

Please join your fellow parishioners for coffee and rolls after Mass this Sunday morning in honor of Priesthood Sunday.

*In the Name of the Father,
and of the Son,
and of the Holy Spirit.
Amen.*

Whoever leads another astray will be punished; whoever helps another find the way will be rewarded.

William Sydney Porter, was a popular American author in the early 1900s. Writing under the pen name O. Henry, he was famous for his short stories. The thing that made him famous was the way he ended his stories. He never ended them in a conventional way. He always ended them with a surprise. For example, one story tells of a little girl whose mother was dead. The little girl would wait all day for her father to return from work She wanted to sit on his lap, for she was emotionally starved for signs of affection.

But every night her father followed the same routine. He'd eat. Then he'd flop into his favorite chair, light up his pipe, and read until bedtime. When the little girl came to sit on his lap, he always replied the same way. "Honey, can't you see your daddy's tired? He worked all day. Go outside and play." The little girl would go outside and play in the street, amusing herself as best she could. It inevitable happened. As the girl grew older she began to accept expressions of affection for anyone who offered them. And instead of playing in the street she took to the street and became a prostitute.

One day the girl died. As she approached the gates of heaven, Peter saw her coming and said to Jesus, "She's a bad one, Lord. She's a prostitute. There's only one place for her." Then comes the surprise ending to the story. Jesus says to Peter, "Let her come into heaven. But when her father comes, hold him responsible for her life." O. Henry's point is clear. God will be merciful to those who, through minimal fault of their own, were led astray. But God will be demanding toward those who are responsible for leading them astray. And we might add that the way we lead another astray is usually not by doing something to them. More often it is by failing to do something for them.

September 29 is the feast of The Archangels
St. MICHAEL, St. GABRIEL and St. RAPHAEL

St. Michael

Pray for me, St. Michael, and also for those I love. Protect us in all dangers of body and soul. Help us in our daily needs.

St. Gabriel

Pray for us, St. Gabriel the Archangel. That we may be made worthy of the promises of Christ.

St. Raphael

St. Raphael, help me to love and serve my God faithfully, to die in His grace, and finally to merit to join you in seeing and praising God forever in heaven.

Amen.

"Anyone who gives you a cup of water to drink because you belong to Christ, amen, I say to you will surely not lose his reward." MARK 9:41

We are made in God's image and likeness. We tend to forget this. When you look at others, do you see the face of Jesus in them? When others look at you, do they see the face of Jesus in you? When we realize that all lives matter to God, then gratitude and generosity become easier. Why? Because that is the way we are made! We are one Body of Christ; when one of us is hurting, all of us feel the pain.

The driver for a local dry cleaner got a kick out of pulling up in front of the convent every week and loudly shouting out:

Hey girls, got any dirty habits?"

Responding to a mailing about supporting the parish's building fund, a man told the priest: "You know I'll give 'til it hurts. But you also need to know that I'm very sensitive to pain."
