This Week's Liturgical Readings

April 25, 2021 – 4th Sunday of Easter

- 1) Acts 4:8-12
- 2) 1 John 3:1-2
- 3) John 10:11-18

FOCUS: We are God's children; we are the flock of the Good Shepherd, who lays down his life for us.

God loves us so much that we are not simply called God's children, but in fact are God's children now. This love is that of a good shepherd, who knows and cherishes his sheep, and who, unlike others, will sacrifice his own life for the safety of his flock.

LITURGY OF THE WORD

In the first reading, Peter proclaims to the elders that the cripple who has been healed and saved was done so in the name of Jesus. This is the Jesus that they had crucified and whom God raised from the dead. The First Letter of John says that through the love of God we are now the children of God; what we shall become is not yet revealed. In the Gospel, Jesus says, I am the good shepherd...[who] lays down his life for the sheep.

WORLD DAY OF PRAYER FOR VOCATIONS

Saint Joseph is an extraordinary figure, yet at the same time one “so close to our own human experience”. He did not do astonishing things, he had no unique charisms ... He was not famous or even noteworthy. The Gospels do not report even a single word of his. Still, through his ordinary life, he accomplished something extraordinary in the eyes of God.” – Pope Francis

The 58th annual World Day of Prayer for Vocations is celebrated by the Catholic Church this Sunday, April 25th, the Fourth Sunday of Easter, commonly referred to as Good Shepherd Sunday. Inspired by the Lord’s instruction to “ask the master of the harvest to send out laborers for his harvest,” World Day of Prayer for Vocations unites the faithful in praying for those currently discerning and living out vocations to ordained ministry and consecrated life.

In his annual message, Pope Francis sets forth St. Joseph as an exemplary model of faithfulness, service, and fidelity – characteristics paramount for healthy vocational discernment. Pope Francis writes that St. Joseph, even amidst challenging circumstances, never uttered a complaint nor sought praise for his faithfulness. His sole concern was caring for the Holy Family.

St. Joseph’s example should inspire all the faithful to build up the Church by promoting vocations to the priesthood and religious life. Discuss with your parish priests some ideas for vocational promotion. A supportive parish environment, and the faithful witness of priests and religious and laity, are very influential for vocational discernment:

St. Joseph teaches us the value of perseverance and patience.
“We are living in very challenging times full of uncertainty and fear. St. Joseph teaches us, especially our young people, that consistent, quiet fidelity to God is what opens our hearts to receive Christ’s grace and peace..”

- (Pope Francis)
