A maintenance position is open for OLPH in cleaning. If interested please contact Sue Argenziano. It is a salaried position and you schedule your own days of completing the necessary work.

The Doubts of Thomas

Of all the Apostles, perhaps Doubting Thomas experienced this mercy most dramatically. Thomas was mad that Jesus had failed. He was brooding over it, nursing his anger and sorrow in solitude. So when he finally heard the news of the Resurrection, he wouldn't accept it: "Unless I see the mark of the nails... I will not believe."

A week later, on the second Sunday after the Resurrection, Divine Mercy Sunday, Thomas is with the other Apostles, still locked inside the room and inside their fears and doubts. Jesus comes through those locked doors once again, and wishes them peace. And then what does he do? Right after he greets the whole group, his very next words are for Thomas: Touch my wounds, Thomas; believe in me! What look do you think was in Jesus' eyes at that point? I think he was smiling. He was glad to oblige Thomas' stubborn request. He wasn't offended by the Apostle's hesitation and resistance, he was just eager to get his faith back. And Thomas sees this, and he sees that Christ humbly lowers himself to Thomas' level, letting him touch him, letting him feel Christ's real, physical presence... And Thomas falls on his knees and is the first Apostle to proclaim his faith in Christ's divinity, calling him "My Lord and my God", the very titles given to God throughout the whole Old Testament.

We are all Doubting Thomases. We all resist God's action in our lives in one way or another, get mad at him, don't trust him, and rebel against him. And it is precisely in those moments and those corners of our lives where Jesus wants to show off his boundless mercy, come down to our level, and win back our faith.

Thank you to all those who helped in hospitality this past week for the funeral of Roberta "Bert" Klamm. It was a daunting task to prepare for such a large group of mourners who came to share the day with the family of Roberta. Thank you for the spirit of service and walking with a family at the death of a loved one. It is truly impressive to see the care taken in service to others.
