The Prayer that Makes Martyrs

Are we credible witnesses of our faith? When others see us, do they want to be a Catholic? Clearly we're not going to get this perfect – we're always going to be sinners in need of God's mercy – yet God does want us to be true witnesses to his love. And this happens in our prayer. In the Mass, we get a heart transplant. Christ gives us his Body and his Blood to strengthen us and make us more like him. He renews our hearts. Our daily prayer is what allows that heart transplant to take root in our lives. We live as we pray. Let's commit to giving the Lord 10 minutes a day in personal prayer, as we become witnesses to the living relationship with him that is our faith.

Commissioning of Extraordinary Ministers of Holy Communion (EMHC) for OLPH will occur on November 17th at the 10:30 Sunday Morning Mass. Please make preparations for those involved to be there.

A Daily Witness
 Most of us aren't called to die a violent death for our faith. But we will have thousands of opportunities each day to die a little death. The poet William Blake said that every act of kindness is a little death in the divine image. So let's commit to acts of kindness to those closest to us. And get practical. It can even help to set a goal - for example today I'm going to do or say 5 kind things to my family. As we do this, we're living as Christians in the midst of workaday reality. We're witnessing to Jesus, Crucified and Risen and present with us.
