
