John the Baptist's favorite title for Jesus is "the Lamb of God." It also became one of John the Evangelist's favorite titles. He uses it here in his Gospel, and then he used it again, twenty-nine times, in the Book of Revelation. It brings together three images that would have been familiar to the Jews of those times. And so, by calling Christ the "Lamb of God," St John is telling us that those ancient images are fulfilled in Jesus. The first image: In the Old Covenant, God required the Jews to sacrifice a lamb twice a day to expiate the sins of the people (cf. Exodus 29:39). So the lamb symbolized the price to be paid for sin.

The second image: The primary holy day of the Jews was (and remains) the Passover. In the Passover ceremony each family sacrifices and eats a lamb to recall their liberation from Egypt in the days of Moses. On that night, God allowed the death of all the firstborn children and animals of the Egyptians, but spared those of the Hebrews. In order to indicate which households the angel of death was to skip over, God commanded the Hebrews to kill a lamb and mark their doorposts with its blood. Thus the Passover lamb signified God's merciful and saving love.

The third image: Finally, a lamb going silently and docilely to be slaughtered is one of the images used to describe the coming Messiah. He was going to take Israel's sins upon himself and wipe them away through his suffering obedience. And so, by calling Jesus the "Lamb of God," John reminds us that all of these Old Testament symbols had been pointing towards Christ - the true Savior.

Within the last couple of weeks, there have been incidents where people have entered the hospital and wondered where the clergy were. Clergy no longer have access to the listing of people in the hospital because of privacy laws. The clergy only find out when there is someone in the hospital is when the individual request notification through their family or through signed notification.

Even when in the hospital, patients of the Catholic faith may not receive the Holy Eucharist because of various excuses, mainly not filling out a card that is suppose to be in the room and letting the chaplaincy of the facility know their desires for reception of Our Lord in the Most Holy Eucharist. Please pass this information on especially when faced with hospital treatment for yourself or family members. The clergy willingly go when they are notified. Care for the sick is a corporal work of mercy and as such an expected pastoral exercise.
