Sorrowful Heart of Mary,
Pray for us.

no adoration this tuesday, all the priests will be at the annual priest meeting from sunday to wednesday

How many times during this past week did you think about heaven? Most of us would probably say, not too many. And yet, that's where we're going. That's our destination, as St Paul energetically reminds Timothy in today's Second Reading. If we were on a family vacation, traveling to some beautiful mountain resort, or to the Grand Canyon, wouldn't it be strange if we never spoke or thought about where we were going while we were on our way? Yes, very strange. And yet, often that's exactly what we do in relation to heaven. And that's extremely dangerous, because it makes us vulnerable to temptations.

We more easily turn off the right road when we see an attractive billboard if we aren't thinking about our destination. This is very much the context of St Paul's advice to the young bishop, Timothy. Paul has just warned him about the dangers of money. In fact, the previous verses contain that famous phrase: "The desire for money is the root of all evil." The desire for money can distract us from our destination. Money is a means for achieving worldly success, stability, and pleasure. But all of those things will pass away. And so, St Paul exhorts his friend to keep his sights set on heaven, to keep his destination in mind at all times. He encourages Timothy to "compete well for the faith" and "to keep the commandment without stain or reproach" until Christ comes again.

If the rich man in today's Gospel passage had followed Paul's advice, maybe he would have ended up in better shape. But instead, he forgot his destination. He "received what was good during his lifetime", in Abraham's words. In other words, he let wealth and pleasures distract him from his true mission in life: to love God and neighbor.

26th Sunday in Ordinary Time
"My child, remember that you received what was good during your lifetime while Lazarus likewise received what was bad; but now he is comforted here, whereas you are tormented. Moreover, between us and you a great chasm is established..." - LUKE 16:25-26

When God created the world He declared that it was good and He gave it to all mankind for us to enjoy. However, over the years we have created a chasm between those who have great gifts and those who do not. In today's Gospel we see that with our own generosity we must bridge that gap between those who have much and those who have little or we may find ourselves on the wrong side of the chasm in the next life.
