A note from Father Daniel

Our commitment as Catholics is to build a world in which human dignity is always the priority

Saint Irenaeus teaches that: “The Glory of God is the human being fully alive,” this refers to the human person fully transformed by the Spirit into the likeness of the Risen Christ and such transformation goes through the possibility of every human being to live her or his human dignity to its fullest. As Catholics, disciples of Jesus Christ, we do not live for ourselves, but to give glory to God and we do this by engaging this world in such a way that we create the conditions of possibility for ALL of God’s children to live their God given dignity to the fullest. Our commitment in this world first and foremost is not to any ideology, country, political party, or anything else that cannot offer us eternal salvation, that cannot even offer us salvation in this world for salvation in this life and in the next is only found in Jesus Christ. Our first and only commitment, our only allegiance in this life must be to Jesus Christ, His Gospel and His Kingdom, and we are to engage, support and use the institutions of this world as a means for the Glory of God and not as an end in themselves.

This week on September 9, we celebrate the Memorial of Saint Peter Claver, Universal Patron of Human Rights, who opposed the understanding that people of color had no souls and fought for their equal dignity caring for them and their needs. So this might be a good time for us to call attention to three issues related to the dignity of human beings:

Our obligation in faith to protect the dignity of all workers:

Work is more than a way to make a living; it is a form of continuing participation in God’s creation. This Labor Day, we invite you to reflect on the dignity of work and rights of workers by visiting www.usccb.org/jphd to read the annual Labor Day statement from @USCCB.

We also invite you to pray with following prayer, especially conscious of those that are unemployed through this pandemic: Lord God, Master of the Vineyard, How wonderful that you have invited us who labor by the sweat of our brow to be workers in the vineyard and assist your work to shape the world around us. As we seek to respond to this call, make us attentive to those who seek work but cannot find it. Help us stand up for living wages for those who work hard to provide for their families but still have trouble making ends meet. Protect especially health care workers and other essential workers during this time of pandemic. Open our eyes to the struggles of those who are trafficked and exploited and help us speak for just wages and safe conditions, the freedom to organize, and time for renewal. Work was made for humankind and not humankind for work. Let it not be a vehicle for exploitation but a radiant expression of our human dignity. Give all who labor listening hearts that we may pause from our work to receive your gift of rest. Fill us with your Holy Spirit that you might work through us to let your justice reign. Amen.

Our obligation in faith to strive for racial justice:

Our faith calls us to speak out against racism and to work to transform structures that disregard the equal dignity of all human persons. Pope Francis reminds us that, “We cannot tolerate or turn a blind eye to racism or exclusion in any form and yet claim to defend the sacredness of every human life.” Our bishops remind us that “Racism comes in many forms. It can be seen in deliberate, sinful acts. In recent times, we have seen bold expressions of racism by some groups as well as individuals. The re-appearance of symbols of hatred, such as nooses and swastikas in public spaces, is a tragic indicator of rising racial and ethnic animus. All too often, Hispanic and African Americans face discrimination in hiring, housing, educational opportunities, and incarceration. Racial profiling frequently targets Hispanics for selective immigration enforcement practices, and African Americans for suspected criminal activity. There is also growing fear and harassment of persons from majority Muslim countries. Extreme nationalist ideologies are feeding the American public discourse with xenophobic rhetoric that instigates fear against foreigners, immigrants, and refugees. Finally, too often racism comes in the form of the sin of omission, when individuals, communities, and even churches remain silent and fail to act against racial injustice when it is encountered.”

Our obligation in faith to care for creation:

Caring for creation as it is understood in Catholic Teaching is not only about the environment, it is a matter of caring for the human person and human dignity, it is a matter of upholding the sacredness of human life and living our preferential option for the poor. The first to suffer the effects of the devastation of the planet are the poor, yet we will all eventually suffer them. The first to suffer our appropriation and undue exploitation of the resources of creation without sharing them justly are the poor. This is why if we are to uphold human dignity and the sacredness of human life we must care for our common home.

The Season of Creation has a special significance for the Catholic Church, particularly since Pope Francis established September 1 as an annual World Day of Prayer for the Care of Creation. The Season of Creation or Creation Time, is marked throughout the Christian world from September 1 to October 4 (Feast of St. Francis of Assisi) and celebrates the joy of creation as well as encouraging awareness-raising initiatives to protect the natural environment.

As our children and youth go back to school we are all reminded of our duty to continue to learn and grow and specially to continue to grow in our faith. We have delayed the start of our Faith Formation programs this year to October, yet I invite you to use this month of September to educate yourselves and your families on these three matters of human dignity, that are essential in our living out our faith.

Parish News

Restrooms

We have two volunteers at Saint Anthony willing to clean and disinfect the restrooms once a week. This will allow us to open the restrooms for emergencies only. This means that we highly discourage the use of the restrooms, for in doing so you expose yourself to the germs of all who might have gone in before you in the last 7 days. If you have an emergency and must use the restrooms please remember that according to state regulations only one person can be in the restroom at a time (unless a parent needs to assist a child) and wear your mask, our restrooms do not have ventilation and infected droplets can remain in the air for a long time. At All Saints we have 1 volunteer, and at Holy Cross none, so the restrooms at those parishes will remain closed at this time until we have more volunteers.

Let us Pray...

Lord our God, in your wisdom and love you surround us with the mysteries of the universe. In times long past you sent us your prophets to teach your laws and to bear witness to your undying love.

You sent us your Son to teach us by word and example that true wisdom comes from you alone.

Send your Spirit upon these students and their teachers and fill them with your wisdom and blessings.

Grant that during this academic year they may devote themselves to their studies and share what they have learned from others.

Grant this through Christ our Lord.

Amen.
