Foot Care—23 Nov 2018 at KC Hall

Jesus tells us that the end of history will come, but he doesn't tell us when, because he wants us to live each day actively, vibrantly, fully. This is what today's Psalm means when the psalmist writes: "I set the LORD ever before me; with him at my right hand I shall not be disturbed." How can we "set the Lord ever before" us?

How can we live our daily lives with God "at our right hand" so that we too can live with interior peace, joy, courage, and wisdom? One excellent way to live each day in the light of eternity is to make frequent use of the sacrament of reconciliation. It is no coincidence that as our popular culture has become more consumerist, our confessionals have become dustier. The world around us doesn't want us to think about the long-term repercussions of our actions and decisions. It wants us to think about short term pleasures, so that we keep having to buy more and more of them. But when we come into God's house to confess our sins, the seductive noise of the world around us fades into the background as the Holy Spirit instructs our hearts. And when we bring our faults, failings, and sins to the Lord by confessing them to his ordained priests, he never fails to comfort and liberate us with his unconditional forgiveness, strengthen us for the struggles of every day, and enlighten us with the wisdom that lasts forever. Coming to the sacrament of reconciliation every two weeks or every month is a specific, concrete, and simple way for us to "set the Lord always before" us and to keep him at our "right hand." And if we do that, we will be ready at every moment for the end of the world, whenever it happens to occur.

"Well done, my good and faithful servant. Since you have been faithful in small matters, I will give you great responsibilities." - MATTHEW 25:21

God expects us to nurture and develop the gifts He has given us and then generously return a portion with increase. He doesn't want us to waste or hoard the gifts He has given us; He expects us to grow our gifts, use them wisely and be generous with them. Unfortunately, many of us are not generous in proportion to all that God has given us.
