THIS WEEK'S REFLECTIONS

Almighty ever-living God, whom, taught by the Holy Spirit, we dare to call our Father, bring, we pray, to perfection in our hearts the spirit of adoption as Your sons and daughters, that we may merit to enter into the inheritance which You have promised. Through our Lord, Jesus Christ, who lives and reigns with You in the unity of the Holy Spirit, one God, for ever and ever. Amen.

Today's Mass Readings

1st Reading: Wisdom 18:6-9

2nd Reading: Hebrews 11:1-2, 8-19

Gospel: Luke 12:32-48

Alleluia Reflection: "Stay awake and be ready! For you do not know on what day the Lord will come." We do not know how much time we have, and so we should spend each day as if it were our last. In that way we will be ready to greet the Lord when He returns in glory.

Responsorial Psalm Meditation

Ps 33:1, 12, 18-22

The Responsorial Psalm continues the wisdom teaching that God will bless those who trust in Him. It is fitting to praise God, not because we are obliged to, but rather because praising God is the most rewarding thing that we can do.

We always feel good when we praise a friend for what he or she has done.

How much more should that be true of our relationship with God?

God has been wonderful to us and has blessed us in innumerable ways. We would be selfish and inconsiderate if we were not to acknowledge this.

Our words of praise have reminded us of our dependence upon God. We thus have confidence that He will respond to our every need.

ASSUMPTION OF MARY INTO HEAVEN

August 15th – Mass 7am & 6pm

Thursday, August 15th is a holy day of obligation for Catholics.

Every Sunday in our Creed, we profess boldly that “we believe in the Resurrection of the Dead and Life everlasting.” Our salvation, our journey to the everlasting homeland, is not just a “spiritual” thing, if that is to mean just something to do with an inner soul or invisible spirit. Our salvation is also very much an earthly thing, dare I say a physical thing that has equally as much to do with our bodies, everything that we use to express ourselves, communicate from the inside out.

Our bodies are living temples of God. Our bodies, movements, hearing, touching, speaking--every action; laughing, crying, eating, kneeling, standing,--all our physical actions move in sync with our spirit. As our spirit years for salvation, so do our bodies.

Mary was available to be the mother of the Son of God, able to form in her womb the body of Christ, because her own body was in perfect harmony with her soul. She becomes for us the model of the perfect disciple of the Christian life, which is modeled by Christ who gave us His own physical body and blood with its saving power.

On August 15, the Christian faithful in Jerusalem gather around the tomb of Mary and they, like the Church, are careful to note that this is not the final resting place of her body. For her tomb is empty because her body and soul were so perfectly attuned to each other, where one went the other would surely follow. We thank our Father in Heaven for the perfect choice of Mary. We pray that our physical movements, expressions and actions will be in harmony with the spirit of Christ in our lives so our final resting place for our bodies will be not the grave but our eternal homeland.

We invite you to bring fruits and herbs from your garden to be blessed after the Mass.
