THE HOLY FAMILY AND NAZARETH

The Holy Family of Jesus, Mary and Joseph highlights the importance of family. The first reading today from Sirach (3:2-7, 12-14) has two beautiful sentences for the family situation: “Those who honor their father atone for sins.” “They store up riches who respect their mother.”

Matthew’s purpose in writing his Gospel is to show that the establishment of the Kingdom of Heaven by Jesus is the culmination of the Old Covenant. He identifies Jesus as the new Exodus, the new Moses, the new Israel, even the very Son of God. For example, “Out of Egypt I called my Son.” (Matthew 2:15) This is a direct quotation from Hosea 11:1. What the prophet applied to the people of Israel, Matthew applies to Jesus, the new Israel, the Son of God.

The Holy Family had to flee to Egypt to escape the attempt on the Christ Child’s life by Herod. Herod was followed by his son Archelaus, the ruler in Judea. He too was a cruel person with political problems. It clearly was better for Joseph to take Jesus and Mary back to Nazareth in Galilee for safety.

This morning the Gospel ends with another Old Testament quotation, “He shall be called a Nazorean.” (Matthew 2:23) There is no such text in the Old Testament, but there are two texts that can explain Matthew’s quotation. He could have in mind Isaiah 11:1: “But a shoot shall sprout from the stump of Jesse.” The Hebrew word for shoot is neser. There is also a quotation in Judges about Sampson, “the boy is to be a nazirite for God from the womb.” (13:5) The sound of either of these texts could have suggested “Nazorean” to Matthew.

The Holy Family at Nazareth suggests the concern of Catholic Social Teaching for the family: “The family is the central social institution that must be supported and strengthened, not undermined. While our society often exalts individualism, the Catholic tradition teaches that human beings grow and achieve fulfillment in community.” (Sharing Catholic Social Teaching: Challenges and Directions: Reflections of the U.S. Catholic Bishops)

A note on the re-installation of the altar rail gates
The gates, which may have been brought in from the St. Mary’s Industrial School chapel in Baltimore when the present church was constructed, had already seen many years of use. Subsequently, they were removed from our altar rail in the mid-1970’s and had been in storage in the basement. On arriving at St. Aloysius, I noticed what a remarkable and historic work of art they were and decided to have them eventually re-plated and re-installed. The medallions in the center of each gate feature the traditional JHS, the first three letters of the name Jesus in the Greek alphabet, an iconographical detail important to the Jesuits, who were founders of the parishes in St. Mary’s County.

The original marble toppers, which were very heavy, were replaced by wooden pieces of the same shape and will be painted soon to match the altar rail. Since the sanctuary represents the place of the Holy of Holies, altar gates have traditionally signified the entrance to heaven, through which we have been given access by the Precious Blood of Christ. I am particularly thankful for the discerning eyes of those who planned and built our present church, and I hope you are, too! ~Fr. David
