Listening is not always hearing. Hearing is not always a result of ‘intentional’ listening. It can be difficult to quietly, intentionally listen with a true focus on what is being said.

How many times do you listen as someone begins talking and soon find yourself drifting away, off into your own world of thoughts? A word, a phrase, a short story, can trigger thought responses about concerns in life that must be addressed. Words and stories can recall pleasant memories of times past. They can also send us into a state of daydreaming. In any of these situations, we have ceased listening and are disconnected from the one speaking.

Listening to and truly hearing the other person is an art. Intently, or perhaps, intentionally, focusing on one speaking is a very essential part of listening and thus hearing. When we find our thoughts drifting, we must quickly pull them back to the moment.

Individuals, perhaps ourselves, are often misquoted or misunderstood because someone lost focus, checked out, and what was being said was not accurately heard. It was misinterpreted. We can also even hear and interpret what is said differently than the person next to us. There are times, while listening to someone during conversation, we find ourselves mentally constructing our response when we haven’t even heard, in their entirety, the comments or statements of the other person speaking. We are not mindfully present.

So, what is the answer? How can I be a better listener? How can I truly hear? If I do not listen to and hear someone speaking to me, how will I ever hear God? How will I know His voice? God may speak to me in someone speaking to me, how will I ever hear God? How can I truly hear? If I do not listen to and hear what is being said.

The singing, I mean, can be as jubilant as the red of God-made tomatoes, as the soaring of a kite or the splashing of children in a pool. The singing is my heart’s joyous response. But God’s singing can also be as heavy as the fragrance of lilies in a funeral home, heavy as the news of a friend’s grief. God’s singing can be as light as the fragrance of lilies in a funeral home, heavy as the singing is the alegre respuesta de mi corazón. Pero el canto de Dios también puede ser tan pesado como la fragancia de los lirios en una funeraria, tan pesado como la noticia del dolor de un amigo. El canto de Dios puede ser tan ligero como la música de un clavelín o una salida de primavera, tan triste como el ayuíllo de un tren nocturno o las noticias de la noche. Puede ser alegre, encantador, desafiante, divertido. En todo lo que experimentamos podemos escuchar a Dios cantando, si escuchamos con atención”.

1The Way of Silence: Engaging the Sacred in Daily Life by Brother David Steindl-Rast

The 16th Sunday in Ordinary Time

Active and contemplative. At work and at rest. These are dynamics we all face in our lives, and if we're honest, we might not always balance perfectly! In this Sunday's Gospel, our daily tensions play out in two sisters. Mary "sat beside the Lord at his feet listening to him speak." Martha, on the other hand, is "burdened with much serving." This, as it turns out, is not necessarily "the better part."

All of us reading this have some sort of labor we engage in. We have different trades or careers. We have responsibilities as family members, some of which may take up most of our time. In the time of Scripture, showing hospitality to guests was one of the most important values in society. Our work is important. Jesus himself spent decades as a carpenter. So what's the problem with Martha? Martha is burdened, anxious, and worried. Not only that, but she resents her sister's choice. "Tell her to help me," she demands of Jesus. How easy it is to get very busy doing good things. We need to provide for our families and plan for retirement. We need to make sure children are clothed, fed, and educated. Our committees, ministries, and sports schedules need to stay on track. However, without a balance of work with rest, without contemplation in the midst of our action, we will miss the point. While many parts are required for our life in the world to function, the better part is our relationship with God. This week, make time in your busy schedule to sit at Jesus' feet. Maybe this is 20 minutes with Scripture, participating in a daily Mass, or a quiet walk alone in the park. Receive what Christ wants to speak to you.

16º Domingo del Tiempo Ordinario

La hospitalidad de la que tanto se habla en estos tiempos en la Iglesia de los Estados Unidos se manifiesta en la Liturgia de hoy. Decimos que las comunidades deben de trabajar en una hospitalidad radical para que los miembros de la comunidad se sientan bienvenidos y atraídos a las asambleas dominicales. Podemos reflexionar en dos caras de la hospitalidad: La primera de vista a Dios y la segunda de los que nos rodean y visitan. La hospitalidad debe ser parte esencial de cada cristiano, algo así como un estilo de vida cotidiano. En la Primera Lectura, Abraham se muestra hospitalario y atiende a sus tres visitantes con rapidez y alegría. No escatimá en esfuerzo y trabajo. Es como una urgencia para quedar bien ante los visitantes. ¿Somos así de hospitalarios con los que nos visitan?

En el Evangelio donde Jesús visita a Martha y María, la hospitalidad parece dividida en dos partes. Una que atiende y se pierde en mil cosas por quedar bien ante el Señor Jesús al grado de reclamar por ayuda. "Señor, ¿no te importa que mi hermana me haya dejado sola para atender?". (Lucas 10:40). Y la otra que se sienta para escuchar y saborear la amistad y la intimidad del Señor. ¿Qué te parece? ¿A cuál de estas dos perteneses tú? Tradicionalmente se a interpretado que ambas son buenas, pero necesitan balance. Marta que se afana en la actividad y María en contemprar. La enseñanza de Jesús, sencillamente, es que lo primero es escuchar la Palabra. Por eso Jesús dice: "María ha elegido la mejor parte, que no le será quitada". (Lucas 10:42). ¿Cómo es mi encuentro con Cristo Jesús mi amigo?

SEASONAL REFLECTION

Mary Magdalene has been the subject of speculation and scholarship over the last 2,000 years. Mary Magdalene makes her first named appearance in Luke 8:2. She is one of several women following Jesus. Luke specifically mentions that Mary had previously been delivered from demonic possession. Whatever her life looked like before she met Jesus, it wasn't good! Because of this association with being a repentant sinner, Mary Magdalene has been associated with other similar stories in the Gospel, such as the woman caught in adultery or the woman who bathes Jesus' feet with her tears.

Mary Magdalene shows up again by name at the end of the Gospels, when she stands with the Blessed Virgin Mary at the foot of the Cross. Mary is also present in the garden of the resurrection. She is one of the women who goes to bring spices to Jesus' tomb, where they find the stone rolled away. Mary stays in the garden weeping, believing his body has been stolen. Jesus approaches her and calls her by name, and she becomes the first witness to the resurrection! While many of the details of Mary Magdalene's life have been lost to time, she is an example of powerful conversion, deep faith, and intimate love for Christ.
