Carrying Each Other's Crosses

This balance between the cross and the resurrection, sorrow and joy, helps make sense out of a lot of confusing aspects of the spiritual life. Since both are necessary for our growth in holiness, just as sunlight and darkness are both necessary for the growth of plants, God allows us to experience both, in accordance with the timing that he deems best.

In the resurrection moments, God grants us exceptional clarity and satisfaction in our Christian journey. But, like spoiled children, we tend to hold on to those good feelings as if they were God himself.

We echo Peter's comment in today's Gospel: "Lord it is good for us to be here! Let's just put up some tents and never leave!" But earth is not heaven, and God loves us too much to let us settle for anything less than the fullness of his friendship.

And so, he leads us down from our high mountains and walks with us to Calvary, letting us share the weight of his cross.

On mountaintops he strengthens our hope, but with crosses he strengthens our love, as we learn to cling to him more than to his gifts. And that's what Christian wisdom is all about.

What can we do to speed up our Christian wisdom learning curve? The easiest way is to work together. If we decide never to let those around us carry their crosses alone, then we can be sure someone will do the same for us. By carrying each other's crosses, we combine the joy of Christian charity with the pain of our earthly exile - keeping perfectly in mind both the cross and the resurrection.

As Jesus comes to us in this Mass to help us carry our crosses, let's promise him that we will do the same for those around us.

Direction Given by Vatican for HOLY WEEK 2021

Palm Sunday: The Third Form will be used which is the simple entrance. The celebrant upon reaching the altar will venerate it, bless the palms and start the Mass. Palms will be available at the end of the Mass to take.

Holy Thursday: Washing of feet to be omitted. Procession at the end of Mass is omitted and the Blessed Sacrament is to be kept in the tabernacle.

Good Friday: Adoration of the Cross by kissing is limited to the celebrant.

Holy Saturday: Only the Baptismal Promises are maintained.
